Harper faculty votes 105-77 to form union ties

by DIANE GRANAT

The Harper College faculty Wednesday approved a proposal to form a union. The faculty voted 105-77 in favor of affiliation with a national teachers' union, said Faculty Senate Pres. David Macaulay.

A second referendum will be held next Thursday and Friday when the faculty will decide which union will represent them.

The national unions under consideration are the American Federation of Teachers, the National Education Assn., and the American Assn. of University Professors, Macaulay said.

NINETY PER CENT of Harper's full-time faculty members voted in the referendum at the Palatine campus, Macaulay said. The referendum was called for by a majority of the faculty at a meeting April 15.

Two earlier attempts to form a union at Harper were rejected by the faculty. Last fall the teachers voted 90 to 77 against a proposal to affiliate with a union, and a similar proposal also was defeated in 1973.

Macaulay, who supported unionization, said the college board's breaking off of contract negotiations with the faculty last month was the "final push" in convincing the faculty to form a union.

He said the faculty senate, which now represents the teachers in negotiations, has not been effective.

MACAULAY SAID the decision to unionize means "the faculty will be more united. I think the board, which has been ignoring the faculty, will be more inclined to take notice of the faculty."

Trustee Robert Rausch, board vice chairman and chief negotiator, said he hopes the faculty's decision to form a union will not affect negotiations.

In response to Macaulay's statement that the board will be inclined to take greater notice of the faculty, Rausch said, "I don't think the board is going to change the way it operates one whit."

Trustee Judith Troehler, also a board negotiator, said, "There is not a collective bargaining law in Illinois, so it is not mandatory that the board recognize a unionized faculty." In the past, the board has recognized the faculty senate for negotiating purposes.

THE FACULTY now will have to decide whether the union will only take over contract negotiations, or if it will also play a role in academic affairs, Macaulay said. The faculty senate now is involved in academic affairs, but Macaulay said a union is generally only involved in negotiations.

In a memo sent to faculty members last week, Macaulay listed reasons for supporting affiliation with a union.

He said the college board's disregard for the senate in salary negotiations, its refusal to negotiate salary ranges and working conditions, and changes in the board's grievance policy for faculty members were among the reasons he urged support for a union.

The faculty senate and board of trustees have been involved in a series of court battles in the past year over salary negotiations.

In the most recent case, the faculty obtained an injunction against the college board, prohibiting it from mailing contracts for the 1976-77 school year to faculty members. That case will be heard today in Cook County Circuit Court.

Macaulay said he will make a statement before next week's referendum in support of affiliation with one of the national teachers' unions. There also will be a debate Tuesday between the various contenders for affiliation, he said.

Authority of Hanson questioned

by BILL HILL

Arlington Heights Trustee Madeline Schroeder has charged Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson with overstepping his authority during recent efforts by the village to establish a boundary agreement with Mount Prospect.

Mrs. Schroeder made her charges during a 20-minute executive session of the village board Monday night, and then repeated the allegations publicly following the closed-door session.

Hanson was criticized by Mrs. Schroeder for sending the legal agreement to the Village of Mount Prospect before corrections made by Village Atty. Jack Siegel had been approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

"THE WHOLE THING is that a policy matter was taken out of the hands of the board. Action was taken by the administration that should have been left up to the board," Mrs. Schroeder said.

"There have been other times this has happened. I don't care who's the manager of this village, but I do want to see the government of this village run the way it's set up. Non-elected personnel are not to make policy," she said.

Hanson refused to comment on the charges that he had set policy.

"It's ironic that she (Mrs. Schroeder) sat right here (in Hanson's office) and watched Jack Siegel correct the agreement and now she says she doesn't like it," Hanson said.

NO DECISION WAS made Monday by the board on the proposed boundary agreement, which has been approved by Mount Prospect.

Village Pres. James T. Ryan said the matter was deferred until the board's next meeting because "it was not proper subject matter to be discussed in executive session."

Trustee Alfred J. Barboro Tuesday said that Mrs. Schroeder's charges against Hanson appeared valid.

"I think there are valid grounds for saying that procedurally this particular matter didn't follow a proper course. It did seem from reading the

After spending a day with the Bicentennial wagon train, it is easier to understand why our forebearers chose to remain in Illinois instead of pushing westward extending the American frontier.

Even without the terrors of the unknown, coupled with the very real possibility of death from disease, starvation, exposure and Indians, the pioneers had to endure bone-pounding wagons and horses day after day. Weariness and exhaustion must have been a way of life until they reached their homestead and yet another set of travails.

Theater owners await court ruling

A Cook County Circuit Court judge today is expected to decide if owners of the 53 Outdoor Theater in Palatine Township have been in contempt of a court order to stop showing sexually explicit movies. Last month, theater owners Jeffery and Stanford Kohlberg were found in default for failing to answer the contempt charge. As a result, they will not be allowed to present their side of the case at today's hearing. The state's attorney's office plans to call witnesses to testify they have seen sexually explicit movies at the theater since Nov. 21 when the court ordered the movies stopped. Nearby residents say the films are visible from their residences and from Rand and Hicks roads. The owners face a $65,000 fine and prison terms if found in contempt.

House unit OKs school-aid bill

The House Appropriations Committee voted 14-11 Wednesday for a $67.5 million fiscal 1976 supplemental appropriation to school districts throughout the state. The bill, now before the full House, needed 14 votes to get out of committee. Against a backdrop of impending state bankruptcy, the committee nonetheless voted to approve the funds which Gov. Daniel Walker cut from the fiscal 1976 education budget last year. The legislature failed last fall to restore the money. The House has also passed and the Senate is considering another education measure to spend, in the current fiscal year, $39 million on special education programs.

Kerner denied pension benefits

The State Retirement System Board of Trustees voted 3-0 Wednesday to deny pension benefits to former Gov. Otto Kerner, based on his 1973 conviction in a racetrack stock scandal. Kerner's attorney said he would appeal the decision by the board in court. Elliott Epstein, director of the Illinois Dept. of Finance and a trustee to the retirement system, said state statutes bar pension benefits to any person convicted of a felony "relating to or arising out of or in connection to his service as an employe" of the state. "That felony arose from, was related to and was in connection to his (Kerner's) employment by the state." Epstein said. Kerner was convicted by a federal court in 1973 of income tax evasion, mail fraud, perjury and conspiracy for awarding favorable racing dates in exchange for racetrack stock at bargain basement prices.

Legislature OKs education bills

Education bills totaling $71.2 million for scholarships and state aid to grade and high schools during this school year won approval Wednesday in the Illinois General Assembly, despite fears the state can't pay for all deficiency requests. The scholarship bill provides $3.65 million to ensure full-time college students will get scholarships promised them this year. It cleared the Senate 41-10 and went to Gov. Daniel Walker who says he will sign it. The Illinois State Scholarship Commission needed the extra money because 7,000 more qualified students than expected applied for scholarships this year.

11 businessmen in court today

Eleven Palatine businessmen who failed to obtain their 1976 village business licenses by the March 31 deadline will appear today in the Arlington Heights branch of Cook County Circuit Court. The businessmen, who were issued citations last month, face fines ranging from $25 to $500 for failure to obtain the licenses. Thirteen other village businessmen facing similar charges are scheduled for court appearances May 13 and May 20. Last year, businesses found in violation of the village business license ordinance were fined $15 and ordered to purchase the licenses.

Reduced rail fares May 15

Reduced fares for senior citizens and handicapped persons will be in effect May 15 on all commuter railroads except the Chicago and North Western Ry.

The North Western is not participating in the reduced fare program at present because it has not yet signed a purchase of service agreement with the Regional Transportation Authority.

A North Western spokesman Wednesday said reduced fares will go into effect as soon as a purchase agreement is signed.

Railroads participating in the program include the Milwaukee Road, Burlington Northern, Rock Island and Illinois Gulf Central.

The reduced fares will be half the normal adult one-way fare up to a maximum of $1. They do not apply during the weekday rush hours.

To qualify for reduced rates, seniors and handicapped persons will need to show their RTA special users travel cards. These may be obtained at 250 locations in the six-county area. Further information is available by calling 670-5000.

The travel cards already are accepted on most bus systems in the RTA area.

Report King death didn't end FBI plot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI tried to smear Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. even after his death — treating him much like a Soviet agent — and had a plan to harass his widow as well, the staff of the Senate Intelligence Committee reported Wednesday.

"The FBI's attempts to discredit Dr. King did not end with his death" by assassination in 1968, the staff said in one of a series of final reports on what it calls the FBI's "secret war" against American citizens.

The staff also said, however, it found no evidence the bureau was involved in King's murder. A Justice Department task force is investigating that subject separately.

But the report — prepared by the intelligence panel's investigative staff and not signed by committee members — said the FBI under J. Edgar Hoover pursued a "vicious vendetta" against King from 1963 until some time after his death, trying to discredit his memory and to stop Congress from making his birthday a national holiday.

It said William Sullivan, Hoover's former FBI deputy, described the overall campaign against King and thousands of other suspected radicals as "a rough, tough, dirty business and dangerous . . ."

"No holds were barred," Sullivan testified at committee hearings. "We have used (similar) techniques against Soviet agents . . . We did not differentiate. This is a rough, tough business."

Repeating conclusions the Committee has published before, the report said Hoover considered King "no good" and a dangerous force for dissent in America.

It said he directed his agents to prove King was Communist — influenced by tapping his telephones, bugging his hotel rooms and harassing him. One ploy was the anonymous letter, already publicized, which suggested King commit suicide or face disclosure of an extra-marital affair.

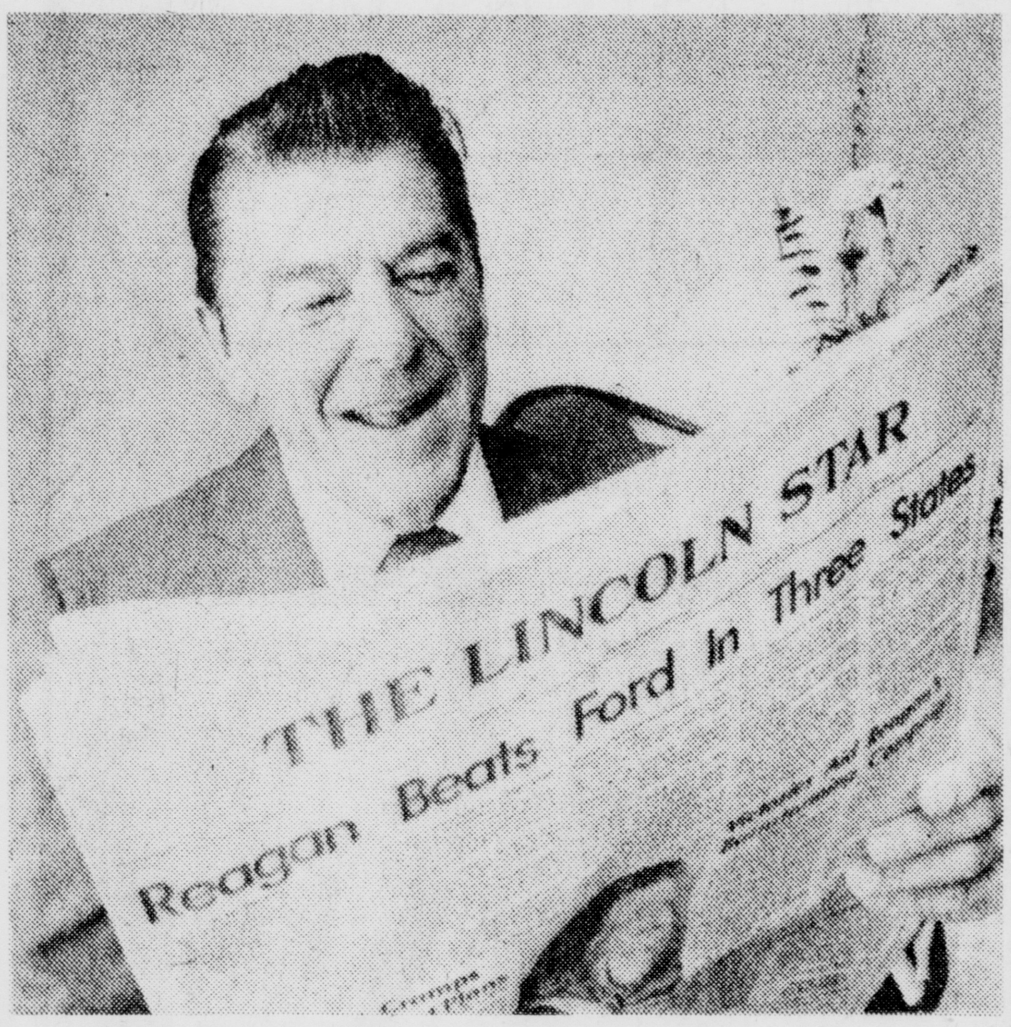
But Wednesday's report also included new disclosures about the smear campaign that followed king's death.

When Congress was considering declaring his birthday a national holiday, it said, the FBI's Crime Records Division "recommended briefing congressmen" who might keep the bill bottled up in committee if "they realize King was a scoundrel."

Congress has yet to vote on a King birthday bill.

The report also said the FBI Atlanta field office proposed a "counterintelligence operation," against King's memory and his widow in April, 1969.

It said it did not know details of the plan or whether it was ever carried out, but quoted an FBI memo as saying the program might be used "in the event the bureau is inclined to entertain counterintelligence action against Coretta Scott King and/or the continuous projection of the public image of Martin Luther King."



THE LINCOLN STAR
Reagan Beats Ford In Three States

RONALD REAGAN IS all smiles as he reads details of his sweep of presidential primaries in Indiana, Alabama and Georgia. Reagan spoke in Lincoln, Neb., to target delegates in preparation for Nebraska's primary on May 11.

Reagan basks in primary aftermath

by United Press International

President Ford, beset north and south by a surging Ronald Reagan, said Wednesday he still is going to win the Republican presidential nomination. But not on the first ballot, said Reagan.

Democrat Jimmy Carter, with three more victories after the year's first four-primary Tuesday, said his plan is more of the same. But the Carter "steamroller is on," said Morris Udall.

Reagan basked in the aftermath of a primary sweep that began with a Ford wipeout in Texas Saturday and climaxed in Indiana with his first, albeit narrow, victory in a northern industrial state.

The former California governor, who also overwhelmed the President in Georgia and Alabama Tuesday, expressed surprise at his own performance in Indiana, where he said Ford had led by 20 points at one time.

Ford told reporters he was "disappointed" about Indiana but still "very strongly" expects to win the nomination in Kansas City in August and the election in November. Ron Nessen, Ford's press secretary, said the President's campaign strategy was going under scrutiny to see what had gone wrong.

Reagan's victories put him ahead of Ford, 359 to 318, in the contest for 1,130 delegates needed for the nomination. Since Saturday, Reagan has picked up 220 delegates to Ford's 9. But Ford still had more than 250 uncommitted delegates in reserve in New York and Pennsylvania, and told reporters in an impromptu news conference his confidence was not "harmed one bit."

Carter won the Indiana, Georgia and District of Columbia primaries Tuesday, losing only to Gov. George Wallace in Alabama. The results gave the former Georgia governor more than 100 new delegates and a total of 556. That was more than a third of the 1,505 needed to nominate a candidate in July at New York's Madison Square Garden. Carter's own delegate count showed 656 in the bag.

Udall, who was ruled off the Indiana ballot, picked up 5 delegates in the District and reached a total of 180 as he and Carter out-muscled two warring factions of local Democrats who had fielded uncommitted slates. Wallace had 144 delegates and Sen. Henry Jackson, now an inactive candidate, had 204. The key "uncommitted" pool was 232.

Looking at the situation Wednesday morning, Udall said "I know an underdog when I see one. The bandwagon is rolling; the steamroller is on."

The faintest signs of a Democratic unity movement also were in the air. Wallace, who salvaged his Alabama delegation in an otherwise disastrous showing Tuesday, said he could support Carter as the Democratic nominee. Udall predicted the Democrats would not leave "blood on the floor" in their nomination process this year: "We're not going to screw it up the way we did in '68 and '72. We're going to win one for a change."

Carter's campaign manager also said there had been communication between the Georgian and Sen. Hubert Humphrey. But a spokesman for Humphrey called UPI and said the Minnesota Democrat did not call Carter and that "Humphrey has no intention of endorsing Jimmy Carter or anyone else at all."

Hamilton Jordan, the Carter campaign chief, made two predictions in the wake of the Tuesday primaries: that Carter will get 1,000 delegates by June 9 and that "I think you'll see, in the next few weeks, some leaders of the party and elected officials making public statements of support for us."

Senate fails to override Ford's day care veto

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate failed by three votes Wednesday to follow the lead of the House and override President Ford's veto of a child day care center bill.

The legislation would have authorized $125 million to help day care centers around the country meet the cost of new federal staffing standards, as well as state-imposed health and safety regulations.

Ford had denounced the house override vote on Tuesday and he urged the Senate to sustain his veto. The President said the bill would "make permanent highly controversial and costly day care staff-to-children ratios" and deny states flexibility in setting and enforcing their own standards.

Advocates of the bill said centers now serving thousands of poverty-level children would be forced to close without the federal money.

Although the House had 33 more votes than necessary Tuesday, the 60-34 Senate vote Wednesday fell three short of the required two-thirds of those present.

AIM leader Means, companion shot

American Indian Movement cofounder Russell Means and anoth-AIM leader were seriously wounded early Wednesday in a shooting on the Yankton Sioux Indian Reservation in Wagner, S.D. Means was shot in the abdomen and his companion, John Thomas, was hit in the neck and chest. Both men were taken to a hospital in nearby Yankton where they underwent surgery. Means' condition, first listed as serious, later was changed to satisfactory. Thomas was listed in serious condition.

U.S. attorney William Clayton of Sioux Falls, S.D., charged suspects Mike Weston and James Weddell with attempted murder. Three others, Frances Allen Archambeau, Terry Provost and a juvenile were charged with being accessories after the fact.

Ford signs Highway Assistance Act

President Ford Wednesday signed the $17.5 billion Federal Highway Assistance Act, calling it "an important step toward meeting the nation's transportation needs." In a Rose Garden ceremony, Ford signed the legislation which authorizes spending over the next two years, beginning Oct. 1, and places primary responsibility for use of the funds in the hands of state and local authorities. He said the new law will open up many hundreds of jobs "both directly and indirectly." Ford said it consolidates a number of existing categorical grant programs into "a broader, more flexible program, a step which should help state and local officials solve their transportation problems more effectively."

Jury finds Gov. Moore innocent

A federal jury Wednesday believed the word of Republican Gov. Arch Moore of West Virginia and found him innocent of charges he conspired to extort $25,000 during his reelection campaign four years ago from a now bankrupt loan company. Moore's former top aide, indicted with the governor, was also acquitted by the jury following seven hours of deliberations. Moore, 53, and William Loy, 44, the former aide, were charged in a one-count indictment with accepting $25,000 from Diversified Mountaineer Corp., the loan company. The government charged they used their influence to try to convince the state banking board to grant the charter to a subsidiary of DMC. The charter was not granted.

Rubber strike affecting automakers

The 16-day-old nationwide rubber workers strike Wednesday began affecting auto production — forcing some automakers to ship new cars without spare tires. Ford Motor Co. said some cars and trucks rolling off its assembly lines will not have spare tires until the end of the strike. Chrysler Corp. said it is doing some substituting but all cars are going out with five tires. General Motors Corp. said it has begun switching spare tires on some models. American Motors Corp. said it still has an ample supply of rubber for its cars.

Army service extended in Rhodesia

Rhodesia Wednesday extended regular army service from 12 to 18 months, moving the former British colony closer to full war footing against black nationalist guerrillas fighting to topple the white regime. A defense force spokesman said the period draftees must serve was being extended "to provide sufficient trained manpower to deal effectively with the recent upsurge in terrorist incursions and to ensure that these will not only be contained but decisively defeated."

Political attacks disrupt U. N. conference

Third World nations disrupted the opening of the U.N. Conference on Trade and Development Wednesday in Nairobi, Kenya by bitterly denouncing Chile, South Africa and Israel as Fascist, exploiters and oppressors. Cuban Foreign Trade Minister Marcelo Fernandez began the political harangue when he denounced Chile as a "Fascist dictatorship." Algerian delegate Layachi Yaker then broadened the political attack by condemning Israel and South Africa as "exploiters and oppressors."

Rival troops hug, kiss in Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A fragile American-negotiated cease-fire held in Beirut's port district Wednesday and Moslem and Christian troops who only hours earlier were locked in deadly battle embraced and kissed along the frontlines.

Some 500 troops of the Syrian-controlled Palestine Liberation Army patrolled a 60-yard buffer zone between leftist and right-wing outposts, enforcing the 29th truce in the year-long civil war which has killed nearly 19,000 persons.

The truce was arranged through a proposal by special U.S. envoy L. Dean Brown for the warring Moslem and Christian forces to ban the use of heavy artillery in their battle for control of the port.

Moslem leader Kamal Jumblatt accepted the proposal "because it was a humanitarian matter" and asked Brown to make the same appeal to rightist leaders. Within hours the fighting dwindled to sporadic sniper fire.

A tour of the ravaged district took on an almost holiday air despite the smouldering fires and occasional zing of sniper bullets.

Moslem and Christian militiamen, who poured machinegun and artillery fire at each other for the past four days, hugged and kissed along shell-blasted Allenby Street, the front line of the battle for the waterfront.

Gunmen squired pretty girls in straw hats up to the front in Jeeps with machine guns mounted on top. Old Kurdish women wearing long white veils gossiped for the first time in days amid the smoking ruins.

At the front line, the truce was almost entirely effective. Only infrequent bursts of sniper fire could be heard in back streets.

During the four days of fierce battle Moslem leftist forces advanced several hundred yards toward the last Christian outposts but failed to push the Phalangists from the harbor or the strategic Fattal building which dominates the area.

Syrian officers are scheduled to move into the building later this week to prevent truce violations, leftist and rightist spokesmen said.

On the political front, presidential candidate Raymond Edde said the special parliamentary session to elect a successor to President Suleiman Franjieh "should be held Saturday because the country cannot support the current situation any longer."

The port battle had threatened to scuttle the session which had already been delayed once by cease-fire violations.

But, Edde said, "I am not optimistic — I understand that (Interior Minister Camille) Chamoun does not want the session to be held because he wants complete security first and Kamal Jumblatt does not want the election to take place before the withdrawal of Syrian forces from the country."

Conservative Central Bank Governor Elias Sarkis, Edde's Syrian-backed rival, got a boost Wednesday with the announced support of Deputy Suleiman Ali, a member of a 35-man Akkar independent bloc which could hold the swing in the election.

Tickets, which will be available at the door, are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

Harry Begian, director of bands at the University of Illinois, will be the guest conductor.

The Sousa Band Award will be presented to the outstanding senior band member at the concert. The winner will receive a trophy and be asked to conduct the final selection of the evening, John Philip Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The program includes the concert band, under the direction of Richard Kennell, performing "Fantasy on American Sailing Songs" by Grundman, George Gershwin "Symphonic Portrayal" and "Jubilee Concert March" by Kenny.

Lendell King will direct the symphonic band in "Fanfare Prelude" by Hanson, "Jubiloso" by Panerio and "Beguine for Band" by Osser.

Village board wrapup

Stop sign request referred to panel

Arlington Heights trustees have delayed action on a request for a four-way stop at Grove Street and Waterman Avenue.

The request was sent to the board's public health and safety committee for review and recommendation prior to board action. The committee's next scheduled meeting is May 12.

Residents from the area told the village board Monday night the signs are needed because of children crossing the intersection enroute to Kensington School.

Three years ago a similar request was rejected by the public health and safety committee.

C & NW pact approved

The village board approved an agreement with the Chicago & North Western Ry. to take responsibility for hiring an architect and contractor for the new railroad station planned for a site immediately east of the present station.

Architects will be interviewed by the village board's finance committee.

Officials hope construction of the $180,000 station will begin this fall.

Rezoning request OKd

The board approved the rezoning of a site at the southeast corner of Ridge Avenue and Central Road from single-family use to office-transitional use as requested by Jack O. Taylor, a chiropractor planning to build an office.

The zoning change was opposed by Trustees Richard Durava, Madeline Schroeder and Robert Miller.

Ray J. DeMaertelaere, attorney for Taylor, said it is anticipated about 30 patients will visit the building daily.

4 blood drives in May

Four blood drives have been scheduled during May in Arlington Heights.

Our Savior Lutheran Church, 1234 N. Arlington Heights Rd., will sponsor a drive Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. To make an appointment, call 255-1346 or 253-3911.

Forest View High School, 2121 S. Goebbert Rd., will have a drive May 17. Burt Showers, student advisor, is faculty representative for the drive.

Faculty and parents at Miner Junior High School can donate blood May 19 from 3:30 to 7 p.m.

Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Assn., 25 E. Campbell St., will have a blood drive May 28 from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

VFW Mother's Day dinner

Arlington Heights VFW Post 981 will sponsor a Mother's Day dinner Sunday at the post club house, 811 N. Yale Ave.

Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children between 6 and 12. Children under 6 will be admitted free.

Dinner will be served from 1 to 5 p.m.

Dist. 21 summer school fate shaky

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 will need an average 15 students per class to offer its summer school program this year, according to district officials.

The district is planning to offer summer school on a tuition basis charging $40 per student. However, an average of 15 students per class will be required, said Marjorie Beu, assistant superintendent for instruction.

Dist. 21 has offered a free summer school program for the past five years. This year, however, it appears there will be no state reimbursement for the program. As a result the Dist. 21 board decided to offer it on a fee basis.

Enrollment in this year's summer school probably will drop considerably, Miss Beu said. She said she expects between 1,000 and 1,200 children to enroll, whereas last year there were 2,900 students when the program was free.

MISS BEU SAID with an average of 15 pupils per class, the district hopes to provide smaller classes for remedial students, making up the difference with larger band and orchestra classes.

The district now is planning to offer summer classes in every school, but if enrollment is very low, some elementary schools may be combined, Miss Beu said.

Registration currently is in progress for summer school at each Dist. 21 school. Parents may register their children for courses through May 28. The program is scheduled for June 15 through July 9.

The summer school program will include classes in first grade readiness and intensive study and review in each school. The junior high schools also will offer band and orchestra.

Enrichment classes planned by the district include chess, camping, outdoor education, rock and roll, arts and crafts, physical education, cooking, model airplanes and multi-ethnic experiences.

History society officers

Virgil Horath has been elected president of the Arlington Heights Historical Society. He currently serves as the executive director of the society's museum.

Others elected to directors positions were Gertrude Adam, Mrs. Charles Tully and Mrs. James Fancher.

Dist. 21 summer school fate shaky

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 will need an average 15 students per class to offer its summer school program this year, according to district officials.

The district is planning to offer summer school on a tuition basis charging $40 per student. However, an average of 15 students per class will be required, said Marjorie Beu, assistant superintendent for instruction.

Dist. 21 has offered a free summer school program for the past five years. This year, however, it appears there will be no state reimbursement for the program. As a result the Dist. 21 board decided to offer it on a fee basis.

Enrollment in this year's summer school probably will drop considerably, Miss Beu said. She said she expects between 1,000 and 1,200 children to enroll, whereas last year there were 2,900 students when the program was free.

MISS BEU SAID with an average of 15 pupils per class, the district hopes to provide smaller classes for remedial students, making up the difference with larger band and orchestra classes.

The district now is planning to offer summer classes in every school, but if enrollment is very low, some elementary schools may be combined, Miss Beu said.

Registration currently is in progress for summer school at each Dist. 21 school. Parents may register their children for courses through May 28. The program is scheduled for June 15 through July 9.

The summer school program will include classes in first grade readiness and intensive study and review in each school. The junior high schools also will offer band and orchestra.

Enrichment classes planned by the district include chess, camping, outdoor education, rock and roll, arts and crafts, physical education, cooking, model airplanes and multi-ethnic experiences.

History society officers

Virgil Horath has been elected president of the Arlington Heights Historical Society. He currently serves as the executive director of the society's museum.

Gianopulos heads seniors' panel

John W. Gianopulos has been reappointed chairman of the Arlington Heights Senior Citizens' Commission, despite objections from two village trustees who say the post should be given to a resident of Arlington Heights.

Gianopulos, who has led the commission the past three years, lives at 2725 Briarwood Dr., south of the village limits in unincorporated Elk Grove Township.

The appointment of Gianopulos was opposed by trustees August Bettman and Robert Miller.

BETTMAN SAID he did not oppose Gianopulos personally but said other residents have complained about Gianopulos not being a resident.

"They don't like the fact that he doesn't live here and doesn't pay any taxes. And this year he finally got his way," Bettman said.

Gianopulos succeeded this spring in getting the village board to apropriate funds for a human services coordinator to direct the programs of the senior citizen and youth commissions.

"There's been resentment by some people that this was railroaded through," Bettman said.

"I opposed his appointment generally, not specifically, because I believe there are plenty of well-qualified residents of Arlington Heights that can be put on those committees," Miller said.

GIANOPULOS SAID Tuesday he has never attempted to hide the fact that he lived outside the village limits.

"I told Mayor (Jack) Walsh when he appointed me three years ago that I wasn't a resident, but he said the decision was made to change the village ordinance to include me," said Gianopulos, the dean of career programs at Mayfair College, Chicago.

"I serve at the village board's discretion. I will step down if they so desire," he said.

Gianopulos said he anticipated such criticism, which he called "justifiable," when Walsh appointed him.

Other trustees supported the reappointment of Gianopulos because of his past performance as chairman of the senior citizens' commission.

"WE HAD A SENIOR citizens' commission that was dormant before he (Gianopulos) was made chairman. I think he also dug out many of the commission members, too," Trustee David Griffin said.

"I don't agree with the chairman on every occasion, but there has been more input as a result of his expertise," Village Pres. James T. Ryan said.

Gianopulos is responsible for developing senior citizen programs in Chicago's city colleges and serves in an advisory capacity on Mayor Richard J. Daley's commission on aging.

He has also attended White House and state conferences on aging.

ALSO APPOINTED to the senior citizens' commission were Paul Hauer, Joyce Goeller and Delores Goedke.

Other appointments approved were: Allen K. Miller and George Leck to the fire and police commission; Leonard Perkins and Kathryn Graham to the plan commission; Fred Marks, Harry Fall and George Hauff to the zoning board of appeals; K. Deborah Boutier and Frederic F. Ford to the housing commission; and James S. Jarvis to the environmental control commission.

Also Bruce P. Mullan, Jeffery Clery and Thomas J. Kopp to the youth council; Frank Schroeder and Don Hillenmeyer to the board of health; Joseph Sobol and Andrew L. Ruff Jr. to the police pension board; Stanley F. Mays to the board of local improvements; and Aris N. Mantzoros to the industrial and commercial development commission.

minutes (of the Feb. 16 village board meeting) that it should have come back to the board before it was sent to Mount Prospect," Barboro said.

"BUT I DON'T FEEL it was a monumental mistake. Nothing catastrophic has happened," Barboro said.

According to the Feb. 16 minutes Trustee Frank Palmatier was to meet with Siegel to discuss wording of the agreement and that it was to be reviewed again at the village board meeting March 15.

Palmatier called the entire situation "a misunderstanding on Mr. Hanson's part as to just what the board had decided."

During the executive session, Hanson admitted he had made a mistake and apologized, Trustee Robert Miller said.

"I don'T SEE THAT anything was done intentionally. I see no reason to carry it on and make a big issue of it. Besides, until we sign it, the agreement isn't valid," Miller said.

Mrs. Schroeder said she had no strong objections to the proposed boundary agreement, she stated that if it is approved, village zoning ordinances will have to be adjusted.

The agreement includes a provision that the Magnus Farm, a retirement center on Central Road, shall be annexed by whichever village is selected by the owner of the property, but that zoning of the property shall be single-family with a special use permit for a nursing home.

"That agreement would force us to change our ordinances because we now have no conditions in single-family districts for special uses for nursing homes," she said.

Shea reprimand meeting sought

State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights, said Wednesday he has asked for a meeting with House Speaker William Redmond, D-Bensenville, and State Rep. Gerald Shea, D-Riverside, to discuss his resolution reprimanding Shea.

Schlickman said he wants the meeting, which also would include the chairman of whatever committee is assigned the resolution, "to discuss the procedure for handling the resolution."

As of Wednesday afternoon, the resolution, which reprimands Shea for conflicts of interest involving his work for state medical societies and sponsorship of medical malpractice legislation, had not yet been assigned to a committee.

SCHLICKMAN said he expects to learn of the committee assignment within the next day or two. He said early reaction to his move, which he said is "unprecedented" in the Illinois House, has been divided.

"Nonlegislative people, state employes, have been very complimentary about the fact I've introduced the resolution," Schlickman said.

He said some legislators have expressed support while others "who think Shea did a stupid thing, are uncomfortable with the resolution being offered."

Schlickman said that of the legislators he has talked to "only one has defended Shea."

Schlickman said the resolution is a "resolution of reprimand" and not a censure move.

Under sanctions provided in the constitution for judicial misbehavior a reprimand is less severe than censure.

"I chose the least offensive sanction because I felt it would be appropriate," Schlickman said.

Ford's primary losses spark state GOP anxiety

by STEVE BROWN

There were apparent signs Wednesday that some Illinois Republican leaders are worried over President Ford's recent string of primary election defeats.

Discussion of Ford's losses occupied only a brief portion of a Republican Leadership Council meeting at the Hyatt Regency Chicago. State GOP Chairman Don Adams, however, refused to make any public comment on Ford's primary setbacks.

During a press conference held in conjunction with the "nuts and bolts" party meeting, Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott predicted Ford could win Illinois in November over ex-Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, the frontrunner for the Democratic nomination. Scott, seeking reelection in November, refused to go out on the same limb for ex-California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"I am hopeful the candidate nominated by the Republican National Convention will help the state ticket," Scott said, when asked by The Herald if Reagan could win the state.

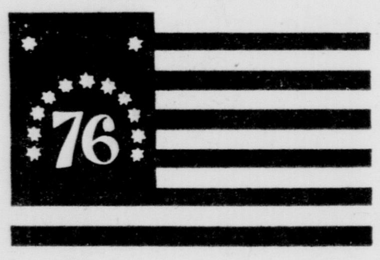
JAMES THOMPSON, the party's gubernatorial candidate, said he did not think the rejuvenation of the Reagan-campaign would have any effect on his own campaign.

"I got considerable support from both Ford and Reagan supporters during the primary," Thompson said. During the primary campaign, Thompson said he would be "comfortable" with either Ford or Reagan at the head of the ticket.

Ford beat Reagan handily in the Illinois March 16 primary. Until Saturday, Reagon's only primary election success was in North Carolina. Since Saturday he has beaten the president in Texas, Indiana, Georgia and Alabama and now leads Ford in the number of elected committed convention delegates. Ford supporters have noted a large percentage of the nearly 300 uncommitted delegates elected, however, support the president.

In reviewing the president's recent troubles Thompson discounted the value of the "coattails effect" either Ford or Reagan could have on Illinois candidates.

"I don't think the presidential nominee will play a great role in who would be elected in the state," he said.



STARS & STRIPES

DIFFERENT STARS, DIFFERENT STRIPES

The flag resolution adopted by Congress on June 14, 1777, was vague, calling only for 13 alternating red and white stripes and 13 white stars on a blue field. Both the stars and stripes were to correspond with the number of states in the union.

While early flags held essentially the same pattern of horizontal stripes, they varied in arrangement of stars.

Perhaps the oldest version of the Stars and Stripes was the Bennington banner, carried on August 16, 1777, during the Battle of Bennington in New York State, just over the Vermont border. This flag carried an arch of 11 stars beneath which was emblazoned "76". The two upper corners of the field also carried a star.

There were other major differences between the stars and stripes on early banners and the flag we know today.

Early flags had stars with four to seven points; today's have five. The field sometimes started and ended with a white stripe, making 7 white and 6 red stripes. Today's starts with a red stripe, having 7 red and 6 white.

The clear intent of the 1777 flag resolution was to give our nation a single symbol. It led instead to many versions and, unfortunately, many romantic legends and serious doubts about the true origins of the flag.

The way we see it

Martwick must review charge

Serious questions have been raised about the conduct of some board members and administrators in Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 in the handling of the unit district study, and a full investigation into the charges is needed.

Dist. 59 board member Paul Kucharski Monday called for the resignation of two board members and two administrators for withholding information from other board members and for what he called their "clandestine conduct" in hiring a legal firm being used to help pursue a unit district.

Kucharski also charged that a "deal" was made between members of the Dist. 59 board and representatives of the Centex Industrial Park. He said the board would sponsor the unit district study if the industrial park representatives would support a tax rate increase referendum that passed last fall.

Kucharski called for the resignation of Roger Bardwell, superintendent; Leah Cummins, public relations director; and board members Judith Zanca and Emil Bahnmeier. All except Bardwell are members of the Committee of 10, which is attempting to bring the unit district issue to the voters in a referendum. He added that Mrs. Zanca and Bahnmeier have "misrepresented the facts" about the unit district.

Although the four persons involved have denied any wrong doing, Kucharski's charges are serious enough to require prompt review.

Kucharski has submitted his information to County Schools Supt. Richard Martwick, asking for an investigation.

We believe a full hearing by an impartial but interested party would clear the air and hopefully end the debate on procedures used in creating the unit district committee.

We also believe the public deserves an answer on whether the board made a deal with businessmen in the district.

We urge Supt. Martwick to undertake such an investigation and ask that public hearings be held on the conduct of the board and administration.

Safety hazard situation is viewed with gravity

We are deeply indebted to the Consumer Product Safety Commission for its shocking report last week that children fall out of bunk beds.

Isaac Newton would have been delighted that some official agency has finally recognized the awesome, harmful power of the force he discovered.

We hope the commission will not abandon its efforts to alert the unwary of the potential harm gravity can cause the human race.

Certainly, a completed investigation of this hazard would reveal that people also fall out of regular, non-bunk beds.

While the results (cuts and bruises mostly) may not be as noteworthy as those resulting from an encounter with gravity from the top of a bunk bed, that should not deter the commission from exploring this menace to safety.

Why, we even have it on good authority that a Northwest suburban state representative recently fell prey to gravity while stepping off a harmless-looking curb. She ended up with a broken ankle.

It seems clear there is only one way to protect citizens from all these hazards — label the earth "Caution, the force of gravity may be hazardous to your health."

We expect legislation to be introduced on this subject any day now.

The almanac

by United Press International

Today is Thursday, May 6, the 127th day of 1976 with 239 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter.

The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Taurus.

Sigmund Freud, Austrian neurologist and founder of psychoanalysis, was born May 6, 1856.

On this day in history:

In 1816, the American Bible Association was organized in New York City.

In 1935, the Works Progress Administration, known as the WPA, was established to provide work for the unemployed.

In 1972, an armed man, who hijacked a plane in Pennsylvania the day before, parachuted out over Honduras with $303,000 collected in ransom.

In 1975, President Ford made a televised appeal to Americans to welcome the thousands of refugees pouring into the United States by air from their Communist country. He sharply criticized opposition to the Vietnamese resettlement.

Rhodesia coverage disputed

I must take issue against the Paddock Herald's rather matter-of-fact reporting of Kissinger's visit to the nations in Africa waging war against Rhodesia. There should have been at least a slight hint of protest that Mr. Kissinger, an unelected official, would have the audacity to pretend to speak for the people of this nation. What happened to the Liberal establishment which just a few months ago bellowed loudly and demonstrated against our involvement in the affairs of another nation? Are they so racist that they would now willingly take part in a war against Rhodesia?

The Rhodesian affair is an example how world leaders can create situations whereby the common people suddenly find themselves killing one another. In World War I, eight million people lost their lives. In World War II, 15 million lost their lives. It is estimated that Red China destroyed 60 million people to establish their regime. To establish their regime, the Russian Communist leaders starved 10 million Ukraines and executed another 35 million in Russia. Let's not forget the German leaders who decided to make this a better world by marching 6 million Jews to the ovens. In Korea and Vietnam millions more lost their lives including close to 100,000 American soldiers. All this in just the past 60 years. In every case demented world leaders thought that a few more killings would make this a better world. Not once did the combatants willingly enter the fight. Like sheep they were led to the slaughter.

NOW A NEW set of world leaders are deciding how to make Africa a better place for the black man. Actually, plans for this new blood bath were formulated in 1965 by our own think tank right here in America — The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. In their publication called, "Apartheid and United Nations Collectives Measures" a blueprint is outlined for toppling the Rhodesian government, including even a detailed outline of the final military action. Every bit of deceitful propaganda in this outline has been faithfully followed for the past 10 years.

Our newspapers, including Paddock, seem to be going along with this conspiracy because they omit some very important facts. For example, none mention that the Rhodesian lower house already is one fourth black. Two-thirds of the armed forces are black. The Rhodesian blacks enjoy higher standards of living than any other blacks in all of Africa, and there is no civil turmoil in Rhodesia except those incidents created by terrorists groups that steal across the border. To insist that all government offices immediately be given to black men would be equivalent to all American government offices being given to some American Social group such as the V.F.W. (No disrespect intended.) Ian Smith, the Rhodesian prime minister, realizes that this would virtually destroy the wellbeing of the blacks and whites.

Americans hould write their congressmen and senators and insist that Kissinger be dismissed, and that the financial aid Kissinger promised Mozambique be denied. Economic pressure should be imposed against those nations planning to invade Rhodesia and not against Rhodesia. Perhaps if enough Americans make these demands, still another blood bath can be averted.

Urges yes vote for parks

I appreciate your reporting my comment in favor of the current park district referendum.

However, your article did not cover all the facts. As I mentioned that night, April 29, besides being an officer of the Buffalo Grove Recreation Association, I have served as a supervisor of park district programs and have followed two of my own sons in various sports activities. During the last few years these activities have caused me to travel to many neighboring suburbs. In many cases, I have seen beautiful community centers where children can go to participate in various activities. I have seen fabulous baseball park complexes with lighted fields. Also, I have seen playgrounds within these parks where my four year old son could slide, swing, etc. Then I came back to Buffalo Grove and saw what we have. Finally last year, on my own, I started visiting various park commissioners, recreation people, etc., in Buffalo Grove. Many times I disagreed with what they had to say. However, in each instance one fact came to light, the Buffalo Grove Park District did not have the money to provide these facilities. Now we have a referendum before us that gives the people a chance to have two new parks and to obtain some of these recreation benefits such as playgrounds. Also, the cost is so minimal; 50 cents a week would be added to the homeowner's tax bill on $10,000 assessed valuation. This is less than the cost of a hamburger. In my opinion the cost is well worth the benefits that will be obtained.

I think your paper should urge all of the people to go out and vote on Saturday, May 8.

Bruce W. Heath
Buffalo Grove

Kerner pardon supported

Isn't it about time that the federal government granted former Gov. Otto Kerner a pardon.

Kerner has suffered enough from the humilation and loss of face in front of his peers as well as the general public.

According to attending physicians at Illinois Masonic Hospital, the cancer stricken Kerner has a "limited life expectancy" and "considerably worsening medical condition."

This situation is no doubt extremely precarious. It would certainly aid his health situation if he were granted a pardon. Any physician will agree with me that when you have a great deal of anxiety or concern, your health will break down. This is precisely what is happening to the former state official. He would have a little better standing if he received a pardon.

Convicted federal felons, because of a Justice Department rule, do not become eligible for pardon consideration until five years after their release from prison. In order to circumvent this rule, Kerner applied for a waiver. Last December the waiver request was denied by the Justice Department. A decision on a second waiver request still has not been made.

Can't the Justice Department show some consideration for a human being by letting Kerner live the few remaining years of his life with one very much desired wish fulfilled?

The decision on abortions

I AM SO very upset to read in the April 28 paper that my hospital here in Arlington Heights is going to allow murder to occur down the hall from a room where some humanitarian doctor is frantically trying to save a life. When do we draw the line of who shall live and who shall die?

So many people want children to adopt, why kill these kids? How can intelligent people think they are not terminating a life. If it is not a life, why terminate it? I'm very glad my parents didn't abort me.

Please, God, help these people to follow their conscience and not outside pressures.

Carol Babka
Arlington Heights

I HAVE GIVEN birth to two of my three children in Northwest Community Hospital. I am expecting No. 4 in November. The emergency room is a familiar spot for my family. Our obstetrician, pediatrician and internists all practice at Northwest.

Their reversal of policy on abortion has me most distressed. I cannot patronize a hospital which disagrees with my strong personal belief.

For almost five years I have counseled girls with problem pregnancies. What a difficult thing in a society that says get rid of your baby rather than giving birth to a child out-of-wedlock. What courage some girls have to stand against such a belief and give their child a chance at life.

I wish my doctors had such courage. If those against abortion would protest such a decision, perhaps it would not exist.

There are many strongly pro-life people in this community who would totally support those doctors.

Palatine

THE HERALD all but shouted Hooray from its front page story, that Northwest Community Hospital had decided to allow abortions, a decision purported to reflect the general feeling of the community the hospital serves. The Herald, in an editorial two weeks earlier, had purred with satisfaction that overpopulation problems were being met and solved by advances or progress in birth control and abortion.

Progress in abortion is nothing but progress in taking lives, and progress in taking lives is simply progress in killing. The decisions of the Supreme Court, Northwest Community Hospital, Lutheran General Hospital, and The Arlington Heights Herald cannot turn something intrinsically bad into something good, no matter how respectable it may be made to sound, nor how widespread its appeal.

Northwest Community Hospital has received much well-deserved praise in The Herald for its life-saving programs — now the hospital has decided to go the other way and take lives, and The Herald will applaud its progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schuler
Arlington Heights

(Editor's note: The hospital's decision was given prominent play because the editors felt it was a decision of major interest to its readers; mail reaction indicates that judgment was correct.)

Now we have a referendum before us that gives the people a chance to have two new parks and to obtain some of these recreation benefits such as playgrounds. Also, the cost is so minimal; 50 cents a week would be added to the homeowner's tax bill on $10,000 assessed valuation. This is less than the cost of a hamburger. In my opinion the cost is well worth the benefits that will be obtained.

I think your paper should urge all of the people to go out and vote on Saturday, May 8.

Kerner pardon supported

Isn't it about time that the federal government granted former Gov. Otto Kerner a pardon.

Kerner has suffered enough from the humilation and loss of face in front of his peers as well as the general public.

According to attending physicians at Illinois Masonic Hospital, the cancer stricken Kerner has a "limited life expectancy" and "considerably worsening medical condition."

This situation is no doubt extremely precarious. It would certainly aid his health situation if he were granted a pardon. Any physician will agree with me that when you have a great deal of anxiety or concern, your health will break down. This is precisely what is happening to the former state official. He would have a little better standing if he received a pardon.

Convicted federal felons, because of a Justice Department rule, do not become eligible for pardon consideration until five years after their release from prison. In order to circumvent this rule, Kerner applied for a waiver. Last December the waiver request was denied by the Justice Department. A decision on a second waiver request still has not been made.

Can't the Justice Department show some consideration for a human being by letting Kerner live the few remaining years of his life with one very much desired wish fulfilled?

PROVIDENCE, R.I., May 6 — Gov. Cooke sent Gen. Washington a copy of a measure adopted by the Rhode Island legislature ending any allegiance of the inhabitants to the king. The colony's delegates at Philadelphia were authorized to approve entering into treaties with foreign governments.

The decision on abortions

I AM SO very upset to read in the April 28 paper that my hospital here in Arlington Heights is going to allow murder to occur down the hall from a room where some humanitarian doctor is frantically trying to save a life. When do we draw the line of who shall live and who shall die?

So many people want children to adopt, why kill these kids? How can intelligent people think they are not terminating a life. If it is not a life, why terminate it? I'm very glad my parents didn't abort me.

Please, God, help these people to follow their conscience and not outside pressures.

Arlington Heights

I HAVE GIVEN birth to two of my three children in Northwest Community Hospital. I am expecting No. 4 in November. The emergency room is a familiar spot for my family. Our obstetrician, pediatrician and internists all practice at Northwest.

Their reversal of policy on abortion has me most distressed. I cannot patronize a hospital which disagrees with my strong personal belief.

For almost five years I have counseled girls with problem pregnancies. What a difficult thing in a society that says get rid of your baby rather than giving birth to a child out-of-wedlock. What courage some girls have to stand against such a belief and give their child a chance at life.

I wish my doctors had such courage. If those against abortion would protest such a decision, perhaps it would not exist.

There are many strongly pro-life people in this community who would totally support those doctors.

Palatine

THE HERALD all but shouted Hooray from its front page story, that Northwest Community Hospital had decided to allow abortions, a decision purported to reflect the general feeling of the community the hospital serves. The Herald, in an editorial two weeks earlier, had purred with satisfaction that overpopulation problems were being met and solved by advances or progress in birth control and abortion.

Progress in abortion is nothing but progress in taking lives, and progress in taking lives is simply progress in killing. The decisions of the Supreme Court, Northwest Community Hospital, Lutheran General Hospital, and The Arlington Heights Herald cannot turn something intrinsically bad into something good, no matter how respectable it may be made to sound, nor how widespread its appeal.

Northwest Community Hospital has received much well-deserved praise in The Herald for its life-saving programs — now the hospital has decided to go the other way and take lives, and The Herald will applaud its progress.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schuler
Arlington Heights

(Editor's note: The hospital's decision was given prominent play because the editors felt it was a decision of major interest to its readers; mail reaction indicates that judgment was correct.)

Wagon train brings past into focus

There are sounds found nowhere else: the neighing and braying of horses and mules; a scent of leather and animals, the slap and musical ring of harnesses and fittings being strapped into place.

A LAST TUG AT a buckle or look at a problem wheel and the wagons formed a circle that would unwind down the road. The horses and riders, once again, became accustomed to one another for the long day ahead.

But it is different now and the police escort — red lights twirling — are a constant reminder. The police cars are an intrusion into the pilgrimage those making the entire trip to Valley Forge, Pa., suffer gladly.

Cars, motorcycles and children on bicycles are kept at a safe distance. The state troopers are protection from the motorist who is determined to drive through the train — we don't understand he is in a hurry and should stop for him?

The squad cars roll through Libertyville. Children, parents, old people and the business world's hookey-players stand on the shoulder to wave and cry hello. Wagoneers and riders wave back.

The eyes follow the procession intently, but the faces smile. more to come.

THE WAGONMASTER calls for a break on the edge of Libertyville. The horses are watered by the fire department and the people on the train are questioned by the townsfolk.

There is the Jim Jollo families from Blaine, Wash., near this branch of the train's starting point. His wagon is decorated with a painting of a lake bounded by a stand of firs.

"The Birch Bay, End of the Rainbow," the painting's caption reads, a reminder of why people went west in the first place.

The driver is Jim's 16-year-old son taking a year off from his formal education to ride the wagon train.

"It's a good experience for me, I think," young Jollo said. "My teachers think so, too. That's why I'm here."

The horses are watered and the caravan starts again.

LUNCH COMES IN a Vernon Hills apartment complex parking lot. Once again there are the crowds. Youngsters clap and cheer when the Illinois wagon rolls by.

"Hi, Mister," they shout, "Hi, Lady." They will wave until the last horse is gone.

Today

The wind, strong all day, gathers force after lunch. The experienced riders and wagoneers know what a "weather eye" means when you're caught in the open with no windows to roll up.

The rain comes repeatedly. The wind whips the horses into instinctive herd reactions of gathering in a cluster, haunches to the wind.

It is bad enough on the road between the Northwest suburbs and Grayslake, but thoughts turn to another time when the trip was not symbolic and the storm was serious business.

The wagons rolled onto the Arlington Park race track grounds and the Hersey High School band struck up a victory march. Horse shows and folksingers drew the crowds Wednesday night, but it was the people and wagons that mattered.

A new town would be added to the list on the side of "The Little Wagon East," with its motto, "All the Way." From Blaine, Wash., and Pendleton, Oreg., and Afton, Wyo. — destination Valley Forge, for that wagon and the others.

TODAY THE WAGONS will leave the track at 7:45 a.m. by Illinois Avenue west through Palatine and past Fremd High School. Then it will go south on Roselle Road through Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg toward Thursday's goal of the Du Page County Fair Grounds.

One day at a time, until all the wagons join at Valley Forge on July 4.

"Little Wagon East" and all the others — "All The Way," so that those long ago who had gone before would be remembered.

Home run derby duel tips Cubs, Palmer zips Sox

From Herald Wire Services

It was "a joke and a farce," winning pitcher Don Sutton grumbled.

"All I feel is remorse for the Cubs pitching staff that has to play 81 games here every year. They ought to put in a 3-and-1 rule for this park. Play three months and one month option and go someplace else. The Cubs have got to have the guttsiest staff in baseball."

Sutton's Los Angeles Dodgers won a 14-12 decision over the Chicago Cubs and the two teams combined to hit nine home runs, only two short of the major league record. The Dodgers had seven of the homers for a club record, bettering their previous mark of six established in the same park on Aug. 20, 1974.

The home runs, of course, were wind-aided in most cases. There was a 31 mile-per-hour gale blowing from home plate when the game began. At times, the gusts reached 50 miles an hour.

Henry Cruz hit two of the Dodgers' homers and batted in three runs, Ed Goodson hit a pinch homer to drive in three runs and Bill Buckner, Ron Cey, Bill Russell and Steve Yeager contributed one homer apiece.

The previous Dodger single game home record was six on Aug. 20, 1974, also in Chicago.

The Dodgers scored in each of the first eight innings and had a chance to become the seventh team in major league history, all in the National League, to score in every inning of a nine-inning game. But Paul Reuschel, the third Cub pitcher, put them down in order in the ninth.

Rick Monday was the Cubs' batting star, driving in six runs with a pair of three-run homers, while John Summers batted in four runs with three hits.

Sutton got his third win although he allowed 14 hits and seven runs in 5-2/3 innings while Ray Burris took his second loss, giving up nine of the Los Angeles runs on 11 hits in six innings.

The Cubs scored in six innings and the two teams tied a National League record for a nine-inning game by scoring in 14 half-innings. It was the third time since 1900 the 14-inning figure has been reached.

Arlington vs. Buffalo Grove

District tourneys begin today

Six area teams spring into action to inaugurate district baseball competition at four scattered sites Thursday afternoon.

Today's headliner is at Forest View, where the two teams currently battling it out for top honors in the Mid-Suburban's North Division will attempt to knock each other out of tournament competition. Another feature bout is at Hoffman Estates between a pair of 211 entries.

Action will also commence at Rolling Meadows and Highland Park Thursday, weather permitting, with local clubs involved in five districts on Saturday.

The Falcon gathering will see Buffalo Grove pitted against Arlington at 4:30 p.m. Schaumburg hooks up with Conant at the Hawk meet while the Mustangs tangle with Driscoll at Meadows and Wheeling collides with Deerfield at Highland Park. The latter three games all begin at 4 p.m.

Winners Thursday advance to semifinal double headers Saturday. Another district involving Prospect, will open at Glenbrook South Saturday and all five tournaments are scheduled to conclude next Monday.

In an abbreviated MSL slate Wednesday, Buffalo Grove moved within a game of loop-leading Arlington by clubbing Schaumburg 14-5 to head up the combat.

The Bison rapped out 13 hits, five for extra bases in a contest that was also highlighted — or rather lowlighted — by 12 miscues.

Each team put three runs on the board in the first inning and Buffalo Grove then broke the stalemate in the third with three more. Steve Chobanian sparked the rally with a two-run triple to left.

Chobanian went on to rap out three hits and scored three times. Other hitting heros for the visiting Bison were Mike Marshall with a three-for-three day, an RBI, a double and three runs scored, and Mike Ledna, who was two-for-four including a three-run homer and scored twice.

Schaumburg was headed up offensively by Mark Tomljanovich (two-for-four including a double and a run scored) and Bob Connell with two runs scored and two RBIs.

Phil Czosnyka went the distance on the hill for Buffalo Grove, notching his second win in as many outings. He whiffed eight and walked only three.

Connell, the first of three Saxon hurlers, absorbed the loss, evening his record at 2-2 while Schaumburg's team mark also dipped down to the .500 mark at 4-4.

SCORE BY INNINGS

Buffalo Grove ....303 052 1—14-13-6
Elk Grove ........300 020 0— 5- 7-6

PIRATES TOP MUSTANGS

Jeff Williams' disputed sacrifice fly to left drove in Paul Henkels with the winning run, propelling Palatine to a 4-3, eight-inning triumph over Rolling Meadows.

Henkels carried the clincher home

Nancy Lachus tossed the first no-hitter in Mid-Suburban League softball as Forest View defeated visiting Schaumburg Wednesday, 22-1.

Lachus struck out five, walked six and didn't allow a fly ball to the outfield in chalking up her third win against no losses.

Forest View provided their ace pitcher with all the runs she needed in the first inning, scoring three times on wild pitches and a walk with the bases loaded.

Lachus helped her own cause with a grand slam. She had five runs batted in for the day. Bonnie Rogosch was 2-for-2 and scored five runs. She also played well at shortstop, having five assists.

Nancy Lachus

Kim Smid had three RBI, and four runs scored with Sue Artemenko going 2-for-3 with two RBI.

Lachus lost her bid for her second season shutout in the second inning. She walked Michele Cavataio, who stole second, moved to third on an error and scored on a pickoff that misfired.

"When she (Lachus) had her control, she mowed them down pretty good," praised Al Beard, Forest View's coach.

Schaumburg ...........010 00— 1-0-6
Forest View ...........365 8x—22-8-2

Prospect jumped out to a 10-0 lead and cruised to a 13-5 victory over hosting Rolling Meadows.

Joanne Skeleton and LouAnn Sandstrom drove in three runs each for the winners. Peggy McEneely was 4-for-5 and Jeannine Hahn was 3-for-4 in WEATHER WORRIES. Gary Kraft, head baseball coach at Hoffman Estates, is hosting a district tournament this week . . . if the rains stay away. His team, one of the best in the area, will play Fremd Saturday morning if . . .

Palmer 2-hits Sox

From Herald Wire Services

BALTIMORE —Two unearned runs pushed across by the Orioles in the eighth inning beat the Whie Sox who fell victim to a two-hit whitewashing by pitcher Jim Palmer Wednesday night.

Palmer dueled Rich Gossage for eight innings. Gossage gave up only three hits going into the eighth, but then got in trouble when he gave up 8th inning singles to Paul Blair and Lee May. Then Reggie Jackson hit a ground ball to Brohamer, who went deep into the hole at second to get the Ball, then threw wide to first, the ball going back to the screen, allowing Blair to score.

Then pinch-hitter Tony Muser followed with a ground ball to Brohamer who forced Jackson at second but Tim Nordbrook, running for May, scored the second Baltimore run.

Pat Kelly led off with a single, then Palmer, the 1975 Cy Young Award winner, mowed down the next 11 White Sox he faced before walking Jim Spencer. Spencer was thrown out trying to steal and Palmer followed up by putting down the next nine White Sox in order before giving up another walk.

Ralph Garr got the second hit off Palmer, a single to left after two were out in the Sox ninth. But then Palmer got Jorge Orta to end the game.

Gossage gave up five hits, struck out 10 and walked three. Palmer struck out six and walked two en route to his fourth win of the year against three losses.

The Sox enjoy an off day today before opening a three game series in Detroit Friday night.

Debate continues over title fight

Paul Logan
Associate Sports Editor

What did you think of the Muhammad Ali-Jimmy Young fight? Most of the post-heavyweight championship responses from last Friday's fiasco fell into these categories:

1) It was exciting.
2) Young was robbed.
3) The fix was on.
4) Cosell made the show a total bore.
5) Ali was terrible.

If you picked No. 1 after viewing the ABC telecast, you're definitely in the minority. You're also a blind Ali fan.

For some, awaiting the judges' decision was the most exciting part. But to the avid fight fan, the winner wasn't really in doubt. As Ali pointed out afterward, "Now you know why the boxing law says a champion has to have his title taken away from him, and that the aggressor wins."

When an average fighter like Young was hiding outside the ropes (see picture) in almost every round, it had to detract from his otherwise brilliant 15-round survival against chubby Muhammad.

Answer No. 2 was the angle taken by several east coast writers, such as Dick Young of the New York Daily News:

"Ali won by the grace of three hero-worshipping fight officials . . . I believe many people, the voting officials among them, refuse to believe what they see when one of their superheroes doesn't function as expected."

Such a statement by the controversial as well as outspoken Mr. Young didn't surprise me. He always was anti-Ali.

The public's reaction was much more vocal.

"The second the decision was announced, the telephone operators tell me the switchboard lit up like a Christmas tree," said Roone Arledge, the president of ABC Sports.

Many of these callers agreed with answer No. 3. They swore the fight was fixed.

Although Washington, D.C. is famous for its fixes, this wasn't one of them. "The whole world was watching" on free TV. Referee Tom Kelly and judges Terry Moore and Larry Barrett had too much pressure on them to fix a heavyweight championship.

However, Kelly and Moore must have dozed off during several rounds or they never would have scored it 72-65 and 71-64, respectively, in favor of Ali. Barrett stayed awake and had a more realistic score — 70-68.

One Chicago columnist heaped some of the blame for the prizefight flop on Howard Cosell, who handled the blow-by-blow.

"Friday night, he failed as a play-by-play man because he did not pay enough attention to the action," said Bill Granger of the Sun-Times.

What action, Bill?

"After the fight, Cosell got to Ali briefly but no other ABC reporter was around to pick up Jimmy Young's postfight comments from the ring," added Granger.

That had me wondering, too. Frank Gifford was in the audience interviewing a celebrity prior to the main event. But where was the "Giffer" (as Cosell refers to him) when Howie could have used him? Possibly out drinking a Dry Sack on the rocks?

It wasn't one of Cosell's better performances. But his boss, Arledge, was partly at fault. There was a long boring delay between the preliminary fight and Ali's.

Sports fanatics probably turned to the NBA playoff game for some relief from all the commercials. There must have been twice as many commercials as rounds.

Point No. 5 was my answer to anybody that cared to ask. I have always been a fan of Ali. However, Friday night I thought he deserved to lose. He likes to be called the "People's Champion," but he certainly didn't put on a performance the television public could enjoy. His pugilistic style was pathetic because of his paunchy condition.

I found myself asking, "Why he was fighting so often this year?" (His May 24 match with Richard Dunn will be his third in five months.) And the answer kept coming up, "Because his manager, Herbert Muhammad, wants him to."

Some believe Ali is fighting so often this year to help the Black Muslim religious movement out of its financial problems. In the "old days," champions wouldn't go into the ring more than a couple times a year because of the heavy income taxes. That wouldn't come into play for Ali if he was giving large portions of his million dollar fights to charity — Muslim charity.

Unfortunately, possibly the greatest fighter of them all is too old to have his body in top shape for every one of these fights. So the public must put up with so-so performances several times before seeing a superb showing as the Ali-Joe Frazier matchup last fall.

Ali promises he'll be in better shape against Dunn, the European champ. After such an embarrassing showing, his fans hope so.

He used to say that after he retires the fight game will die. Many more travesties like last Friday and Ali will personally kill it off.

WHEN JIMMY YOUNG decided to hide outside the ropes in the title fight against Muhammad Ali, it detracted from an otherwise solid performance by the surprising young heavyweight.

JIM VARTANIAN of Forest View (left) is actually pulling away from Libertyville's Tom Tunnicliff as the two sprinters near the finish line in the 100-yard dash at Rolling Meadows. Vartanian clocked a wind-aided :09.9 and Dave Boursaw of Rolling Meadows (not pictured) was second with a :09.95. Tunnicliff, who came back to win the 22 in :22.0, was third in the 100 in :10.0.

Home run derby duel tips Cubs, Palmer zips Sox

From Herald Wire Services

It was "a joke and a farce," winning pitcher Don Sutton grumbled.

"All I feel is remorse for the Cubs pitching staff that has to play 81 games here every year. They ought to put in a 3-and-1 rule for this park. Play three months and one month option and go someplace else. The Cubs have got to have the guttsiest staff in baseball."

Sutton's Los Angeles Dodgers won a 14-12 decision over the Chicago Cubs and the two teams combined to hit nine home runs, only two short of the major league record. The Dodgers had seven of the homers for a club record, bettering their previous mark of six established in the same park on Aug. 20, 1974.

The home runs, of course, were wind-aided in most cases. There was a 31 mile-per-hour gale blowing from home plate when the game began. At times, the gusts reached 50 miles an hour.

Henry Cruz hit two of the Dodgers' homers and batted in three runs, Ed Goodson hit a pinch homer to drive in three runs and Bill Buckner, Ron Cey, Bill Russell and Steve Yeager contributed one homer apiece.

The previous Dodger single game home record was six on Aug. 20, 1974, also in Chicago.

The Dodgers scored in each of the first eight innings and had a chance to become the seventh team in major league history, all in the National League, to score in every inning of a nine-inning game. But Paul Reuschel, the third Cub pitcher, put them down in order in the ninth.

Rick Monday was the Cubs' batting star, driving in six runs with a pair of three-run homers, while John Summers batted in four runs with three hits.

Sutton got his third win although he allowed 14 hits and seven runs in 5-2/3 innings while Ray Burris took his second loss, giving up nine of the Los Angeles runs on 11 hits in six innings.

The Cubs scored in six innings and the two teams tied a National League record for a nine-inning game by scoring in 14 half-innings. It was the third time since 1900 the 14-inning figure has been reached.

Palmer 2-hits Sox

From Herald Wire Services

BALTIMORE —Two unearned runs pushed across by the Orioles in the eighth inning beat the Whie Sox who fell victim to a two-hit whitewashing by pitcher Jim Palmer Wednesday night.

Palmer dueled Rich Gossage for eight innings. Gossage gave up only three hits going into the eighth, but then got in trouble when he gave up 8th inning singles to Paul Blair and Lee May. Then Reggie Jackson hit a ground ball to Brohamer, who went deep into the hole at second to get the Ball, then threw wide to first, the ball going back to the screen, allowing Blair to score.

Then pinch-hitter Tony Muser followed with a ground ball to Brohamer who forced Jackson at second but Tim Nordbrook, running for May, scored the second Baltimore run.

Pat Kelly led off with a single, then Palmer, the 1975 Cy Young Award winner, mowed down the next 11 White Sox he faced before walking Jim Spencer. Spencer was thrown out trying to steal and Palmer followed up by putting down the next nine White Sox in order before giving up another walk.

Ralph Garr got the second hit off Palmer, a single to left after two were out in the Sox ninth. But then Palmer got Jorge Orta to end the game.

Gossage gave up five hits, struck out 10 and walked three. Palmer struck out six and walked two en route to his fourth win of the year against three losses.

The Sox enjoy an off day today before opening a three game series in Detroit Friday night.

Arlington vs. Buffalo Grove

District tourneys begin today

Six area teams spring into action to inaugurate district baseball competition at four scattered sites Thursday afternoon.

Today's headliner is at Forest View, where the two teams currently battling it out for top honors in the Mid-Suburban's North Division will attempt to knock each other out of tournament competition. Another feature bout is at Hoffman Estates between a pair of 211 entries.

Action will also commence at Rolling Meadows and Highland Park Thursday, weather permitting, with local clubs involved in five districts on Saturday.

The Falcon gathering will see Buffalo Grove pitted against Arlington at 4:30 p.m. Schaumburg hooks up with Conant at the Hawk meet while the Mustangs tangle with Driscoll at Meadows and Wheeling collides with Deerfield at Highland Park. The latter three games all begin at 4 p.m.

Winners Thursday advance to semifinal double headers Saturday. Another district involving Prospect, will open at Glenbrook South Saturday and all five tournaments are scheduled to conclude next Monday.

In an abbreviated MSL slate Wednesday, Buffalo Grove moved within a game of loop-leading Arlington by clubbing Schaumburg 14-5 to head up the combat.

The Bison rapped out 13 hits, five for extra bases in a contest that was also highlighted — or rather lowlighted — by 12 miscues.

Each team put three runs on the board in the first inning and Buffalo Grove then broke the stalemate in the third with three more. Steve Chobanian sparked the rally with a two-run triple to left.

Chobanian went on to rap out three hits and scored three times. Other hitting heros for the visiting Bison were Mike Marshall with a three-for-three day, an RBI, a double and three runs scored, and Mike Ledna, who was two-for-four including a three-run homer and scored twice.

Schaumburg was headed up offensively by Mark Tomljanovich (two-for-four including a double and a run scored) and Bob Connell with two runs scored and two RBIs.

Phil Czosnyka went the distance on the hill for Buffalo Grove, notching his second win in as many outings. He whiffed eight and walked only three.

Connell, the first of three Saxon hurlers, absorbed the loss, evening his record at 2-2 while Schaumburg's team mark also dipped down to the .500 mark at 4-4.

Nancy Lachus hurls gem!

Nancy Lachus tossed the first no-hitter in Mid-Suburban League softball as Forest View defeated visiting Schaumburg Wednesday, 22-1.

Lachus struck out five, walked six and didn't allow a fly ball to the outfield in chalking up her third win against no losses.

Forest View provided their ace pitcher with all the runs she needed in the first inning, scoring three times on wild pitches and a walk with the bases loaded.

Nancy Lachus

Lachus helped her own cause with a grand slam. She had five runs batted in for the day. Bonnie Rogosch was 2-for-2 and scored five runs. She also played well at shortstop, having five assists.

Kim Smid had three RBI, and four runs scored with Sue Artemenko going 2-for-3 with two RBI.

Lachus lost her bid for her second season shutout in the second inning. She walked Michele Cavataio, who stole second, moved to third on an error and scored on a pickoff that misfired.

"When she (Lachus) had her control, she mowed them down pretty good," praised Al Beard, Forest View's coach.

Debate continues over title fight

Paul Logan

Associate Sports Editor

What did you think of the Muhammad Ali-Jimmy Young fight? Most of the post-heavyweight championship responses from last Friday's fiasco fell into these categories:

1) It was exciting.
2) Young was robbed.
3) The fix was on.
4) Cosell made the show a total bore.
5) Ali was terrible.

If you picked No. 1 after viewing the ABC telecast, you're definitely in the minority. You're also a blind Ali fan.

For some, awaiting the judges' decision was the most exciting part. But to the avid fight fan, the winner wasn't really in doubt. As Ali pointed out afterward, "Now you know why the boxing law says a champion has to have his title taken away from him, and that the aggressor wins."

When an average fighter like Young was hiding outside the ropes (see picture) in almost every round, it had to detract from his otherwise brilliant 15-round survival against chubby Muhammad.

Answer No. 2 was the angle taken by several east coast writers, such as Dick Young of the New York Daily News:

CLEVELAND CAVALIERS' center Jim Chones, his right foot in a cast, will miss the best-of-seven Eastern Conference playoff series with Boston.

Cavs lose Chones for Boston series

The Cleveland Cavaliers will be without starting center Jim Chones for the entire NBA Eastern Conference playoff series against the Boston Celtics, it was announced Wednesday. X-rays showed Chones, injured in practice Tuesday, suffered a broken little toe in his right foot. He broke the same bone in 1975 and had his foot placed in a cast.

"He's out, it's as simple as that," said coach Bill Fitch, who led the Cavs past Washington in a seven-game averaged 15 points and seven rebounds per game against the Bullets.

When the series gets underway Thursday night at Boston Garden, Chones will be replaced either by veteran reserve Nate Thurmond or forward Jim Brewer, who is the same size as Boston's 6-foot-9 center, Dave Cowens. The Cavs also could start little used backup Luke Witte.

Notre Dame High School in Niles, Ill., was ranked as the seventh top high school hockey team in the nation, according to a prep National Sports News Service. The Dons were rated behind Hamden, Conn., Grand Rapids, Minn., Messena, N.Y., Winthrop, Mass., Red River High in Grand Forks, N.D. and Memorial High of Madison, Wis.

In other surveys, Dunbar High of Washington, D.C., was tabbed the country's best high school team and Bradley County High School of Cleveland, Tenn., as the champion high school girls' basketball team for the second year in a row.

Buckner's status scalps Redskins

The Washington Redskins have apparently wasted their No. 8 and No. 14 selections in the recent college draft because the players — Bryan Fryer of Alberta University and Quinn Buckner of Indiana — have collegiate eligibility left.

A National Football League spokesman said Wednesday that Buckner, a defensive back who also starred in basketball for the NCAA champion Hoosiers, and Fryer, a wide receiver, will be subject to a supplemental draft. The "minidraft," usually involving a dozen or so players, will be held in June.

Buckner and Fryer could still play NFL football in 1976, if they graduate. But the two expansion clubs — Seattle and Tampa Bay — and other clubs would have a chance at them before the Redskins.

Warriors rip Maine South

The Maine West Warriors erupted for seven runs in the first inning and pitcher Rob Earhart flirted with a no-hitter for 5 2/3 innings as West triumphed over Maine South, 8-1 Wednesday.

Earhart had control problems early, giving up a run in the first inning on three walks and a hit batsman, but wasn't touched for a hit until after he had struck out the first two batters in the sixth inning. The lefty gave up only one hit, while striking out eight and walking five.

Maine West sent 11 men to the plate in the first, scoring seven runs on seven hits. Rob Earhart, Rick Sandri, Dean Carpenter, Wayne Wishnew and Matt Serna all drove in a run apiece as each singled.

Two more runs came across in the first for Maine West when Doug Unzicker hit a ground ball to first baseman Gaydon Brandt with the bases loaded. Brandt went for the force at home and threw the ball away, allowing two runs to score.

The Warriors got another run in the second inning after the first two batters went out. Tim Platek and Sandri hit back-to-back singles to put runners at first and third. Platek then scored on the front end of a double steal.

The Warriors enter district competition Saturday when they meet Fenton at 10 a.m. in the Rolling Meadows District.

The Warriors still lead the Central Suburban League south division with a 7-2 mark and are 10-3 overall.

Harper leads suspended game, 12-11

Harper's second round sectional baseball game with Mayfair was suspended because of darkness after six innings with the Hawks holding a 12-11 lead.

The final three innings will be finished today beginning at 1 p.m. at Triton Junior College.

Gary Oslance smacked a grand slam home run and a two-run single to key the Hawks as they battled the tough Mayfair club.

Harper scored three runs in the first inning with Dave Patterson driving one home with a single.

Patterson opened Harper's five-run fifth inning with a walk then was forced at second on Tom Good's fielder's choice.

Howie Brauer then walked and Dave Mnichowicz reached on an error to load the bases for Oslance's home run.

The inning continued with Pete Pavich singling and going to second on a wild pitch.

Steve Raccuigla's single drove him home.

Oslance picked up two more RBIs in the sixth inning when Good singled and Brauer and Mnichowicz reached base on back to back errors by the shortstop.

With the bases loaded Oslance punched out a single to score Good and Brauer.

Warriors rip Maine South

The Maine West Warriors erupted for seven runs in the first inning and pitcher Rob Earhart flirted with a no-hitter for 5 2/3 innings as West triumphed over Maine South, 8-1 Wednesday.

Earhart had control problems early, giving up a run in the first inning on three walks and a hit batsman, but wasn't touched for a hit until after he had struck out the first two batters in the sixth inning. The lefty gave up only one hit, while striking out eight and walking five.

Maine West sent 11 men to the plate in the first, scoring seven runs on seven hits. Rob Earhart, Rick Sandri, Dean Carpenter, Wayne Wishnew and Matt Serna all drove in a run apiece as each singled.

Two more runs came across in the first for Maine West when Doug Unzicker hit a ground ball to first baseman Gaydon Brandt with the bases loaded. Brandt went for the force at home and threw the ball away, allowing two runs to score.

The Warriors got another run in the second inning after the first two batters went out. Tim Platek and Sandri hit back-to-back singles to put runners at first and third. Platek then scored on the front end of a double steal.

The Warriors enter district competition Saturday when they meet Fenton at 10 a.m. in the Rolling Meadows District.

The Warriors still lead the Central Suburban League south division with a 7-2 mark and are 10-3 overall.

FREMD LEFTY strikeout artist Matt Fox prepares to fire his fastball during a recent game. Fox also plays first base. He allowed only four hits and fanned 10 Tuesday in a 10-2 conquest of Elk Grove.

Harper leads suspended game, 12-11

Harper's second round sectional baseball game with Mayfair was suspended because of darkness after six innings with the Hawks holding a 12-11 lead.

The final three innings will be finished today beginning at 1 p.m. at Triton Junior College.

Gary Oslance smacked a grand slam home run and a two-run single to key the Hawks as they battled the tough Mayfair club.

Harper scored three runs in the first inning with Dave Patterson driving one home with a single.

Patterson opened Harper's five-run fifth inning with a walk then was forced at second on Tom Good's fielder's choice.

Howie Brauer then walked and Dave Mnichowicz reached on an error to load the bases for Oslance's home run.

The inning continued with Pete Pavich singling and going to second on a wild pitch.

Steve Raccuigla's single drove him home.

Oslance picked up two more RBIs in the sixth inning when Good singled and Brauer and Mnichowicz reached base on back to back errors by the shortstop.

With the bases loaded Oslance punched out a single to score Good and Brauer.

After another single by Pavich, Luquet singled to score pinch runner Scott Green.

Palatine Celtic

BOYS

BEGINNERS

Sharks 3, Marlins 1

Shark Matt May pulled off a hat trick, Eric Juhl and Jim McDonald played a fine game, and David Zeiger starred on defense. Marlin stars were Mike Williams and Mike Nix.

JUNIORS

Alley Cats 4, Pumas 2

A great performance by all the Cats, and goals by Bruce Peterson (2), Larry Kast, and Tom Dahlborn bought them a win over the Pumas, whose scorers were Tim Castello and Sean Malloy, and whose outstanding players were Cam Williams and goalie Jim Shellander.

Panthers 4, Bobcats 1

Bobcat Paul Haddock had a good day with one score and a coach's commendation — which also went to Doug Hipwell and Pat Diamond. But it was still a Panther victory as Dan Schuman made a hat trick, Scott Padgett a single, Tom Sauer and Billy Hibner assists, and Bob LeFevre, Mark Williams and Chris Strzalka did some fancy work on defense.

Tigers 4, Cheetahs 1

The undefeated Tigers scored on a hat trick by Steve Pejchl and a single by Tim Updike, and roared with defensive power Phillip, John and Mike Nordlander. by goalie Mike Donahue and fullbacks backs Phillip John and Mike Nordlander. The Cheetah goal was by Todd Bleecker.

Jaguars 2 Lions 0

Good hustle by all the Lions couldn't stop the unbeaten Jaguars who won on tallies by Bruce McDaniel and Mark Anderson, a corner kick that resulted in a goal by Jimmy Bock, hard work by Ken Magee, and a shutout by goalies Sam Kraus and John Burke.

Cougars 2, Wildcats 0

Good ball control by Wildcats Matt Biebel and Chad Brewer was not enough to get past the Cougars' shutout goalie, Mike Hibner, nor to stop Pat Brodnan and Craig Hartman from scoring.

SENIORS

Rams 5, Gazelles 4

Only nine Gazelles played, but doubles by Lars Bergstrom and Greg Norys, strong output by forwards Jon Glass, Bill May, and Bergstrom almost won the day. But, at the final whistle, the Rams won on goals by Jim Reed (2), Bryan Bell, Jay Babler, and Keith LaMasse.

GIRLS

Jeans 1, Jolly Green Giants 0

A loss, but still a great game for the Giants as Annette Jackowski played very well in her first outing in the nets, and Sonja Poppler and Mary Maloney also showed fine form. Nancy Krautter scored for the Jeans. Kathy Loren played well, Nancy Repplinger proved herself to be a strong kicker, and Goalie Diane Shapata earned a shutout.

INTERMEDIATES

Red Barons 5, Skylarks 0

Saturday was a field day for the Barons, whose leading players were scorers Kelly Lyng (2), Vicky Swanson (2), and Sheryl Polachek; Katie Sevy with an assist; shutout goalie Peggy McGuire and defenders Mary Carlson and Rachelle Hartman.

Flaming Tigers 1, Green Machine 0

Good defense by Susan Peri, Heidi Campbell, Denise Andre, and Jodi Hummel allowed only one Tiger goal; that one by Colleen Patten on assists by Carol Thielen and Colleen Molohon. The Tiger defensive champions, Angie Koutas, Leslie Miller, and goalie Vanessa Hadley allowed no goals.

Golden Eagles 4, Royal Runners 3

A tight game all the way with super play by all the Eagles, two goals each by Nancy Shellander (assisted by Cindy Chope and Diane Sullivan) and Kelly Cernok (assisted by Marilee Richards and Shellander), and close net tending by Maria Breen. Runner stars were Karen Groth with two goals, Danielle LeFevre with one, and teammates Amy Simons, Dawn Dzikonski, and Beth Tierney.

SENIORS

76'ers 0, Golden Eagles 0

The weekend's only tie was played by the 76'ers (fine defense by Rose Vitucci and shutout goalkeeper Shawn Rojas) and the Golden Eagles (good play by right inside Robyn Scannell, defender Karen Kearns, and shutout goalies Kitty Naughton and Kearns).

Grasshoppers 3, Orange Blossoms 0

Joan Campagnolo, with the help of goalie JoAnne Polizzi, led a squad of only eight to their best game of the season. But the Grasshoppers took the win on goals by Lauree Small, Lisa Moore, and Patty Melberg, and a shutout performance by Jo Barrett and Cindy Kist.

TRAVELING TEAMS

Bumblebees 11, Hoffman Estates 0

Palatine scores by Lori Hogan (5), Mary Jo Incavo (2), Jennifer Wilson, Cathy Cernok, Sue Chernesky, and Nancy White. Shutout goalies; Jennifer Wilson and Michelle Repplinger.

Streakers 1, Hoffman Estates 1

Palatine goal by Cathy Maher.

Sun Devils 0, Hoffman Estates 0

Palatine goalie; Laura Coska.

Suburban Sport Celtic 6, H.F. United 2

Celtic goals by Charlie Marsland (2), Andy Deutschmann (2), Rick Puls, and John Chope.

Celtic Midgets 3, Real F.C. 2

Celtic goals by David Graveline (assisted by Rich Drozd), Bill Murphy (assisted by Graveline) and Mike Hogan (assisted by Steve Mick).

Celtic Midgets 17, Vikings 1

Celtic goals by Rick Ruzbasan (4), Ronnie Reiter (4), Mike Hogan (3), David Graveline (3), John McDaniel (2), and Brian Reed.

Palatine Celtic

BOYS

BEGINNERS

Sharks 3, Marlins 1

Shark Matt May pulled off a hat trick, Eric Juhl and Jim McDonald played a fine game, and David Zeiger starred on defense. Marlin stars were Mike Williams and Mike Nix.

JUNIORS

Alley Cats 4, Pumas 2

A great performance by all the Cats, and goals by Bruce Peterson (2), Larry Kast, and Tom Dahlborn bought them a win over the Pumas, whose scorers were Tim Castello and Sean Malloy, and whose outstanding players were Cam Williams and goalie Jim Shellander.

Panthers 4, Bobcats 1

Bobcat Paul Haddock had a good day with one score and a coach's commendation — which also went to Doug Hipwell and Pat Diamond. But it was still a Panther victory as Dan Schuman made a hat trick, Scott Padgett a single, Tom Sauer and Billy Hibner assists, and Bob LeFevre, Mark Williams and Chris Strzalka did some fancy work on defense.

Tigers 4, Cheetahs 1

The undefeated Tigers scored on a hat trick by Steve Pejchl and a single by Tim Updike, and roared with defensive power Phillip, John and Mike Nordlander. by goalie Mike Donahue and fullbacks backs Phillip John and Mike Nordlander. The Cheetah goal was by Todd Bleecker.

Jaguars 2 Lions 0

Good hustle by all the Lions couldn't stop the unbeaten Jaguars who won on tallies by Bruce McDaniel and Mark Anderson, a corner kick that resulted in a goal by Jimmy Bock, hard work by Ken Magee, and a shutout by goalies Sam Kraus and John Burke.

Cougars 2, Wildcats 0

Good ball control by Wildcats Matt Biebel and Chad Brewer was not enough to get past the Cougars' shutout goalie, Mike Hibner, nor to stop Pat Brodnan and Craig Hartman from scoring.

SENIORS

Rams 5, Gazelles 4

Only nine Gazelles played, but doubles by Lars Bergstrom and Greg Norys, strong output by forwards Jon Glass, Bill May, and Bergstrom almost won the day. But, at the final whistle, the Rams won on goals by Jim Reed (2), Bryan Bell, Jay Babler, and Keith LaMasse.

GIRLS

Jeans 1, Jolly Green Giants 0

A loss, but still a great game for the Giants as Annette Jackowski played very well in her first outing in the nets, and Sonja Poppler and Mary Maloney also showed fine form. Nancy Krautter scored for the Jeans. Kathy Loren played well, Nancy Repplinger proved herself to be a strong kicker, and Goalie Diane Shapata earned a shutout.

INTERMEDIATES

Red Barons 5, Skylarks 0

Saturday was a field day for the Barons, whose leading players were scorers Kelly Lyng (2), Vicky Swanson (2), and Sheryl Polachek; Katie Sevy with an assist; shutout goalie Peggy McGuire and defenders Mary Carlson and Rachelle Hartman.

Flaming Tigers 1, Green Machine 0

Good defense by Susan Peri, Heidi Campbell, Denise Andre, and Jodi Hummel allowed only one Tiger goal; that one by Colleen Patten on assists by Carol Thielen and Colleen Molohon. The Tiger defensive champions, Angie Koutas, Leslie Miller, and goalie Vanessa Hadley allowed no goals.

Golden Eagles 4, Royal Runners 3

A tight game all the way with super play by all the Eagles, two goals each by Nancy Shellander (assisted by Cindy Chope and Diane Sullivan) and Kelly Cernok (assisted by Marilee Richards and Shellander), and close net tending by Maria Breen. Runner stars were Karen Groth with two goals, Danielle LeFevre with one, and teammates Amy Simons, Dawn Dzikonski, and Beth Tierney.

SENIORS

76'ers 0, Golden Eagles 0

The weekend's only tie was played by the 76'ers (fine defense by Rose Vitucci and shutout goalkeeper Shawn Rojas) and the Golden Eagles (good play by right inside Robyn Scannell, defender Karen Kearns, and shutout goalies Kitty Naughton and Kearns).

Grasshoppers 3, Orange Blossoms 0

Joan Campagnolo, with the help of goalie JoAnne Polizzi, led a squad of only eight to their best game of the season. But the Grasshoppers took the win on goals by Lauree Small, Lisa Moore, and Patty Melberg, and a shutout performance by Jo Barrett and Cindy Kist.

TRAVELING TEAMS

Bumblebees 11, Hoffman Estates 0

Palatine scores by Lori Hogan (5), Mary Jo Incavo (2), Jennifer Wilson, Cathy Cernok, Sue Chernesky, and Nancy White. Shutout goalies; Jennifer Wilson and Michelle Repplinger.

Streakers 1, Hoffman Estates 1

Palatine goal by Cathy Maher.

Sun Devils 0, Hoffman Estates 0

Palatine goalie; Laura Coska.

VFW Monday Night

Premier Electric took over first place in the V.F.W. Golf League Monday night by trouncing Fetke Insurance, 23-1 while Kehe, Foy and Snelton Insurance hung on to second place and Kolman Plumbing nailed third. Bill Anderson birdied No. 7 with a 20-foot chip shot while other birds were recorded by Ray Dwyer on the third, Jack Nebel on the fourth, John Kehe and Ed Wells on the 10th, Harold Koelling on the 11th, Jim Ambrose and Darryl Burkett on the 12th.

Low gross honors were shared by Burkett, Tom Johann and Bruce Williams, all shooting a five-over-par 39 on the back nine while Anderson fired 46-16—30 to capture low net.

Premier Electric's 39 points are followed by Kehe, Foy & Snelten's 37, Kolman Plumbing's 32, L'Nor Cleaners' 30, Nebel Insurance's 29, Lorens Plumbing's 27, Douglas Savings' 25, Open Pantry's 21, Kehe Motors' 17, Smith-Pipenhagen Realtors' 13, Cake Box's 10 and Fetke Insurance's 8.

an eyelash ahead of Mustang catcher Jim Broderick's tag via a relay from Dennis Drolet to shortstop Paul Marsillo.

The run broke up a tremendous pitching duel between winner Kevin McKenna and Mustang John Igrasek, both of whom toiled the distance.

Meadows scratched ahead when Marsillo doubled, stole third and tallied on an error in the first and made it 2-0 in the third on Guy Tenuta's single, a stolen base and a nifty double steal that found him scoring on a delay.

Palatine bunched three runs in the fourth on a walk, successive singles by Dan McSweeney, Bill Odell and Jeff Williams and two Mustang errors. Meadows earned the deadlocking run when Drolet scored on the back end of another double steal.

McKenna walked two and fanned nine while Ingrasek walked five and whiffed 11.

VIKES DOWN FOREST VIEW

Kerry Field powered a home run over the left field fence to break a 3-3 deadlock and Fremd went on to trim visiting Forest View Wednesday, 5-3.

Field came up with his solo shot in the fifth frame after the Vikings had battled back from a 3-0 deficit to knot the game in the bottom of the third. Meanwhile Steve Peters went the route on the mound for the hosts to notch his third win in four verdicts.

The Falcons, now 3-5 in the MSL, hit the scoreboard initially in the top of the third. Walks to Bill Simon, Tom Lunak and Jim Petran loaded the sacks and Larry Dahl slapped a double to bring two of the runners in.

A sacrifice fly by Ron Turner accounted for the other Forest View run.

Fremd retaliated in similar fashion with Matt Fox, Field and Carl DePaolis drawing bases on balls. An error and a sacrifice fly by Peters sandwiched among the walks produced one run and Dale Hallberg's single chased in two more.

After Field homered in the fifth, Peters and Ron Leahy walked and Peters came around with the final tally on a passed ball and wild pitch.

'CATS CLAW COUGARS

Wheeling erupted for three circuit shots in the late innings and went on to scuttle visiting Conant Wednesday, 7-1.

Glenn Barry went the distance on the mound for the Wildcats, fashioning a three hitter while fanning four to record his first victory of the campaign. His teammates waited until the fifth frame however to provide him much support.

The contest was 1-1 going into the fifth. Barry had scored the lone Wheeling run himself on a first inning single with a two-base error tacked on and a sacrifice fly by Rick Heredia.

The Cougar score came in the second on back-to-back doubles by Dan Neswold and Scott Schaefer after Jeff Johnson had walked.

In the fifth it was Barry again initiating the rally. After his single John Miller lined a homer over the left center field fence. Bob Terreberry then singled and Bucky Black drove another shot out of the park, again to left center.

Rick Reese led off the sixth with a towering homer to left. Singles by Heredia and Terreberry pushed Barry across for the third time to cap scoring.

The win evened the 'Cat slate up at 4-4 and left Conant owning a 1-7 ledger.

HUSKIES WAIL GRENS

Hersey junior Todd Walker fired a five-hitter and struck out eight Elk Grove batters as the Huskies slugged their way to an 11-3 victory, their fifth win in seven MSL decisions.

Elk Grove had taken a 2-0 lead in the top of the first on singles by Joe Woelfel and Tony Kees, a sacrifice fly by Bill Strybel, and a ground out by Bob Ray. But after the Grens scored an unearned run in the second, Walker settled down and yielded just two hits the rest of the way to pick up his third win of the season against no losses.

Hersey sent across three runs in the first inning and scored twice more in the second to take a 5-3 lead. The rally was sparked by an error and a single by Brian Hastings. The go-ahead runs came home on a pair of bases-loaded walks.

The Huskies picked up another run in the third and scored five insurance runs in the sixth. Bob Hart singled and came home on a triple by Steve Giannini. A sacrifice fly by Hastings and a triple by Bobby Frye preceded RBI singles by Joe Pusatera and Mark Knuttel.

Soccer needs television to boost interest

WASHINGTON (UPI)- — North American Soccer League Commissioner Phil Woosnam predicts that soccer interest in the United States could "explode" in the next decade, but only if television is willing.

"If we're lucky, it'll only take half a decade," said Woosnam, who is also a vice president of the U.S. Soccer Federation, which oversees all soccer in the country. "It all comes down to TV involvement.

"Right now, we're where pro football was in 1963-64. We're at the Joe Namath time. Three years after he got there, they had big crowds, the Super Bowl, everything. It happens very quickly when it happens."

Woosnam, in Washington to promote the May 23 Team America-Italy game in the American Bicentennial Soccer Cup series, said he thinks that all three commercial networks are aware of soccer, which flopped when CBS-TV carried a package in the Mid-1960s.

"But everybody's got their own strategy now. We know the attitudes of the three networks," he said.

Woosnam pointed out that a recent telecast of a New York Cosmos game in New York on an independent station outdrew the offerings of the three networks, beating a National Basketball Association playoff game by a 3-1 margin.

"There are no barriers left for us to break down," he said. "This is the most exciting sports challenge in the world right now. Pete Rozelle and the NFL had it in the 1960s, now we have it."

Woosnam said the six Bicentennial Cup games (others in Seattle, New York, Philadelphia, New Haven and Los Angeles) will be telecast worldwide and that "all of them will be watched by more people than watched the Super Bowl." He said some closed circuit television might be arranged domestically, but that no plans are currently in the works for home television.

All profits from the six-game round-robin series will go to soccer programs in the United States through the U. S. Soccer Federation.

Regional racquetball tournament to open Friday at Court House

The Central U.S. Regional Racquetball Tournament will be hosted this weekend at the Court House in Arlington Heights, where players from a 13 state area will compete in eight divisions or play.

The winners in the prestigious men's open singles and women's open singles brackets will be awarded a round trip ticket to the U.S. Racquetball Association National Championships in San Diego June 13-19.

The event will feature the top men and women amateurs in the Greater Midwest including three top notch competitors from St. Louis, — Rudi Losche, the top seeded player, Ben Koltun, the current National Juniors Champion at age 17, and former pro Ken Wong. Milaukee's Joe Wirkus, the Wisconsin State Champ will add more fuel to this impressive list along with Michigan's top two players, — Grand Rapids' Gordon Kelly and Lansing's Bill Gottlieb.

The women's favorite is Indianapolis' Camille McCarthy.

"It looks like we're going to have some tremendous action," said Brian Bennett, the manager of The Court House and tournament chairman. "These players would like very much to win that trip to San Diego."

Other brackets of play include seniors singles and doubles, masters singles and doubles, golden masters singles, open doubles and juniors singles.

"We're looking at the best players in the midwest, outside of one of two professionals," said Fred Blaess, president of the Illinois Racquetball Association. "These will be the professional stars of tomorrow."

Tournament play begins Friday at 2 p.m. The Courts, House, an eight court club, is at 106 E. College Dr., Arlington Heights. Admission is free.

Soccer needs television to boost interest

WASHINGTON (UPI)- — North American Soccer League Commissioner Phil Woosnam predicts that soccer interest in the United States could "explode" in the next decade, but only if television is willing.

"If we're lucky, it'll only take half a decade," said Woosnam, who is also a vice president of the U.S. Soccer Federation, which oversees all soccer in the country. "It all comes down to TV involvement.

"Right now, we're where pro football was in 1963-64. We're at the Joe Namath time. Three years after he got there, they had big crowds, the Super Bowl, everything. It happens very quickly when it happens."

Woosnam, in Washington to promote the May 23 Team America-Italy game in the American Bicentennial Soccer Cup series, said he thinks that all three commercial networks are aware of soccer, which flopped when CBS-TV carried a package in the Mid-1960s.

"But everybody's got their own strategy now. We know the attitudes of the three networks," he said.

Woosnam pointed out that a recent telecast of a New York Cosmos game in New York on an independent station outdrew the offerings of the three networks, beating a National Basketball Association playoff game by a 3-1 margin.

"There are no barriers left for us to break down," he said. "This is the most exciting sports challenge in the world right now. Pete Rozelle and the NFL had it in the 1960s, now we have it."

Hospitals mark their week with special programs

Three Northwest suburban hospitals have planned public programs to mark National Hospital Week May 9-15.

The cafeteria of Alexian Brothers Medical Center, 800 W. Biesterfield Rd., Elk Grove Village, will be the stage for a production of "Lady on the Rocks" at 8 p.m. May 13.

The play, cosponsored by the hospital's alcoholic treatment unit and the Elk Grove Jaycees, tells the story of a family's painful recognition of a mother's alcoholism and the effect it has on her life, her work and her family.

A DISCUSSION period following the play will be led by counselors of Alexian Brothers' alcoholic treatment unit.

"Healthy Birthday America" is the 1976 theme for national hospital week. Because alcoholism ranks third in the nation as a cause of death, Alexian Brothers officials decided a presentation of "Lady on the Rocks" would be a way of telling the public: "Do something for national hospital week. Take care of yourself," a hospital spokesman said.

Holy Family Hospital, 100 N. River Rd., Des Plaines, is offering free hypertension screening tests from 1-3 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Monday in the hospital's new outpatient department.

To receive tests, persons are asked to enter the hospital through the emergency entrance.

Lutheran General Hospital, 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge, will offer individual instruction in two life-saving techniques — cardiopulmonary resuscitation and the Heimlich technique of rescuing someone choking on food.

DEBORAH BUCKLEY, emergency medical systems coordinator at Lutheran General and representatives from 10 area fire departments will conduct the training sessions.

The program will start at 6 p.m. on Tuesday and May 13 and will be repeated hourly until 10 p.m. in the 10th floor east dining room at the hospital.

The events at the three hospitals are free and open to the public.

In addition to public-service programs, hospitals traditionally use national hospital week to honor employes with special awards.

At Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, the week will be marked with the opening of a new intensive care unit May 16.

Hospitals mark their week with special programs

Three Northwest suburban hospitals have planned public programs to mark National Hospital Week May 9-15.

The cafeteria of Alexian Brothers Medical Center, 800 W. Biesterfield Rd., Elk Grove Village, will be the stage for a production of "Lady on the Rocks" at 8 p.m. May 13.

The play, cosponsored by the hospital's alcoholic treatment unit and the Elk Grove Jaycees, tells the story of a family's painful recognition of a mother's alcoholism and the effect it has on her life, her work and her family.

A DISCUSSION period following the play will be led by counselors of Alexian Brothers' alcoholic treatment unit.

"Healthy Birthday America" is the 1976 theme for national hospital week. Because alcoholism ranks third in the nation as a cause of death, Alexian Brothers officials decided a presentation of "Lady on the Rocks" would be a way of telling the public: "Do something for national hospital week. Take care of yourself," a hospital spokesman said.

Holy Family Hospital, 100 N. River Rd., Des Plaines, is offering free hypertension screening tests from 1-3 p.m. and 7-9 p.m. Monday in the hospital's new outpatient department.

To receive tests, persons are asked to enter the hospital through the emergency entrance.

Lutheran General Hospital, 1775 Dempster St., Park Ridge, will offer individual instruction in two life-saving techniques — cardiopulmonary resuscitation and the Heimlich technique of rescuing someone choking on food.

DEBORAH BUCKLEY, emergency medical systems coordinator at Lutheran General and representatives from 10 area fire departments will conduct the training sessions.

The program will start at 6 p.m. on Tuesday and May 13 and will be repeated hourly until 10 p.m. in the 10th floor east dining room at the hospital.

The events at the three hospitals are free and open to the public.

In addition to public-service programs, hospitals traditionally use national hospital week to honor employes with special awards.

At Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, the week will be marked with the opening of a new intensive care unit May 16.

Modest suburb hike: expert

Low-income housing gains seen

A recent U.S. Supreme Court decision that permits court-ordered public housing in the suburbs will result in only a modest increase in suburban low-income housing, the director of the Leadership Council for Metropolitan Open Communities said Wednesday.

Rental subsidies in existing and newly constructed private housing will continue to be the major form of housing assistance for low-income families, said Kale Williams, Leadership Council director.

The Supreme Court's decision can be expected "to increase modestly the use of such program outside the City of Chicago," a Leadership Council report concludes.

Funds for public housing are limited and any new construction is almost certain to be of the low-rise scattered site character, he said.

"Suburban leaders have known for some time the direction the courts were taking and had begun to plan to meet the housing needs of their own citizens plus a part of the need of the total region," Williams said.

THE LEADERSHIP Council, a nonprofit citizens organization created to end housing discrimination, is the parent organization for the Metropolitan Housing Development Corp., which is trying to build 190 low-income townhouses next to St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights.

The Supreme Court is scheduled to hear arguments to rezoning the Viatorian property this fall.

In a decision last month, the court, in Gautreauz v. Hills, ruled unanimously that the U.S. District Court can order an area-wide low-income housing plan to alleviate segregation caused by the concentration of public housing in the city.

Despite the court's decision, Williams said voluntary plans for low-income housing in the suburbs will be more important than a possible court-ordered plan.

"We anticipate that this voluntary response will continue to be the most effective way of meeting housing needs, including those now defined in the Supreme Court decision," he said.

Bell chief asks support of consumer reform act

Illinois Bell Telephone Co. president James E. Olson Monday night urged American Telephone and Telegraph Co. share owners to support the Consumer Communications Reform Act of 1976.

Speaking at a "mini annual meeting" in Skokie for AT&T stockholders, Olson said, "This is an industry bill and a consumer bill. It has the backing of the independent telephone companies, state regulators and our citizens in rural areas."

The legislation, introduced by U.S. Rep. Edward Derwinski, R-Flossmoor and U.S. Rep. George Shipley, D-Olney, reaffirms the traditional structure of the telephone industry as a regulated monopoly. Recent Federal Communications Commission decisions have changed the structure by introducing selective competition, Olson said.

The Skokie meeting was one of seven similar sessions hosted by AT&T affiliates. The AT&T formal shareholder meeting was April 21 in Philadelphia.

Richard Wiley, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, recently criticized the AT&T attack on commission policies. The proposed Consumer Communications Reform Act would put competitors out of business, he said.

Pioneer S&L, Hoyne merge

Pioneer Savings and Loan Assn. of Wheeling merged May 1 with Hoyne Savings and Loan of Chicago.

In a joint announcement, president Earl Weber of Hoyne Savings and Loan and vice president Ervin Wiemann of Pioneer Savings and Loan said they received permission from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Illinois Commissioner of Savings and Loans for the merger.

The two Pioneer offices, 699 W. Dundee Rd., and 4048 W. 26th St., Chicago, will operate as divisions of Hoyne Savings.

"The merger will prove highly beneficial to the members of both institutions," Weber said. "It will present an opportunity for expanded operations and will make it possible to achieve economy in the areas of management, marketing and data processing — the benefits of which can be passed along to all customers in the form of additional services."

Wiemann serves as a vice president and branch manager of the Wheeling office and as a member of the Hoyne board of directors. No changes in location or personnel are slated, Weber said.

The combined assets of the associations total more than $115 million. Hoyne's home office is located at 4736 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago.

Pioneer S&L, Hoyne merge

Pioneer Savings and Loan Assn. of Wheeling merged May 1 with Hoyne Savings and Loan of Chicago.

In a joint announcement, president Earl Weber of Hoyne Savings and Loan and vice president Ervin Wiemann of Pioneer Savings and Loan said they received permission from the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Illinois Commissioner of Savings and Loans for the merger.

The two Pioneer offices, 699 W. Dundee Rd., and 4048 W. 26th St., Chicago, will operate as divisions of Hoyne Savings.

"The merger will prove highly beneficial to the members of both institutions," Weber said. "It will present an opportunity for expanded operations and will make it possible to achieve economy in the areas of management, marketing and data processing — the benefits of which can be passed along to all customers in the form of additional services."

Wiemann serves as a vice president and branch manager of the Wheeling office and as a member of the Hoyne board of directors. No changes in location or personnel are slated, Weber said.

The combined assets of the associations total more than $115 million. Hoyne's home office is located at 4736 N. Milwaukee Ave., Chicago.

Ask Andy

Tireless laborers built pyramids

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1976 Yearbrook of Science and the Future to Michael Buddock, 12, of Bethlehem, Pa., for his question:

HOW DID THE EGYPTIANS BUILD THE PYRAMIDS?

Modern man sometimes takes for granted the fantastic achievements technology has made possible. Gigantic bridges, underwater tunnels, massive dams and skyscrapers all require huge, complex machnery. The ancient world contained no such labor-saving equipment. What was built then was the product of backbreaking labor and infinite patience.

The Egyptian pyramids are among the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World. Although carelessly ravaged and unappreciated for centuries, ruins of 35 pyramids still stand near the Nile River in Egypt. They symbolize both the architectural genius and the long years of great physical toil of the Eyptian people.

Built about 4,500 years ago, the pyramids were constructed to protect the bodies of the kings. Queens and families of rulers were also entombed. The Egyptians believed that gods and goddesses were involved in every human activity from birth to death. Their kings were also gods, and by preserving and protecting their bodies their souls could live forever. Their divine powers would thus continue to influence the prosperity of the country.

The pyramids are gigantic structures with square or rectangular bases and four triangular-shaped sides reaching a point at the top. Some cover areas many times larger than a football field and reach higher than 400 feet.

How these massive tombs were erected has intrigued and puzzled mankind over the centuries. Surely such vast piles of immense stones could not have been moved without some sophisticated machinery. Yet they were. The answer is that thousands upon thousands of men labored tirelessly, day after day, year after year. Time seemed not at issue.

No sooner had a king taken his throne than the construction of his pyramid was begun. Practically all the available labor force was assigned to the monumental task. During favorable weather the men cut the stone blocks at the quarries. When the flooding rains arrived, rafts were floated up to the quarries, and with such simple aids as ropes, levers and wooden rollers, the blocks were placed on the rafts. Once at the site of the pyramids, the blocks were worked off the rafts by the same means and hauled up a paved inclined slope or ramp to their positon on the pile.

One of the most impressive tombs is the Great Pyramid at Giza. This massive monument contains about 2.3 million stone blocks. Incredibly, the blocks averaged about 5,000 pounds apiece in weight. So carefully did the workmen shape them that they fitted together with only paper-thin spaces between them.

To us 20th-century earthlings, time is of the essence. Even our modern monolithic skyscrapers are completed within a year or two after construction begins. It is difficult to conceive of the endless patience and years of backbreaking toil which the Egyptian pyramids represent. But because they were built to last forever, they embody one of the man's noblest ideals — faith in the future.

What Is Thatch?

Thatch is a dense mat, an accumulation of roots, stems and grass clippings between the soil and the visible green vegetation. Often several inches thick, thatch prevents the penetration of fertilizers and water. It creates a breeding ground for fungus and for insects that destroy lawns. Every time you mow, more thatch builds up.

What Is Thatch?

Thatch is a dense mat, an accumulation of roots, stems and grass clippings between the soil and the visible green vegetation. Often several inches thick, thatch prevents the penetration of fertilizers and water. It creates a breeding ground for fungus and for insects that destroy lawns. Every time you mow, more thatch builds up.

Best play for club suit

Win at bridge

by Oswald and Jim Jacoby

If today's hand were played in any duplicate anywhere the chances are that every declarer would play three notrump and make either four or five odd depending on whether or not he lost a heart trick.

Nevertheless it did cause a real argument at one table in Dallas. South won the spade lead in his own hand, cashed his ace of clubs, led the 10 of clubs to dummy's king and a third club. He lost that trick and the ace of diamonds to wind up with a tie for top but his partner said, "You played the clubs wrong."

That started the fight and we were appealed to.

We hate to decide in favor of a partner who criticizes success, but South did not play the clubs the best way. He should have won the first spade in dummy and led a club to his 10. With clubs breaking 3-3 it didn't matter which way he played the suit. But had they broken 4-2 as they do some 48½ per cent of the time, he would only have scored four club tricks if one opponent held the doubleton queen-jack. The correct play would produce four club tricks against many more combinations.

Middle-income family paid 6.9% more in bills

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A hypothetical middle-income urban family paid bills totaling $15,318 over the year ended last fall, an increase of 6.9 per cent over the previous year, the Labor Dept. reported Wednesday.

That figure originally was set at $15,478 — or $181 higher — in an estimate issued last month by the Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. But it was revised downward to account for an extra federal tax break in 1975.

The bureau regularly computes annual budgets for urban families living on low, middle and high incomes. The hypothetical family comprises a 38-year-old full-time employed husband, an unemployed wife, a 13-year-old son and an 8-year-old daughter.

THE REVISED LOW budget was $9,588, an increase of 4.2 per cent over last year, and the high budget rose 7.3 per cent to $22,294. Earlier estimates were about $200 higher.

The biggest increases occurred in homeowning costs, transportation and medical care. Costs for medical care rose more than 10 per cent to over $800 for all three families.

Homeownership costs increased 9.2 per cent to $3,533 for middle families and $5,353 for high budgets. The cost of renting under the low budget was $1,857, up 5.6 per cent. Transportation costs rose about 9 per cent, ranging between $702 and $1,658.

The bureau said the revison resulted from a "debate" among officials who prepare the budgets over what taxes should be included.

ALTHOUGH THE revised figures accounted for an extra personal exemption and a low income allowance permitted on 1975 federal income tax forms, it did not include rebates which most taxpayers received in early 1975 on taxes from the previous year.

With these exemptions, the low budget family experienced a 14 per cent tax cut instead of an 11.6 per cent increase. The revision showed tax increases of 2 per cent for middle budget families and 6 per cent for those on a high living standard, instead of a 10 per cent rise.

By comparison, an inflation rate of 12.2 per cent in 1974 caused increases of more than 25 per cent in the federal tax bite on families at all levels that year. This prompted Congress to give rebates and extra exemptions.

The low budget family shelled out $1,358 for taxes and other deductions in 1975. That figure was $2,891 at the middle level and $4,971 at the high level.

Burglar alarms: Experts disagree if you should have one in your home

by LYNN ASINOF

As the saying goes, your home is your castle. But in the Northwest suburbs some people are turning their homes into fortresses.

Electronically wired floor mats, ultra-sonic and infra-red motion detectors, panic buttons, smoke and heat detectors and other such devices have become an integral part of life with a burglar and fire alarm system.

An estimated 2 per cent of the homes in the United States have burglar alarms, but the number is growing rapidly. Anne Murphy, security consultant for Dictograph, said her firm serves some 21,000 people in the Chicago area alone.

"And we hope to double that in the next five years," she said.

POLICEMEN, firemen and security experts all seem to agree that every home should have a fire alarm, preferably a smoke detector. But there is less agreement about the need for residential burglar alarms.

Ms. Murphy said she views burglar alarms as "basic household equipment" that should be installed "hopefully before something happens."

Other firms, like Burns Electronic Security Services, discourage installation of residential burglar alarms.

"We really try to talk people out of this," said Robert J. Brozenec, assistant operations manager.

Brozenec said residential burglar alarms can be justified if people are afraid of executive kidnaping, loss of valuables like an art collection or threats made against them and their families.

"The costs both in terms of the emotional effect and the quantitative effect have really got to be justified," he said.

EVEN THE POLICE don't agree on the need for residential alarms. Mount Prospect Chief Ralph J. Coney said he likes residential burglar alarms as a crime deterrent. Palatine crime prevention officer David Zack, however, said he doesn't think alarms are needed in most area homes.

"Anytime you install an alarm system, you have to conduct your life around that alarm system," Zack said. "By its very intention, it is going to inconvenience the homeowners somewhat, and it is going to require a change in his lifestyle."

Zack said for this and other reasons he prefers a good set of locks and watchful neighbors as a way of preventing burglaries.

Security firms usually install both burglar and fire alarms, most often in combined systems. Almost everyone recommends that if a family can afford only one alarm system, it should be a fire alarm.

The burglar alarm system starts with perimeter protection, which basically means bugging the doors and windows to prevent burglars from getting in.

MORE SOPHISTICATED systems include pressure sensitive carpet mats, motion detectors, electronic eyes and other similar devices. These are used to protect the house when the family is gone.

"You ought to be able to arm the perimeter and still be able to live inside it," said George Demco, sales manager for Honeywell Protection Services, noting the perimeter and interior devices should be on separate controls.

Some systems have a control box inside the home which operates on a delay. The person has a set amount of time, usually about 45 seconds, to leave his home after activating the device. He has similar period of time to turn off the alarm when he returns.

This system is supposed to protect the control box from outside tampering.

Ms. Murphy, however, said she prefers a system where the control box is outside the home, saying the delay system allows the burglar inside the house for a short time before the alarm sounds.

"We feel this is very dangerous," she said. "The most important thing to us is to keep the burglar outside of the house."

THERE IS ALSO a debate over the use of key-activated control boxes versus the newer number-coded push-button controls. Demco and Brozenec say keys can be stolen and key-controled locks can be picked. Ms. Murphy says her firm has a pick-proof lock which works better tha the number-coded controls.

Almost everyone agrees that residential burglar alarms should have an audible alarm which will scare the amateur burglar away. The silent alarm that summons the police without any noise can lead to a confrontation situation.

"Residential alarms in their best application frighten away the amateur, and that's really who we are dealing with," Zack said.

Some systems rely solely on a bell or a siren to frighten off the burglar. More sophisticated systems also connect with the police station or with a central station operated by the security company.

Once again, everyone agrees that the central station or police hookup is the best service, but it is also the most expensive.

INSTALLATION of a typical monitored burglar and fire alarm system costs between $1,200 and $2,200. The monitoring is done on a monthly contract basis which can range from $12.50 to $50 a month, depending on the level of service.

Alarm systems can be bought outright from the security company or be leased with a miantenance contract. Demco said he would be suspicious of any company that does not at least offer monthly service contracts or maintenance agreements. Although most people prefer to purchase their alarms.

Many in the security field say a good burglar alarm firm should have a listing with Underwriters Laboratories. UL lists some 30-40 burglar alarm firms in the Chicago area, and five are listed for central station operations.

Demco recommended that homeowners interested in an alarm system contact their insurance company and take recommendations from friends and neighbors.

Brozenec said the major danger with alarms is that they lull people into a false sense of security.

"There is no alarm system in the world that can't be compromised," he said. "You are deterring the amateur, but the sophisticated burglar, if he wants to get in there, he's going to."

A fire alarm just may save your life

A fire alarm in every home is becoming the dream of many fire chiefs.

"I think they are very important," said Arlington Heights Fire Chief John Hayden. "They wake people up and they have the chance to get out before the smoke gets to them."

Most fatal fires occur between midnight and 8 a.m. when families are asleep. In most cases, death is caused by smoke and could have been prevented if the family had enough warning to get out.

Fire alarms provide this warning. A few towns in the area, like Mount Prospect, now require the installation of at least one local alarm in new buildings. The National Fire Protection Assn. 1976 code also will call for installation of fire alarms.

FOR THE most part, however, it is up to the homeowner to protect himself and his family against fire.

Security companies will install fire alarms either alone or in combination with a burglar alarm system. Through the security company, homeowners also can purchase a monitoring system that will alert the fire department in case of an alarm.

The important part of the alarm, however, is the noise that wakes the family. Homeowners can get this protection by installing their own local alarms, which will set off a bell or siren.

These alarms are either run by battery, by household current or by both.

IF BATTERY operated, the system has to be checked periodically to make sure that the power has not gone dead. Systems that operate on house current can short-out in an electrical storm or power failure. The best systems use household current with a battery backup.

There are three different kinds of fire alarm devices. Fire and security experts agree that homeowners should steer clear of heat detectors if they are the only type of device installed to detect fire.

"The smoke is what does the killing," said Mount Prospect Chief Lawrence Pairitz. "By the time temperatures reach the point where they set off the heat detector, the damage will be done."

IONIZATION DETECTORS are activated by combustion particles present in the air before a fire begins. Smoke detectors use a photoelectric eye which is activated when blocked by visible smoke.

People installing their own fire alarms should contact their local fire prevention bureau to make sure the devices are properly placed and installed.

"I would suggest a call to the fire prevention unit to see if the unit is approved and will function properly — before any bills are paid," Hayden said.

Mount Prospect Fire Inspector Edward Cavello said at least one unit should be placed near the bedrooms, but said the location of the alarms should be determined by ventilation patterns.

Robert J. Brozenec of Burns Electronic Security Services, said homeowners should only purchase units that have the Factory Mutual or Underwriters Laboratories seal. Prices start as low as $30 for a good unit, although Cavello said $50 is average.

Good lock system best thief deterrent

Burglar alarms may scare off most amateurs, but crime prevention bureau officers say there is nothing like a good lock.

The most common lock in area homes is the key-in the-knob lock. They have a push button on the interior side, and the door is opened by inserting a key in the knob from the outside.

"Those really are just privacy locks. They are not security devices," said David Zack, Palatine crime prevention officer.

Mount Prospect Police Chief Ralph J. Doney said these locks are easily opened by slipping a credit card or piece of plastic through the door jamb.

ONE OF THE most secure locks is a vertical double cylinder deadbolt, which preferably should be opened by a key on both sides. The need for a key on the inside, however, can pose a fire hazard if the key is not readily available.

Zack suggested that the key be kept within 40 inches of the lock, possibly tied to a string. He said, however, it should be kept away from glass, since burglars might be able to break a window and reach the key.

Proper installation also is important. Zack said the lock when thrown should extend at least one inch into the door jam. The strike plate should be secured to the door mamb with screws that are long enough to reach the wood behind the door frame.

"Otherwise, the wood just splinters in the door frame," he said.

DONEY SAID no lock will work, however, unless the door is made of solid wood. "When they use a hollow core door, a guy can punch his fist right through the door," he said, noting all the locks in the world won't help in that situation.

A mortise lock, installed inside the door in combination with a deadbolt, can be a good security device. Zack also recommended rim locks, which are attached inside the door.

Normal window locks also are not very secure. Zack said homeowners can wedge a stick between the bottom and top part of a window, drill a hole through the two window halves and insert a locking pin, or purchase a commercial window lock.

Sliding glass door locks also are available in hardware stores. Zack said persons who merely insert a stick in the window track to keep it shut also should put screws in the upper track so that the door can't be lifted out of the runners.

• Walgreen Co. recently announced the promotions of two Northwest-side residents in the firm's data processing department.

Richard E. Umbach, of Hoffman Estates, has been named manager of Pharmacy Terminal Systems Development. Umbach, who graduated from Valparaiso University in 1951 with a B.S. degree in electrical engineering and a B.A. degree in mathematics, joined the firm in 1956 as a TAB operator. Advancing to programmer in 1960, and to manager of the data processing center in 1963, he became manager of data processing technical services in 1969.

Gary Pradarelli, of Schaumburg, has been prompted to manager of data processing. Pradarelli joined the drug store chain in 1969 as a systems analyst, serving in that capacity until his recent promotion.

Dow prices down due to uncertainties

NEW YORK (UPI) — Economic and political uncertainties combined to drive prices lower Wednesday in the third slowest trading session of the year on the New York Stock Exchange.

Many investors were waiting for the Labor Dept. report on April wholesale prices Thursday, which is expected to show a sharp rise. Also, nobody seemed to know the near-term course of interest rates.

The Dow Jones industrial average, a 3.38-point winner Tuesday, fell 7.24 points to 986.46. The blue-chip average has run into trouble the past two months when it has gotten into the neighborhood of the 1,000 level.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped 0.58 to 100.88, the NYSE common stock index lost 0.27 to 53.70 and the average price of an NYSE common share shed 18 cents.

DECLINES TOPPED advances, 825 to 555, among the 1,843 issues crossing the tape. The 463 unchanged issues reflected some investor uncertainty, analysts said.

The volume of 14,970,000 down from the 17,180,000 traded Tuesday, was the slowest since 14,530,000 were traded last Friday. The slowest day of the year was Jan. 2, when 10,300,000 shares changed hands.

The wholesale prices report should give Wall Street some indication of things to come in the economic recovery. There has been considerable concern inflation would reappear to blunt the advance.

Many analysts suggested investors also might have been waiting for the Federal Reserve Board's report late Thursday on the nation's money supply and loan demands at New York's leading banks.

STOKELY-VAN CAMP lost 2-7/8 to 21-5/8 after Anderson-Clayton canceled a merger offer. Anderson-Clayton, which added 1/8 to 37¾, reported third quarter earnings rose to $1.54 a share from $1.34 a year ago.

White Consolidated slipped ½ to 22-5/8. The firm Tuesday withdrew a merger offer with White Motor Corp. The NYSE suspended trading in White Motor until further notice.

Sony Corp. led the Big Board actives, up 1/8 to 9 on 186,900 shares, including a block of 150,000 at 9-1/8.

Signal Cos., the second most active Big Board issue, lost 3/8 to 20-3/8 on 162,500 shares.

North American Coal fell 2¾ to 45¼. The stock did not trade Tuesday following reports Texaco had made inquiries about purchasing some of the firm's stock. Texaco, trading ex-dividend, was the third most active Big Board issue, off 3/8 to 27-1/8 on 139,300 shares.

Prices closed mixed in light trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index slipped 0.58 to 100.88, the NYSE common stock index lost 0.27 to 53.70 and the average price of an NYSE common share shed 18 cents.

DECLINES TOPPED advances, 825 to 555, among the 1,843 issues crossing the tape. The 463 unchanged issues reflected some investor uncertainty, analysts said.

The volume of 14,970,000 down from the 17,180,000 traded Tuesday, was the slowest since 14,530,000 were traded last Friday. The slowest day of the year was Jan. 2, when 10,300,000 shares changed hands.

The wholesale prices report should give Wall Street some indication of things to come in the economic recovery. There has been considerable concern inflation would reappear to blunt the advance.

Many analysts suggested investors also might have been waiting for the Federal Reserve Board's report late Thursday on the nation's money supply and loan demands at New York's leading banks.

STOKELY-VAN CAMP lost 2-7/8 to 21-5/8 after Anderson-Clayton canceled a merger offer. Anderson-Clayton, which added 1/8 to 37¾, reported third quarter earnings rose to $1.54 a share from $1.34 a year ago.

White Consolidated slipped ½ to 22-5/8. The firm Tuesday withdrew a merger offer with White Motor Corp. The NYSE suspended trading in White Motor until further notice.

Sony Corp. led the Big Board actives, up 1/8 to 9 on 186,900 shares, including a block of 150,000 at 9-1/8.

Signal Cos., the second most active Big Board issue, lost 3/8 to 20-3/8 on 162,500 shares.

North American Coal fell 2¾ to 45¼. The stock did not trade Tuesday following reports Texaco had made inquiries about purchasing some of the firm's stock. Texaco, trading ex-dividend, was the third most active Big Board issue, off 3/8 to 27-1/8 on 139,300 shares.

Prices closed mixed in light trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Two options to cut house purchase cost

Managing your family's money

by MERLE E. DOWD

A frequent frustration voiced by young couples is their apparent inability to buy a house of their own. Whether a couple or a single, two roadblocks impede the straight and narrow path to a home of one's own — high interest rates for mortgage loans and escalating building costs.

Of the two, higher costs, increasing 10 to 14 per cent a year, appear to have priced the single-family house out of many would-be buyers' price range. Two options are appearing as ways around both roadblocks:

1. No-frill houses hold the line on costs by eliminating some of the extras or "luxuries." Frills most likely to be dropped include extra floor space, garage or carport, porch, high ceilings and an extra bath. With the continuing scarcity and high price of land, builders are opting for smaller lots where zoning permits.

Compact is one term applied to the no-frill house. Just as cars are being scaled back for fuel economy, compact house designs feature double-duty rooms, such as living and dining rooms combined or a portion of a family room area available for sleeping on a pull-down bed in one wall.

To keep prices low, builders may no longer include appliances in the house price. Financing a refrigerator and other appliances over a 25-or 30-year period could mean paying for them long after they wear out.

Box-like construction also costs less because a minimum of wall space encloses a maximum of floor space. Many houses no longer offer a basement. Sometimes, value is removed from a no-frill house faster than price — but lower prices are showing up — and buyers are accepting less than their dream house.

2. Finish-it-yourself houses offer another route to a home of your own at a price you can afford. Finish-it-yourself homes work for a simple economic reason — owners increase their effective income. The work or "sweat-equity" you pour into completing a shell house exchanges your time, effort and talent for cash. These are the same resources you apply to a job in exchange for wages or salary.

When you apply time, effort and talent to finishing your own house, you earn an income that shows up as a more valuable house. Later, if you should sell the house, any gain you recognize amounts to income acquired at capital-gain rates rather than as ordinary income (assuming you sell your house more than six months after buying it). Or, you may defer a capital gain by buying another house of equal or greater value within 18 months.

A builder erects the finish-it-yourself house on foundations that he builds. The house is enclosed and a finished roof protects the interior. But, inside there may be little more than space — no ceiling under the roof, only a rough subfloor, roughed-in connections to sewer and water systems and electrical power only to a main distribution box. You take it from there.

Various packages may be added. You could ask the builder to complete the plumbing up to the point of installing fixtures. Typically, you must build in the floor and walls of a bath before fixures can be installed. You could do the same with a kitchen. For another batch of dollars the builder will install a heating system and an approved electrical distribution system from the main box to all other rooms.

Depending on your on time availability and skills, you could elect to do all these tasks yourself. You may opt to buy the materials from the builder or other sources and hire someone else to help you install them. Many options are available, but the more you and your spouse plus any friends you can drag onto the scene accomplish, the fewer out-of-pocket dollars your house will cost.

How much can you save by going the finish-it-yourself route? Some couples save as much as 25-35 per cent of a comparably priced finished house. But remember — sweat equity means work. Be sure your marriage or single determination will withstand the frustrations of living amidst sawdust, holidays and weekends spent with hammer in hand, and extra cash going for plasterboard, hardware and innumerable other materials instead of new clothes, sports, travel and fun activities.

Boom year for foreign investors?

This may be a boom year for foreign investment in United States real property, according to a survey by the National Association of Realtors.

A telephone survey of real estate investment counselors, land developers and governmental officials disclosed that the counselors believed the total invested by foreign sources in 1975 was about the same as in 1974. They said an accurate dollar estimate was not possible because purchases often are made through American firms.

But they said there was "activity in the field" of investment suggesting a big year for foreign investment seeking stability in an economic and political climate.

A New York real estate counselor, C. Ake Orndahl, said he believed the trend began about six months ago with instability of some foreign currencies turning investors to the United States.

"I don't believe they are as concerned with the return they might receive as with their investments' safety; will it be worth as much in a year?" Orndahl said.

Stephen Brener, a consultant specializing in the hotel and motel field, the survey said, found that there may be fewer investments of $100 million or more "but I'm certain there will be more investors than in the past and from many areas other than Western Europe."

He said South Americans showed interest in Florida hotel-motel properites; Australians and Canadians in Hawaii; South Africans in those in New York and other major cities; some Central Americans in Texas.

Arab nationals, Brener said, seemed to show increased interest, mainly in acquiring property rather than in development.

Charles Overturf, a private investment counselor in San Francisco said he would guess Germans, Belgians and Swiss would be the top investors in U. S. real estate in 1976.

Jack Kemmerly

Jack L. Kemmerly Real Estate's volume for 1975 was 30 per cent higher than in 1974. Since the first of the year, there has been over $1 million a week in gross sales, some in cooperation with other brokers.

In March there was over 5¼ million dollars in sales, and Kemmerly expects this to increase to 1½ million a week in the next four months. They receive over 60 per cent of their business from personal referrals.

John Wotring, vice president of T. A. BOLGER, REALTORS Schaumburg office and his sales staff participated in the RELO Workshop sponsored by the Chicago Metropolitan Area Committee of the national organization March 11 at the Sheraton O'Hare South.

RELO/Inter-City Relocation Service specializes in helping transferred families relocate, and Bolger Realtors is one of over 30 Chicago Metro RELO members with nearly 100 offices and approximately 900 sales associates who provide top relocation service in the Greater Chicagoland area.

Bolger Realtors representatives were among several hundred Chicago area RELO members at the rally to study the latest relocation techniques in fulfilling the special needs of families on the move. One out of every 10 relocating families referred among the 840 national RELO members each year is moving in or out of the Chicago area.

"The success of RELO members in helping families on the move is largely attributed to its continuing education program such as the RELO Workshop," stated John Wotring of Bolger Realtors.

James McLaughlin

JAMES D. McLAUGHLIN has been named residential sales leader for the month of March, at Wm. L. Kunkel & Co., Realtors, Arlington Heights office.

Assistant manager of Kunkel's Arlington Heights office, McLaughlin achieved the honor for the second time this year and the eighth time since joining Kunkel's residential staff in 1971. He was presented with a plaque and a cash award for achieving the highest number of sales and listings during the month of March.

McLaughlin was elected a member of the "Million Dollar Sales Club" of the Illinois Association of Realtors in 1975 and 1972 for achieving real estate sales in excess of $1 million. He also received the designation of graduate, Realtors Institute for completing the three stage real estate seminar sponsored by the Illinois Association of Realtors.

McLaughlin resides in Arlington Heights with his wife, Joan, and two children.

Expert suggests home insurance class system

To help achieve insurance-to-value, a property insurance expert suggests creating a classification system for homes which would be similar to the one now used for farm properties.

Frank Knight, underwriting manager for Country Mutual Insurance Co., Bloomington, Illinois, said that basing premium on a combination of market value and replacement cost could solve the insurance-to-value problem.

Combining the two systems through a classification system, he said, "would allow writing insurance to near replacement cost on newer construction and writing insurance at market value on older dwellings. The premium for each $1,000 of insurance could be higher on the older dwellings. In a classification system, the average premium on the older dwelling would be increased without the over-insurance problem and the arson possibility. A similar classification system has been in effect in farm property for several years and has been effective in getting more equitable premiums between risks."

Knight said classification of buildings was not important in itself, but only a means to get adequate premium at the outset, which was crucial. "If the proper value is not obtained when property is first written, the amount of insurance will probably be in error during the life of the policy," he said.

He said training methods for property valuation needed to be improved, and the development of appraisal manuals, square foot guides and so on could not substitute for careful inspections of the property.

If inspectors took account of the following factors, he said, obtaining insurance-to-value would be easier and would benefit both the policyholder and the company: square feet of living space, quality of construction, age, location, repairs and remodeling, appearance, safety devices, condition of appliances, heating and cooling units and the age and condition of the roof.

Big rebound predicted in house starts

Housing starts this year will rebound substantially from last year's recession low, but a return to the boom levels of 1972-73 is unlikely at least through this decade, said economist Kenneth J. Thygerson.

Thanks in large part to a "more than adequate" supply of mortgage funds at savings and loan associations, the number of housing starts should fall in the 1.5 million to 1.6 million range this year, Thygerson said.

New housing starts totaled 1.2 million in 1975.

Thygerson, chief economist for the United States League of Savings Associations, said that mortgage lending by savings associations could total $74 billion during 1976 — an all-time record and a 33 per cent increase over the savings and loan business' record 1975 loan volume of $55 billion.

Savings assoiiations are the nation's chief providers of residential mortgage credit, accounting for 56 per cent of all the privately held mortgage debt outstanding. Last year, associations wrote more than 75 per cent of all the new residential mortgage loans provided by private sector lenders.

Increasing consumer confidence, helped by gains in real income, will provide added strength to the homebuilding industry this year, Thygerson said. The public's willingness to spend already is obvious in new car sales data and the growth in consumer credit, he said.

Nonetheless, housing starts will not reach the once-magical two million level either this year or next Thygerson said, and starts may not top that figure throughout the remainder of the decade.

The reason, according to the League economist, "is that many of the unique circumstances which led to the housing boom of the early '70s are missing."

The early part of the 1970s, Thygerson noted, "was a period of rapid real income gains and low energy costs, both factors that boosted second home production" and helped send overall housing starts soaring to a record 2.4 million in 1972.

In addition, "large builders used a variety of then-new techniques — the high rise condominium, new towns and planned unit developments — to pump up housing production, while commercial banks and real estate investment trusts provided a record volume of construction loans for some highly speculative real estate projects," Thygerson said.

"None of these factors will be present in 1976 or 1977 — and probably not in 1978 either," he said.

Other factors that work against a new housing boom, Thygerson said, include no-growth environmental concerns and restrictive zoning, and increased labor and materials costs.

However, housing starts should show moderate annual increases if the general economy continues a stable growth pattern, Thygerson said.

LET'S TALK IT OVER

JERRY BOUSCHARD

When you sell your home, you naturally want to get as much for it as you can. It is common practice to ask more for a piece of property than is expected. After all, you can't get any more than you ask and you can always come down, so why not start high?

When "starting high" means out-of-the-question overpricing, the seller pays a penalty. Buyers who might have made an acceptable offer don't bother. Salesmen concentrate on more reasonably priced property. After too long a time on the market, buyers start to wonder about some serious undisclosed fault.

Pricing property for sale must be done carefully. It's just one of the aspects of selling real estate where we can really help. Come in or "Call Us!" and we'll visit you.

Expert suggests home insurance class system

To help achieve insurance-to-value, a property insurance expert suggests creating a classification system for homes which would be similar to the one now used for farm properties.

Frank Knight, underwriting manager for Country Mutual Insurance Co., Bloomington, Illinois, said that basing premium on a combination of market value and replacement cost could solve the insurance-to-value problem.

Combining the two systems through a classification system, he said, "would allow writing insurance to near replacement cost on newer construction and writing insurance at market value on older dwellings. The premium for each $1,000 of insurance could be higher on the older dwellings. In a classification system, the average premium on the older dwelling would be increased without the over-insurance problem and the arson possibility. A similar classification system has been in effect in farm property for several years and has been effective in getting more equitable premiums between risks."

Knight said classification of buildings was not important in itself, but only a means to get adequate premium at the outset, which was crucial. "If the proper value is not obtained when property is first written, the amount of insurance will probably be in error during the life of the policy," he said.

He said training methods for property valuation needed to be improved, and the development of appraisal manuals, square foot guides and so on could not substitute for careful inspections of the property.

If inspectors took account of the following factors, he said, obtaining insurance-to-value would be easier and would benefit both the policyholder and the company: square feet of living space, quality of construction, age, location, repairs and remodeling, appearance, safety devices, condition of appliances, heating and cooling units and the age and condition of the roof.

Big rebound predicted in house starts

Housing starts this year will rebound substantially from last year's recession low, but a return to the boom levels of 1972-73 is unlikely at least through this decade, said economist Kenneth J. Thygerson.

Thanks in large part to a "more than adequate" supply of mortgage funds at savings and loan associations, the number of housing starts should fall in the 1.5 million to 1.6 million range this year, Thygerson said.

New housing starts totaled 1.2 million in 1975.

Thygerson, chief economist for the United States League of Savings Associations, said that mortgage lending by savings associations could total $74 billion during 1976 — an all-time record and a 33 per cent increase over the savings and loan business' record 1975 loan volume of $55 billion.

Savings assoiiations are the nation's chief providers of residential mortgage credit, accounting for 56 per cent of all the privately held mortgage debt outstanding. Last year, associations wrote more than 75 per cent of all the new residential mortgage loans provided by private sector lenders.

Increasing consumer confidence, helped by gains in real income, will provide added strength to the homebuilding industry this year, Thygerson said. The public's willingness to spend already is obvious in new car sales data and the growth in consumer credit, he said.

Nonetheless, housing starts will not reach the once-magical two million level either this year or next Thygerson said, and starts may not top that figure throughout the remainder of the decade.

The reason, according to the League economist, "is that many of the unique circumstances which led to the housing boom of the early '70s are missing."

The early part of the 1970s, Thygerson noted, "was a period of rapid real income gains and low energy costs, both factors that boosted second home production" and helped send overall housing starts soaring to a record 2.4 million in 1972.

In addition, "large builders used a variety of then-new techniques — the high rise condominium, new towns and planned unit developments — to pump up housing production, while commercial banks and real estate investment trusts provided a record volume of construction loans for some highly speculative real estate projects," Thygerson said.

"None of these factors will be present in 1976 or 1977 — and probably not in 1978 either," he said.

Other factors that work against a new housing boom, Thygerson said, include no-growth environmental concerns and restrictive zoning, and increased labor and materials costs.

However, housing starts should show moderate annual increases if the general economy continues a stable growth pattern, Thygerson said.

LET'S TALK IT OVER
JERRY BOUSCHARD

When you sell your home, you naturally want to get as much for it as you can. It is common practice to ask more for a piece of property than is expected. After all, you can't get any more than you ask and you can always come down, so why not start high?

When "starting high" means out-of-the-question overpricing, the seller pays a penalty. Buyers who might have made an acceptable offer don't bother. Salesmen concentrate on more reasonably priced property. After too long a time on the market, buyers start to wonder about some serious undisclosed fault.

Pricing property for sale must be done carefully. It's just one of the aspects of selling real estate where we can really help. Come in or "Call Us!" and we'll visit you.

Lifestyle major factor in making house choice

Have you ever walked through a model home and been awed by its decorative beauty and splendor but shrugged it off as a potential homesite because it didn't fit your lifestyle and you couldn't afford to duplicate it?

The "gimmicky" decorative approach does little to define the functions of the various areas of a home in the opinion of Childs-Dreyfus, a consumer-oriented Chicago design firm which has been employed nationally and internationally by home builders.

"We believe in realistically projecting the lifestyle of the probable purchaser in our design motif," said Gene Dreyfus, C-D president. "Our goal is to highlight what the home has to offer and fit the esthetics into that."

This realistic attitude is reflected in the newly refurbished Countryside Condominiums of Palatine. C-D was employed recently to redecorate the interiors of the Aspen (one bedroom, one bath), Birchwood (two bedrooms, one bath), Cedar (two bedrooms, two baths) and Dogwood (two bedrooms, two baths) models. Refurbishing of the first three units and the new Dogwood interior decorating has just been completed.

"Countryside Condominiums has been open for more than a year," said Fred Peterman, a spokesman for the developer. "And, quite frankly, the Dogwood is the only one of our units which has not been selling proportionately to the inventory, and we realize that it was due to the fact that we had not furnished the model. That is why we employed Childs-Dreyfus — to see if their ideas could step up the sales of the 14 remaining Dogwood Units."

Dreyfus said the design scheme at Countryside is aimed at two consumer profiles. "We envision the buyers either as an adult family with a teenage child or whose children have grown and are away at school or living on their own, and the young professional couple."

In the case of the former, Dreyfus believes the second bedroom can be a part-time bedroom, part-time den, and the design employed in the Dogwood suits both attitudes. The decor of the second bedroom for the young professional couple envisions the room primarily as a den or office area.

The Dogwood refurbishing clearly delineates the four separate functions of the master bedroom suite — sleeping, storage, sitting and work area — and accents the cultural input anticipated for the living room area, which also includes a separate section for dining functions.

While the anticipated lifestyle of the buyer is the foremost concept, the esthetics received prominent attention in the new Countryside interiors. The approach here is sophisticated in nature through a blending of traditional antiques and the contemporary.

Eagle discount store construction started

Construction began in March on an Eagle Discount Center located at the intersection of Rohlwing Road and Devon Avenue, Elk Grove Village. The store is scheduled to open in November.

The general contractor for the project is G. A. Johnson & Son, working from the plans and specifications as prepared by Schaffer-Bonavolonta, Architects, Chicago.

The new Eagle will have a total area of 28,494 square feet. The 21,532 square foot sales area will house spacious meat and produce departments, modern vertical dairy, delicatessen and frozen food cases, in addition to wide grocery aisles and modern shelving for ease in shopping.

Consumer abuse plagues swimming pool industry

by MICHAEL J. CONLON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The home swimming pool business is beset by worthless guarantees, bait-and-switch advertising and shoddy workmanship, said a Federal Trade Commission report.

Americans spend about $1.3 billion each year on backyard poools, the report said. It said while much of the industry is honest, there is considerable consumer abuse, especially involving pools made of vinyl liners placed inside wood or metal frames.

"The most serious problems faced by the consumer relate to the failure to repair swimming pools which are poorly installed or which have manufacturing defects," said the staff report which the FTC released without comment.

In addition, a "significant segment" of the industry advertises pools for $500 to $800 as a bait and then switches its customers to pools costing from four to five times that amount, the report said.

"Every spring thousands of persons succumb to the blandishments of a bait advertisement and allow themselves to be switched to a higher priced model," it said. "Added to this is the inducement that in the unlikely event of a problem arising, they have an unconditional guarantee with free repair service . . .

"Frequently the pool owner is quite shocked to discover, when a problem does arise, that the long term guarantee which formed a major basis for his decision to purchase a pool is so limited as to be virtually worthless."

Leaks in the vinyl pool iner often are the first problem the consumer has, the report said.

But if that happens during the first year after installation, for example, most guarantees require the consumer to drain the pool, remove the liner, clean it, dry it and ship it prepaid to the manufacturer before it will be repaired "without cost."

Antther problem, the report said, is the apparent widespread use of inexperienced high school or college age youths during the summer to install pools, despite "complex excavation and assembly work" involved.

On top of all that, the report said, disputes which arise cannot be settled in small claims court because the amount of money involved is too high, and the consumer — often having mortgaged his home if not his future to buy the pool — cannot afford a lawyer to take the matter to a higher court.

The report was based on hearings held by the FTC's New York office. The agency is studying the findings and could issue industry regulations aimed at addressing the abuses.

Consumer abuse plagues swimming pool industry

by MICHAEL J. CONLON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The home swimming pool business is beset by worthless guarantees, bait-and-switch advertising and shoddy workmanship, said a Federal Trade Commission report.

Americans spend about $1.3 billion each year on backyard poools, the report said. It said while much of the industry is honest, there is considerable consumer abuse, especially involving pools made of vinyl liners placed inside wood or metal frames.

"The most serious problems faced by the consumer relate to the failure to repair swimming pools which are poorly installed or which have manufacturing defects," said the staff report which the FTC released without comment.

In addition, a "significant segment" of the industry advertises pools for $500 to $800 as a bait and then switches its customers to pools costing from four to five times that amount, the report said.

"Every spring thousands of persons succumb to the blandishments of a bait advertisement and allow themselves to be switched to a higher priced model," it said. "Added to this is the inducement that in the unlikely event of a problem arising, they have an unconditional guarantee with free repair service . . .

"Frequently the pool owner is quite shocked to discover, when a problem does arise, that the long term guarantee which formed a major basis for his decision to purchase a pool is so limited as to be virtually worthless."

Leaks in the vinyl pool iner often are the first problem the consumer has, the report said.

But if that happens during the first year after installation, for example, most guarantees require the consumer to drain the pool, remove the liner, clean it, dry it and ship it prepaid to the manufacturer before it will be repaired "without cost."

Antther problem, the report said, is the apparent widespread use of inexperienced high school or college age youths during the summer to install pools, despite "complex excavation and assembly work" involved.

On top of all that, the report said, disputes which arise cannot be settled in small claims court because the amount of money involved is too high, and the consumer — often having mortgaged his home if not his future to buy the pool — cannot afford a lawyer to take the matter to a higher court.

The report was based on hearings held by the FTC's New York office. The agency is studying the findings and could issue industry regulations aimed at addressing the abuses.

HOMEFINDING IS OUR BUSINESS

NATURAL LIGHTING from a skylight and a new privacy from the open front door — that's what has been accomplished in this open-plan space. New paneling from Masonite created the partition at the entry, and resurfaced a tired wall.

Isolate that entry to home

Your home

by Carolyn Murray

Many of our housing developments (circa 1950s) were conceived with the open plan that allowed living, dining and kitchen areas to flow without visual barriers. At the time, this seemed revolutionary, because we'd been living in separate compartments: living room, dining room, kitchen, entry, bedroom, laundry room.

The new visual spaciousness was well received. But now, a generation later, we do discover some problems with that over-visual impact. For example, when someone comes to the front door, how to maintain privacy for guests and family members using these open-plan spaces. Another concern is the mess of food preparation — it isn't always something we want to reveal to neighbors and visitors.

The rooms shown today solves some of those problems. The first consideration was to try to isolate the entry somewhat from the dining-living room.

Step No. 1 was to partition gently. You cannot actually see the front door now. It has been baffled behind a floor-to-ceiling screen made of textured hardboard paneling with Masonite. It's a double-faced wall with the Butterwood paneling used on both sides.

Step No. 2 was to create daylight for the entry. Since it had been dependent on the general light in the area, a skylight was installed. This might also be handled so that at night light could seem to emanate from above.

Once the skylight work was completed, the rest of the walls were treated to the same Masonite Butterwood hardboard. The look of natural graining and stress marks give the wall surfaces a nice textural quality — one that has been repeated on one wall of the living area—and provides a visual continuity.

Once the skylight was installed the entry seemed a natural spot for living plants, stacked on a modern copy of the old French bakery rack. The area has proved to be a happy one for plants.

A new pedestal table and white bentwood chairs add their element of crispness as does the mock-brick flooring.

Could something similar be accomplished in your home?

Mortgage loan delinquencies drop in March

Mortgage loan delinquencies at savings and loan associations dropped sharply in March, 1976, reports the U.S. League of Savings Associations. The March delinquency figure was 0.95 per cent, as compared to 1.06 per cent in February of this year.

The league bases its delinquency report on a survey of more than 947 savings associations and cooperative banks representing slightly more than 51 per cent of the total assets of the business. A loan is considered delinquent if payment has not been made within 60 days of the payment date stipulated on the mortgage note. The survey includes all types of mortgage loans — conventional, FHA and VA.

The March delinquency figure was very similar to March of 1975 when delinquencies registered 0.94 per cent, and the low point in 1975 delinquencies occurred in April when the figure reached 0.92 per cent.

The league said that delinquencies are seasonal and in some ways reflect families' spending habits. Normally, they will decline in the second quarter, but rise slightly in the third quarter due to vacation spending, holidays and other "summertime" activities.

The trade association also pointed out that the current figure indicates that delinquencies represent less than 1 per cent of all the mortgage loans on savings and loan books.

Two more buildings for Barrington Sq.

Barrington Square Center for Industry, Hoffman Estates, which began its first phase of development in early 1972, is currently undergoing expansion with two more buildings under construction. Named the Century Industrial Plaza, the new buildings are on Stonington Avenue.

Nardi and Co., industrial realtors, Hillside, Ill., and exclusive agents for the new multiple occupancy building, said a total of 31,960 square feet of space will be available for lease upon completion this spring.

Four units will contain 2,350 square feet, one unit will have 2,383 square feet and eight units will contain 2,513 square feet of space.

The units will feature 14-foot clear ceiling heights, clear span areas, drive-in doors, black-top parking, gas heat and air-conditioning and finished offices to meet client specifications.

Mortgage loan delinquencies drop in March

Mortgage loan delinquencies at savings and loan associations dropped sharply in March, 1976, reports the U.S. League of Savings Associations. The March delinquency figure was 0.95 per cent, as compared to 1.06 per cent in February of this year.

The league bases its delinquency report on a survey of more than 947 savings associations and cooperative banks representing slightly more than 51 per cent of the total assets of the business. A loan is considered delinquent if payment has not been made within 60 days of the payment date stipulated on the mortgage note. The survey includes all types of mortgage loans — conventional, FHA and VA.

The March delinquency figure was very similar to March of 1975 when delinquencies registered 0.94 per cent, and the low point in 1975 delinquencies occurred in April when the figure reached 0.92 per cent.

The league said that delinquencies are seasonal and in some ways reflect families' spending habits. Normally, they will decline in the second quarter, but rise slightly in the third quarter due to vacation spending, holidays and other "summertime" activities.

The trade association also pointed out that the current figure indicates that delinquencies represent less than 1 per cent of all the mortgage loans on savings and loan books.

Many want to buy

Election year good for homes

Politics may create strange bedfellows, but it seems always to make happy ones out of homebuyers and sellers.

"Although I can't document it for the entire industry, every presidential election year seems to be a good year for the real estate profession and for our clients," said Robert G. Walters, senior vice president of Baird & Warner, Inc. "Maybe it is a coincidence, but presidential election years have always helped our company's sales and I suspect that's true industry-wide."

In 1973 Baird & Warner's dollar volume increased 19.4 per cent and sales production was up 16.3 per cent, said Walters. In 1968, the previous presidential election year, dollar volume was up 13.3 per cent and units up 9 per cent. In 1964 sales surged 23 per cent in dollar volume and the number of units sold climbed 19.3 per cent.

According to Walters, who is general manager of Baird & Warner's residential sales division, existing home sales are booming. For the first three months of 1976 dollar volume of residential sales is up 28.8 per cent and unit sales volume is up 17.6 per cent, said Walters.

"As a matter of fact sales have been sparkling since March 1975 when the 1973-75 recession officially bottomed out. Our company had record unit and dollar production in calendar 1975 and our results so far in 1976 are well-ahead of last year's record pace," he said.

Walters said economics have as much to do with providing the right conditions for a vigorous real estate market as politics, but suggested that "it becomes increasingly difficult to distinguish the two, especially in an election year."

He said political influence may provide support for buyers and sellers that the economy doesn't.

"We have an ideal climate for the re-sale of existing homes today," said Walters. "There has been a record inflow of money into savings accounts because the money market isn't providing very much competition for those funds." He said people are still a little nervous about the economy and they are deferring discretionary spending. And many smaller associations have benefitted from Keough accounts and the opening of Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs).

"Right now most mortgage lenders are bulging with funds and it is relatively easy to get an 80 per cent conventional mortgage loan for 8¾ per cent interest and up to 30 years to pay. In some areas 8½ per cent loans are available. And buyers willing to pay 9¼ per cent interest can get 90 to 95 per cent loans."

Walters believes it is extremely unlikely that interest rates will get any lower because at their present level they are at about the lowest possible "spread" for lenders. "When a savings and loan association has to pay from 5¼ up to 7¾ per cent interest to attract savings you cannot expect it to charge much less than current rates for a loan and remain in business," he said.

A rise in interest rates is expected by June, but Walters doesn't know to what extent.

"Lenders tell us several things may alter the mortgage picture. One is a rise in consumer confidence. This may spark a surge of deferred spending for autos, appliances, vacations and other discretionary items. This, in turn, could spark business demand for funds as the economy expands, raising interest rates generally. Either of these could start a flow of funds out of savings accounts, possibly making it harder to get home mortgage loans and raising loan rates," he said.

Walters said the present administration will manage to prevent any wild gyrations that will drastically alter the present situation.

"We cannot argue with lending authorities who suggest that interest rates will edge up by early summer, but that possibility may account for the very active market we are currently experiencing," said Walters. "Another probability is that most people have observed a steady appreciation of property values in recent years. Even though the rate of inflation may be slowing down, it isn't stopping entirely. The price of existing homes, which continue to attract buyers because they tend to have superior locations in established communities, is increasing."

Walters said that while politics may provide a cushion for extreme fluctuations in homebuying costs, the combination of price and financing cost are better now than they are likely to be by summer.

From the English Countryside . . .

To the active American, accustomed to maximum efficiency and a superior road system at home, time takes on a different significance when traveling abroad.

Driving through the beautiful English countryside, a Yankee traveler's thoughts might dwell on Sulgrave Manor, George Washington's ancestral home, and the historic names associated with great houses along his way. However, his mind soon returns to the present as he busily makes many turnabouts, with the traffic approaching and passing from strange directions. He is convinced that never before has he been such a hazard to his fellow man.

After a wearisome journey from a seemingly nearby airport he may arrive at his historic destination long after dusk, with his internationally-renowned energy and optimism at an all-time low. But his trials and consternation fall into a new perspective while he takes tea at a friendly fireside, meditating on miracles as an integral part of life.

In the Tudor period house shown, eleven rooms are provided and space is available for completion of additional rooms. Like a sixteenth century house in the English countryside, this house has an atmosphere all its own and it can be built for you and your family to include many interesting finishing details, with convenient traffic patterns, unique garden elevation, dining court and two belvederes.

If you are interested in building this house or would prefer some other exceptional residence of Tudor, Georgian or French origin in the price range of $150,000 and upwards, we invite you to call us for an appointment.

"Another probability is that most people have observed a steady appreciation of property values in recent years. Even though the rate of inflation may be slowing down, it isn't stopping entirely. The price of existing homes, which continue to attract buyers because they tend to have superior locations in established communities, is increasing."

Walters said that while politics may provide a cushion for extreme fluctuations in homebuying costs, the combination of price and financing cost are better now than they are likely to be by summer.

From the English Countryside . . .

To the active American, accustomed to maximum efficiency and a superior road system at home, time takes on a different significance when traveling abroad.

Driving through the beautiful English countryside, a Yankee traveler's thoughts might dwell on Sulgrave Manor, George Washington's ancestral home, and the historic names associated with great houses along his way. However, his mind soon returns to the present as he busily makes many turnabouts, with the traffic approaching and passing from strange directions. He is convinced that never before has he been such a hazard to his fellow man.

After a wearisome journey from a seemingly nearby airport he may arrive at his historic destination long after dusk, with his internationally-renowned energy and optimism at an all-time low. But his trials and consternation fall into a new perspective while he takes tea at a friendly fireside, meditating on miracles as an integral part of life.

In the Tudor period house shown, eleven rooms are provided and space is available for completion of additional rooms. Like a sixteenth century house in the English countryside, this house has an atmosphere all its own and it can be built for you and your family to include many interesting finishing details, with convenient traffic patterns, unique garden elevation, dining court and two belvederes.

If you are interested in building this house or would prefer some other exceptional residence of Tudor, Georgian or French origin in the price range of $150,000 and upwards, we invite you to call us for an appointment.

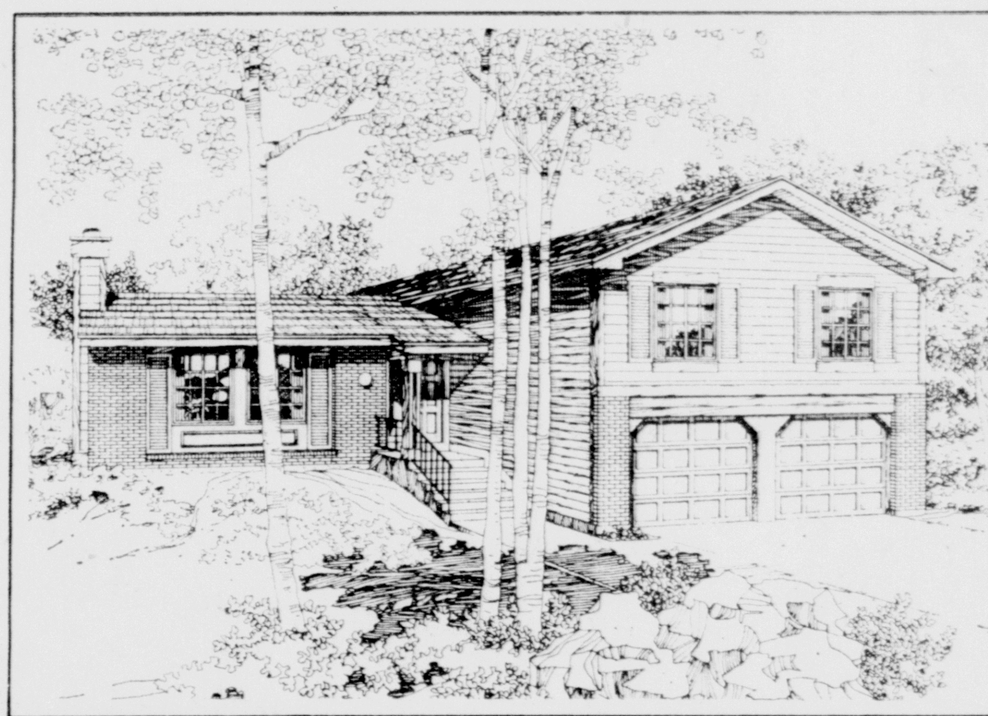
LET THE SPIRIT MOVE YOU!



THE SPIRIT OF 1776. THE COMFORT OF 1976.

It's a perfect blend, actually. The old gracious charm that used to be, with all of the up-to-date delights that spell convenience. Together, in one home.

All by itself, that makes Meadow Edge worth looking into. But there's more: the taste of lush, green country. The cleverly designed single family homes and townhomes. The clubhouse and swimming pool. The access to stores and schools and trains and expressways and pleasure.

We're sorry we don't yet have models of our 3 & 4 bedroom single family homes completed. But, by buying from the plans NOW, as many people have, we can offer you super pre-construction prices from just $56,900. BEAUTIFULLY DESIGNED MODELS OF OUR 3 BEDROOM TOWNHOMES ARE ON DISPLAY NOW AND ARE PRICED FROM JUST $53,500. Other townhomes are planned from $42,000.

We're National, but we're Neighborly.™

Zoning defines building purpose, size, placement

Mr. Meltzer on real estate

by Bernard Meltzer

Occasionally I receive letters from readers who have no understanding of the concept of zoning. Most cities in the United States have comprehensive zoning ordinances today. Zoning controls not only the size and placing of a building — but also the purposes for which it can be used. Here is an example.

DEAR MR. MELTZER: Approximately 10 years ago I inherited the house I now occupy from my father. I remember for years he had always told me that our house was very valuable because it had commercial zoning.

Several months ago my wife and I decided to open a plant store in our downstairs as a source of additional income. After publicizing our grand opening, making minor renovations and buying considerable stock, we managed to start our new business last week. After two days a man entered the shop and identified himself as a building inspector. He then told us we would have to discontinue our business or apply for a zoning variance.

When I told him that our house had commercial zoning, he informed me that the zoning had been changed to residential about five years ago. My wife recalled receiving a notice about a zoning change, but thought it had something to do with our postal zip code.

Our neighbors informed us that they would not allow us to get a variance. The whole thing doesn't seem fair. What can we do?—BATTLE ZONE.

Unfortunately, the only chance you had to do something was before the zoning change. If you had started your business beforehand, it would have been allowed to remain as a nonconforming use.

Now you may only use your property for residential purposes. You could try to obtain a zoning variance, but if your neighbors protest loudly enough, it would be impossible. Municipalities do have a right to change zoning, provided they follow the proper procedures.

DEAR MR. MELTZER: When we moved into our house, the real estate agent advised me to purchase a homeowner's insurance policy. I had been paying premiums for almost six years, and never had a claim.

Last month we had a severe windstorm. Several large trees fell over. I had them cut up and removed and sent the bill to my insurance company. They returned the bill and advised that this was not covered under my insurance.

What am I carrying insurance for?—OVERINSURED.

The typical homeowner's insurance policy does not cover windstorm damage to a tree. If your tree fell on your house, you would be entitled to damages. You may want to consult an accountant or the Internal Revenue Service to see if you are entitled to a casualty loss deduction on your tax return next year.

DEAR MR. MELTZER: Last week I had a very bad argument with my wife. When I left the house and slammed the door, the large glass in the storm door broke.

The next day we made up and I promised to have the storm door fixed. When I went to the hardware store, they refused to sell me a new glass and insisted that I use plastic. I went other places and can't buy a new glass.

Are the glass companies going out of business?—WANT WHAT I WANT!

Many states today require the use of a clear acrylic material in door glass. This would include storm doors and other exterior doors. This is why the stores were giving you a hard time.

As the saying goes, "People who live in glass houses shouldn't have arguments with their wives."

DEAR MR. MELTZER: With hot weather soon upon us, I have a question for the expert (that's you). At what temperature should an air-conditioned house be kept?

People who claim to know tell me that an air-conditioning system should reduce the temperature indoors by 10 to 15 degrees.

What do you say?—WILLING TO LEARN.

Though believed by many, it is not true that an air conditioning system should drop indoor temperature by 10 to 15 degrees.

The cooling system should be guaranteed to maintain a house temperature of about 75, at 50 per cent relative humidity. Most families set their thermostats in the temperature range of 73 to 77 degrees. If you like it cooler than that, then 70 would be the preferred temperature.

Firms in area big space users

The concentration of power in Chicagoland's industrial real estate market reflected in Coldwell Banker's comprehensive survey shows 16 per cent of all firms control 61 per cent of the region's industrial space.

Although many small and medium-size users exist, the bulk of Chicagoland's property is in units above 100,000 square feet. One-fifth of Chicagoland's industrial real estate exceeds 500,000 square feet, with 31 companies occupying more than one million square feet each.

These findings are reported by Coldwell Banker, which examined all industrial real estate in Chicago's five-county area.

Zoning defines building purpose, size, placement

Mr. Meltzer on real estate

by Bernard Meltzer

Occasionally I receive letters from readers who have no understanding of the concept of zoning. Most cities in the United States have comprehensive zoning ordinances today. Zoning controls not only the size and placing of a building — but also the purposes for which it can be used. Here is an example.

DEAR MR. MELTZER: Approximately 10 years ago I inherited the house I now occupy from my father. I remember for years he had always told me that our house was very valuable because it had commercial zoning.

Several months ago my wife and I decided to open a plant store in our downstairs as a source of additional income. After publicizing our grand opening, making minor renovations and buying considerable stock, we managed to start our new business last week. After two days a man entered the shop and identified himself as a building inspector. He then told us we would have to discontinue our business or apply for a zoning variance.

When I told him that our house had commercial zoning, he informed me that the zoning had been changed to residential about five years ago. My wife recalled receiving a notice about a zoning change, but thought it had something to do with our postal zip code.

Our neighbors informed us that they would not allow us to get a variance. The whole thing doesn't seem fair. What can we do?—BATTLE ZONE.

Unfortunately, the only chance you had to do something was before the zoning change. If you had started your business beforehand, it would have been allowed to remain as a nonconforming use.

Now you may only use your property for residential purposes. You could try to obtain a zoning variance, but if your neighbors protest loudly enough, it would be impossible. Municipalities do have a right to change zoning, provided they follow the proper procedures.

DEAR MR. MELTZER: When we moved into our house, the real estate agent advised me to purchase a homeowner's insurance policy. I had been paying premiums for almost six years, and never had a claim.

Last month we had a severe windstorm. Several large trees fell over. I had them cut up and removed and sent the bill to my insurance company. They returned the bill and advised that this was not covered under my insurance.

What am I carrying insurance for?—OVERINSURED.

The typical homeowner's insurance policy does not cover windstorm damage to a tree. If your tree fell on your house, you would be entitled to damages. You may want to consult an accountant or the Internal Revenue Service to see if you are entitled to a casualty loss deduction on your tax return next year.

DEAR MR. MELTZER: Last week I had a very bad argument with my wife. When I left the house and slammed the door, the large glass in the storm door broke.

The next day we made up and I promised to have the storm door fixed. When I went to the hardware store, they refused to sell me a new glass and insisted that I use plastic. I went other places and can't buy a new glass.

Are the glass companies going out of business?—WANT WHAT I WANT!

Many states today require the use of a clear acrylic material in door glass. This would include storm doors and other exterior doors. This is why the stores were giving you a hard time.

As the saying goes, "People who live in glass houses shouldn't have arguments with their wives."

DEAR MR. MELTZER: With hot weather soon upon us, I have a question for the expert (that's you). At what temperature should an air-conditioned house be kept?

People who claim to know tell me that an air-conditioning system should reduce the temperature indoors by 10 to 15 degrees.

What do you say?—WILLING TO LEARN.

Though believed by many, it is not true that an air conditioning system should drop indoor temperature by 10 to 15 degrees.

The cooling system should be guaranteed to maintain a house temperature of about 75, at 50 per cent relative humidity. Most families set their thermostats in the temperature range of 73 to 77 degrees. If you like it cooler than that, then 70 would be the preferred temperature.

Firms in area big space users

The concentration of power in Chicagoland's industrial real estate market reflected in Coldwell Banker's comprehensive survey shows 16 per cent of all firms control 61 per cent of the region's industrial space.

Although many small and medium-size users exist, the bulk of Chicagoland's property is in units above 100,000 square feet. One-fifth of Chicagoland's industrial real estate exceeds 500,000 square feet, with 31 companies occupying more than one million square feet each.

These findings are reported by Coldwell Banker, which examined all industrial real estate in Chicago's five-county area.

The ABA, based in Washington, D.C., represents more than 92 per cent of the nation's 14,000 banks.

• Representatives from the Secretary of State's office will be in St. Paul Federal Savings Rolling Meadows office June 3, 4 and 5 to speak with Senior Citizens and answer questions regarding the driver's education program offered by the Secretary of State's office designed with the specific needs of the Senior Citizen in mind. Following is the schedule:

May 6, 7, 8, — Franklin Park office. June 3, 4, 5, — Rolling Meadows office.

• Prospective homeowners in the Northwest Chicagoland area who are seeking funds may now enjoy a complete financing service from "loan application to closing" at the Rolling Meadows office of St. Paul Federal Savings.

Dick Michalski, manager of the department, said that he expects to do a minimum of $25 million worth of real estate business at the Rolling Meadows location in 1976.

"Individuals, realtors and developers are invited to take advantage of this new convenient location for full mortgage service," Michalski stated.

The Rolling Meadows office of St. Paul Federal is located at 3139 Kirchoff Rd.

• The Federal Home Loan Bank has given approval to St. Paul Federal Savings of Chicago which will allow its customers, through the use of a wallet-size plastic card, to make deposits to their savings accounts, withdraw funds and cash checks, at selected Jewel Food Stores in the Chicagoland area, it has been announced by Leo B. Blaber Jr., St. Paul president.

Blaber pointed out that the plan, in conjunction with The First Chicago Corporation, is known as the YES card.

"Customers may transact business at the Jewel service desk of 12 neighborhood stores," Blaber stated.

He said the YES Card system is unique due to a built-in switching capability which links the store terminals directly with St. Paul Federal. Thus, the customer is in contact with his own account at the very moment the transaction takes place at the Jewel service desk.

The YES card account, Blaber explained, will pay 5¼ percent interest from day of deposit to day of withdrawal. Equally important it offers the opportunity for cash and access to a savings account on Saturday, Sundays and holidays or any other time the Jewel service desk is open. In most cases, that means 100 hours a week, he added.

In addition to one-stop shopping and savings convenience, customers will receive a quarterly statement showing deposits, withdrawals, and interest credited, plus receipts of transactions.

St. Paul Federal, with assets exceeding $650 million, has nine offices — three in Chicago and in the suburbs of Rolling Meadows, Franklin Park, Hanover Park, Bartlett, Blue Island and Wheaton.

• Nearly 90 per cent of the Chicago customers at Sears Easy Method Driving School are women between the ages of 35 and 50.

The tuition fee for instruction is $19.50 for each hour. The basic 12-hour course is $234. Specially-equipped hand controlled cars are also available for handicapped persons and instruction in foreign languages is offered.

For more information call this toll free number: 800-972-1638.

• Between now and June 1 Power Motors, 333 W. Northwest Hwy., Palatine, your local Hodaka Motorcycle dealer, can enter you in the Hodaka "Trail to Fun" contest. While supplies last, you'll get a free key fob or metric calculator just for signing up. You might win a 1976 Toyota 2.2 litre pickup, styled by Cobra Body, customizer of over a dozen Indy cars.

Or you could possibly win one of the other 190 prizes, including Silver Trail motorcycle trailers, Griffin Riding Suits, Electro helmets, Scott MX Goggles or Brownline tie down straps.

• Tandy Corporation, parent company of the Radio Shack store chain, has reported that Radio Shack's consumer sales in the United States and Canada were approximately $62,300,000 for the month of March, 1976, a 61 per cent gain over comparable sales of $38,800,000 during the same period of 1975.

Overall, Tandy Corporation announced sales from continuing operations last month to be approximately $67,700,000, a gain of 58 per cent compared to sales during March, 1975 of $42,900,000.

A necessity for women

Facing up to the reality of money

by BARBARA LADD

- A woman, suddenly widowed, finds the managerial and financial decisions of handling the family estate too much for her.
- A woman, recently divorced after 10 years of marriage, can't balance a checkbook.
- A married woman with two teenage children and a financially successful husband no longer wants to be left out of managing family finances but doesn't know how to change the situation.

These are not isolated incidents. Rather, they are all too common occurrences. Many women are strangers to money management and family finances.

"The traditional role of men in this country regrettably has led to the concept that women can't cope with finances," said Rena Trevor, director of women's programs at Harper College. "There seems to be a big hole in women's knowledge."

"Normally the husband handles the checkbook," said Mike Steil, assistant cashier in charge of operations at The Bank and Trust Company of Arlington Heights. "He'll give her a weekly allowance for the house and take care of other obligations himself."

Mrs. Trevor, who teaches courses in money and time management, believes women must be educated to not exclude themselves from money decisions.

Unfortunately, many women feel themselves to be in adversary positions with their husbands over finances, she said, and others believe they will not understand the complexities of the financial world.

GENE MACKEVICH, E. F. Hutton and Co. account executive who teaches investments seminars for women, finds this true for his students.

"They're not sure they will understand and they're afraid they will get in over their heads," he said.

Mackevich consequently spends the first five minutes of each session calming women's fears before covering the vocabulary, methods and how-to's and problems of investing.

Women have a responsibility to themselves "whether they want it or not" to learn to handle finances, he said. "It's the mystique of who has what responsibility in a family and why. Finances should be a mutually agreeable and well thought-out program for the good of the whole family."

"Even if a wife says, 'Jim takes care of the money,' she needs to learn financial basics. Jim might not always be there," said Mackevich.

What Mackevich said is borne out in recent Census Bureau figures. Currently women in the U.S. outnumber men by 5.6 million according to its study. And all projections indicate the trend will continue in the next quarter century.

WOMEN NOW ARE living almost eight years longer than men, on the average, compared to 3.5 years longer in 1930. By March 1975, nearly half of all women age 65 and over were widowed, the report stated.

Another segment of the women have no "Jim" to rely upon. More women choose to remain single or do not remarry after divorce according to the Census Bureau. And its figures show that female-headed households have increased by 73 per cent since 1960.

"What's happening is that more and more women are working," said Mrs. Trevor. In fact, the number of women in the labor force nearly doubled between 1950 and 1974.

"As more are going into the work force, they face the reality of money." she said. "Ideally, that should have started when they were very young."

Regardless of when women should have learned to handle finances, Mrs. Trevor, Mackevich and Steil agree they increasingly are making up for lost time.

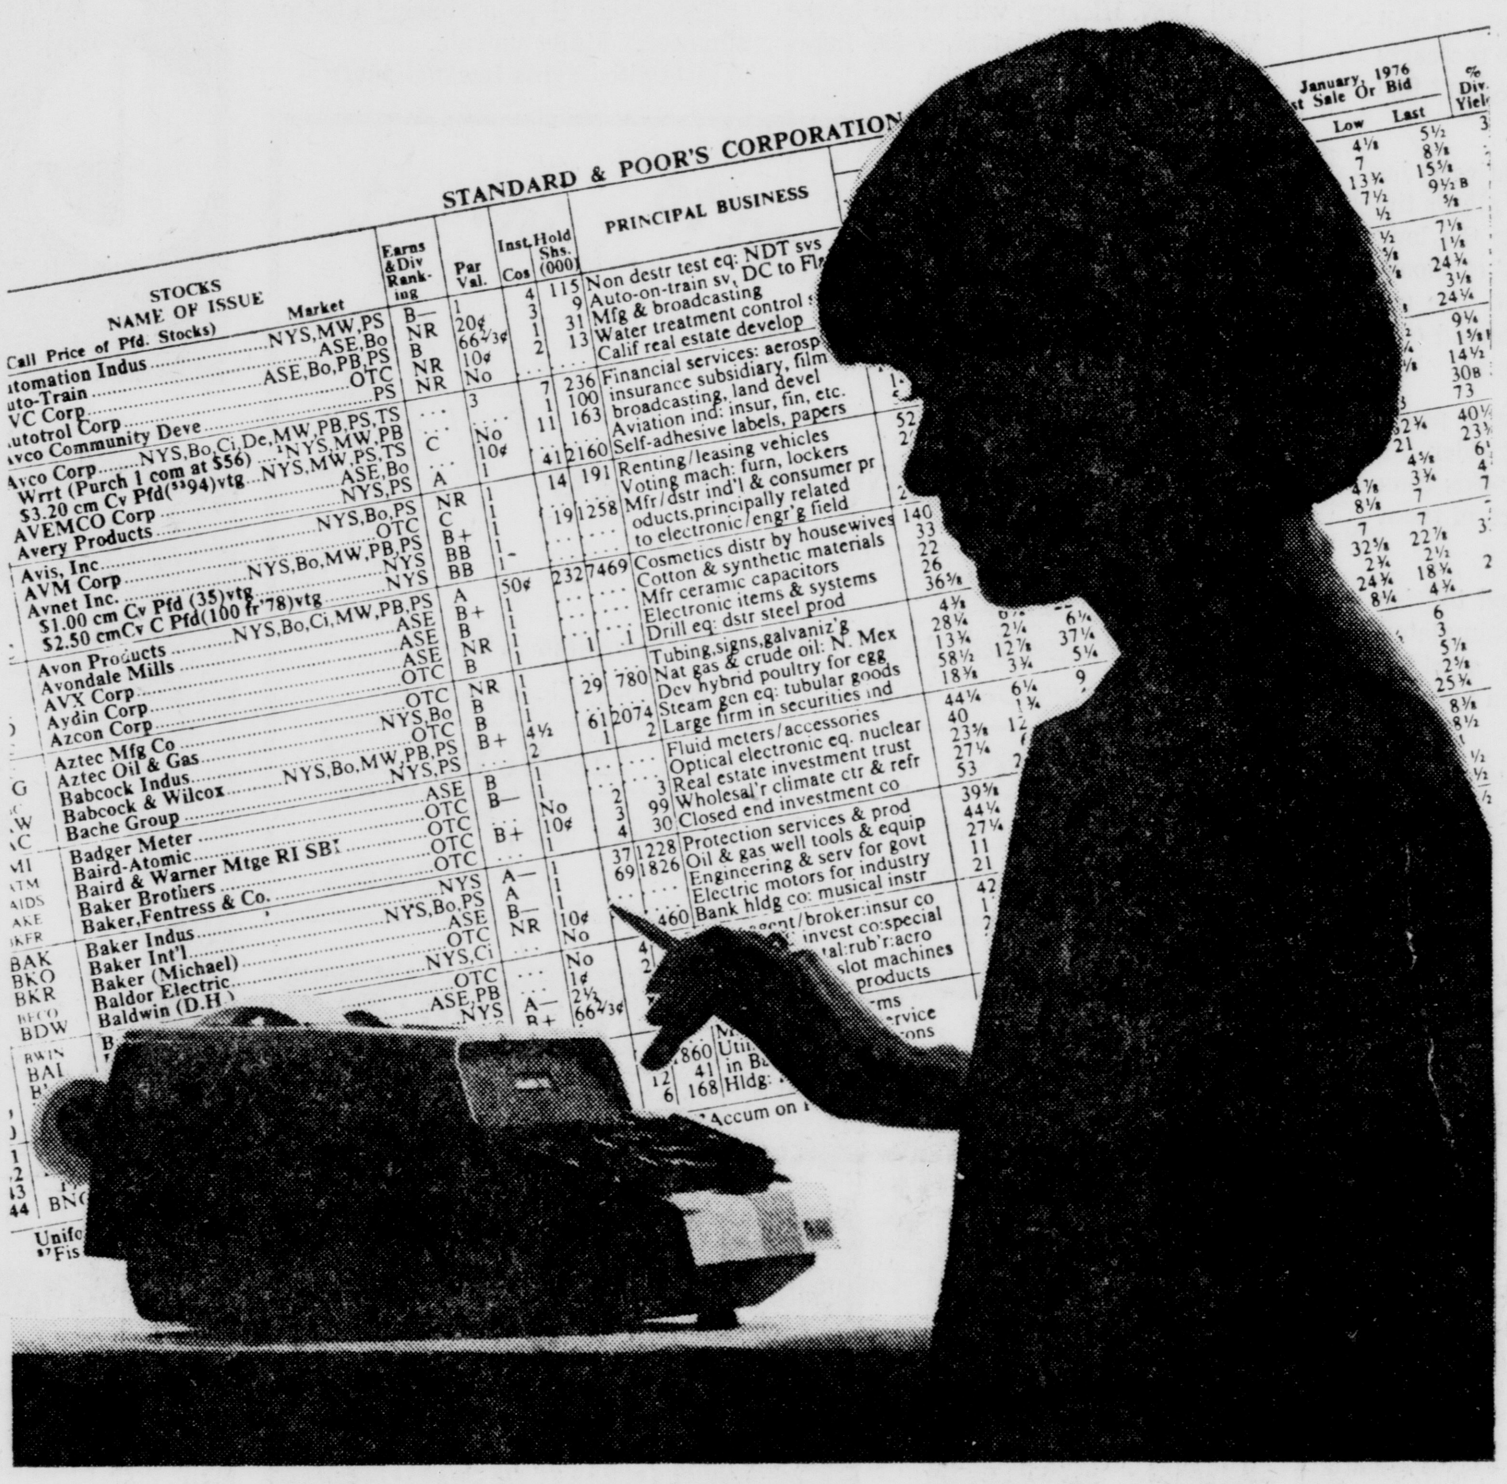
"Especially younger women seem to be taking the initiative," said Steil, "They are working, bringing in income and they want to see where it's going."

STEIL SAID handling the checkbook and budgeting for bills are the first money skills to learn. From there, if women have the money, they can begin to invest. "Investing amounts to two things," he said. "How much, and for how long."

To invest, Mackevich said women first have to decide what they want to do with their money. Do they want security? Extra income? Tax shelters? Liquidity?

For example, said Mackevich, if liquidity (the conversion of investments to cash) is important for a woman, savings accounts are "most liquid," followed in varying order by certificates of deposit, treasury bills, common stocks and bonds. Real estate would not be a good choice, he said.

Mackevich, labeling savings accounts "mad money" or spending spree investments, said other types of investments can be just as secure but can yield more return.



Where savings accounts yield only up to around five per cent interest a year (not extremely high considering the inflation rate), common stocks can evolve seven per cent or more a year in dividends. And it takes only about four or five days for an investor to get cash from selling stocks, so liquidity is fairly good, he said.

HOWEVER, women generally seem reluctant to invest their money, said Mrs. Trevor. "Stocks seem to many like riding the rim of gambling," she said. "They go for the more conservative investments." Besides, stock investments require professional guidance.

Conservative herself with money, Mrs. Trevor recommends women have about six months income in savings accounts or highly liquid certificates of deposit (CDs) and that women who have money to invest start with higher interest CDs and define their goals from there.

Certificates of deposit may be purchased at banks or savings and loan institutions for periods as short as 90 days or for up to six years. Interest rates increase with length of deposit time, said Steil, who also recommended Mrs. Trevor's basic approach.

"If you don't need the money, invest for the higher interest rates," he said. But it is best to wait until living expenses have settled somewhat before doing so, he said.

Another investment many look to is real estate other than the home occupied. "Many women seem to like to invest in property," said Mrs. Trevor. "It's solid, you can see it. Yet that has more pitfalls than anything else."

The major problem, she said, is unexpected costs in maintaining the property, including natural disasters like storms and equipment breakdowns.

MACKEVICH SAID women should begin investing their money when they feel comfortable about it, "probably when their mad money account is more than $3,000," he said.

He disagrees with Mrs. Trevor that women are more conservative than men in their investments. "They are insecure and hesitant in making investments because they don't have the financial background," he said.

To become financially independent in knowledge, a woman should begin to take an active role in family finances. "She should make her husband understand the importance of this so she won't be in a bind if he is no longer around," said Mrs. Trevor.

Seminars, short courses and lectures on finances are another way to pick up information and understand the language of investments. Reading material, like finance columns, brochures and books, are also useful learning tools for some women. Mackevich has compiled reading "homework" into a free kit, available to anyone who writes to him at E. F. Hutton and Co., 141 W. Jackson Blvd., Chicago 60604.

Divorced, widowed and single women shouldn't be left to flounder through the financial maze and perpetuate the myth that women have no mind for money.

"Women have been sheltered and deprived of the proper information for too long," said Mackevich.

Learning to handle finances built self-confidence

(Juggling budgets, investing money and simply balancing a checkbook can seem complicated to women unfamiliar with money operations. Two who've learned money handling the hard way, one a widow and the other a divorcee, discussed their experiences with reporter Barbara Ladd. Their real names are not used to protect their privacy.)

At age 37, Mrs. X., Arlington Heights, was left a widow with two children, 7 and 10 years old. That was 13 years ago.

"I didn't know much about a checkbook," she said. "I didn't even know how to drive a car."

"I was an absolute shadow to my husband," she added reflectively.

So after 15 years of marriage, she learned.

"When you're left with young children, you find they're concerned. They think their security is gone," said Mrs. X. She showed them it wasn't.

She learned to drive a car. "You just have to make yourself go out and do it."

And she learned to keep up her checkbook. ("There's not really much to know.")

She took car care and investments courses at night.

Her bank, Mrs. X. said, was a great help. She learned she could take a loan out on a car, home or insurance in an emergency. Now, she said, "It's really not all that difficult" In fact, she enjoys handling the finances. "It's a bit of a challenge."

"What's funny is men who tell you you've done so well," she said. "I guess it's their chauvinism showing through. It's like they didn't see how I could make it on my own. Or how any woman could make it on her own."

"ONE THING I KNOW, I have a heck of a lot more confidence than I did before," said Mrs. X.

Jane Y., Des Plaines, also has much more confidence than four years ago when she was divorced at the age of 27. Her two boys were 4 and 8.

"I never worried about any type of money problem," she said. "He (her husband) took care of the insurance, the bills and everything else."

It became very important for her to be financially independent, she said. But it hasn't been easy.

"It's been four years of a lot of struggle and a lot of pain," she said calmly. It helped that she was working full-time when she was divorced and that she and her former husband owned a house.

"Money is a real albatross," she said. "I don't know how women do it without working."

Even now, she wouldn't be able to cope with any major expense — like a new furnace or sewage repair, Jane said.

Jane began her financial education by taking out all the old bills and going over the finance files. She talked to her lawyer and generally went through "quite a learning process."

"We (her sons and herself) were really living hand to mouth until my salary could allow me to really be independent," which she said was about a year ago. "And I'm the type of person who likes security."

"ONE OF THE SADDEST things is that we allow ourselves to be put in a position where we don't know what's going on," Jane mused. "There's no good reason (either) a man or woman should be the only one in a family to handle money. Marriage is supposed to be a partnership. Both should be in on expenses, insurance, wills or any business transaction that affects their lives."

"I will never again be in a situation where I don't know my husband's income or how the expenses meet what's coming in," she said. "Whether it's a divorce after a year or a death tomorrow, we just can't afford to be ignorant."

Jane said it would be good for women to handle their own charge accounts in marriage. "You should be aware that when you make 30 purchases in a day, you will get a bill next month for $200."

Jane thinks both the husband and wife should work out the family budgets. "In-flow and out-go are very, very important," she sighed.

And she said it wouldn't be a bad idea for women to know what to do when the furnace goes out or a fuse needs changing.

"We shelter ourselves and tell ourselves we can't do things we've never tried to do," she said. "You're far more capable and intelligent than you think you are. You just underestimate yourself constantly."

Jane said she still can't multiply six by seven correctly about half the time. But she pays her bills, manages her duplex, mothers her two boys and passed an Internal Revenue Service audit with flying colors.

Italians are impressed by Illinois feminist

Keeping up

by Monica Wilch Perin

Chicago's Susan Catania, an Illinois state legislator and chairperson of the Illinois Commission on the Status of Women, successfully brought the message of American feminism to Europe this spring.

Ms. Catania was asked by the U.S. Information Agency to participate in a multi-media program on the women's movement in America. The program was organized by USIA's Rome office in response to questions from Italian women about American women, Ms. Catania told me during a chat recently.

Since Susan had recently been featured in Ms. Magazine, USIA asked her, along with Connecticut's Gov. Ella Grasso and sociologist Margaret Mead, to go on a lecture tour in Italy and Germany. The other two women couldn't make it, but Susan found to her delight that her schedule would permit it, and she spent the first two weeks of March there.

She proved to be so popular that requests came from Paris, Madrid and Stockholm for appearances, but Susan had to get home for the primary election. She said the USIA is working now on the possibility of bringing her to those cities in late August or September. She say she would like to go back.

MS. CATANIA trod a tightrope of diplomacy in Italy, where feminism is "a bad word," and emotions are running hot on the issues of abortion and birth control. According to Susan, the Christian Democrats are against abortion, as are their archenemies, the neo-Fascists, while the Communists are for abortion — which may ultimately put them into power.

In the midst of this intense political situation, Ms. Catania said, the people were "fascinated that I as a Republican consider myself a feminist." Not surprisingly in that atmosphere, Ms. Catania's presence drew considerable publicity.

"All I had time to see of the cities was what I saw out the car window between interviews," she laughed. In Milan, her press conference was attended by 17 women journalists and lasted two hours.

But according to the USIA, Ms. Catania got "good press." A lifestyle magazine headlined its story, "A feminist headed for the White House." A moderate leftist newspaper in Naples probably provided the best explanation of Susan's good reception, writing that she "is objective in her judgments and does not voice them without forethought . . ." Also in her favor was the fact the 35-year-old legislator is a mother of six daughters.

IN GERMANY her appearances attracted less attention since there is not the political turmoil over women's rights in that country. According to Susan, Germany is a lot like the U.S. — "they have the (equal rights) laws, but they haven't managed to completely change attitudes yet. They still think a woman should take care of the family, but they favor equal pay for equal work and want their children to have equal opportunities."

Back on the home front, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the House Banking, Currency and Housing Committee, has taken legislative action against what he terms "the last bastion of male superiority," the Federal Reserve.

Since its establishment in 1913, the Fed has appointed no women and only four blacks to its various regional and national bank boards, according to Reuss.

Currently, the Fed has no women on its seven-member board of governors; no women among its 33 officers of the Federal Open Market Committee, which determines monetary policy for the U.S.; no women among its presidents, vice presidents, chairmen and deputy chairmen of regional banks.

THE FED DOES have four women in its top 356 decision-making positions, one woman among its 25 regional bank branch chairmen, three women in 154 regional branch board positions, and two women in top staff positions in Washington.

Rep. Reuss' bill, H.R. 12934, would enlarge the number of directors on each of the 12 regional banks from 9 to 12, increasing public members from three to six. Those members would be chosen without discrimination on the basis of race, sex or national origin under the proposed legislation. The bill also encourages greater representation of various segments of the public — consumers, education, labor — on the Fed board instead of dominance by the banking community.

MS. CATANIA trod a tightrope of diplomacy in Italy, where feminism is "a bad word," and emotions are running hot on the issues of abortion and birth control. According to Susan, the Christian Democrats are against abortion, as are their archenemies, the neo-Fascists, while the Communists are for abortion — which may ultimately put them into power.

In the midst of this intense political situation, Ms. Catania said, the people were "fascinated that I as a Republican consider myself a feminist." Not surprisingly in that atmosphere, Ms. Catania's presence drew considerable publicity.

Keeping up

by Monica Wilch Perin

"All I had time to see of the cities was what I saw out the car window between interviews," she laughed. In Milan, her press conference was attended by 17 women journalists and lasted two hours.

But according to the USIA, Ms. Catania got "good press." A lifestyle magazine headlined its story, "A feminist headed for the White House." A moderate leftist newspaper in Naples probably provided the best explanation of Susan's good reception, writing that she "is objective in her judgments and does not voice them without forethought . . ." Also in her favor was the fact the 35-year-old legislator is a mother of six daughters.

IN GERMANY her appearances attracted less attention since there is not the political turmoil over women's rights in that country. According to Susan, Germany is a lot like the U.S. — "they have the (equal rights) laws, but they haven't managed to completely change attitudes yet. They still think a woman should take care of the family, but they favor equal pay for equal work and want their children to have equal opportunities."

Back on the home front, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., chairman of the House Banking, Currency and Housing Committee, has taken legislative action against what he terms "the last bastion of male superiority," the Federal Reserve.

Since its establishment in 1913, the Fed has appointed no women and only four blacks to its various regional and national bank boards, according to Reuss.

Currently, the Fed has no women on its seven-member board of governors; no women among its 33 officers of the Federal Open Market Committee, which determines monetary policy for the U.S.; no women among its presidents, vice presidents, chairmen and deputy chairmen of regional banks.

THE FED DOES have four women in its top 356 decision-making positions, one woman among its 25 regional bank branch chairmen, three women in 154 regional branch board positions, and two women in top staff positions in Washington.

Rep. Reuss' bill, H.R. 12934, would enlarge the number of directors on each of the 12 regional banks from 9 to 12, increasing public members from three to six. Those members would be chosen without discrimination on the basis of race, sex or national origin under the proposed legislation. The bill also encourages greater representation of various segments of the public — consumers, education, labor — on the Fed board instead of dominance by the banking community.

Stimulants affect steady heart beat

What causes the heart to hesitate and then come through with a heavy beat? It is more noticeable after a meal but does happen at almost any time. I am 73 and in fairly good health other than some arthritis.

The heart beats at a steady, rhythmic rate even though the rate may gradually slow or increase. Sometimes the heart will receive electrical stimulation early. This will cause the heart muscle to contract early.

The pulse which you feel is a result of how much blood is pumped out of the heart with each beat. The heart is also a volume organ and stores blood between each beat. If the heart beats early, it will not have had much time to fill with blood. Because of this the early beat doesn't cause much of a pulse wave and you literally don't feel the beat. The early beat then replaces the rhythmic one.

This results in a long pause beween the early relatively ineffective beat and the next regular beat. This long pause allows the heart a long time to fill with blood. The first beat after the long pause then results in the heart ejecting a large amount of blood. This causes a very strong pulse for that particular beat. The net result then is a faint beat with very little blood being pumped out, followed by a very strong beat with lots of blood being ejected.

Almost everyone tends to have these occasionally and may never even know it. They occur more ferequently as people get older. As a result you will see more of them in a group of 50-year-olds than you will in a group of 25-year-olds. Also you will see more of them in 70-year-olds than you do in 50-year-olds.

IN MANY instances such beats don't mean a thing and they're not an indication of serious heart disease. Often they are stimulated to occur because of the use of excess amounts of coffee, smoking cigarets and the use of alcohol. Digestive upsets and even nervous tension can contribute to their frequency.

In other instances they are important. A good example is their occurrence in a person who has just had a heart attack. In this instance they may precede the development of more important and sometimes dangerous irregularities of the heart. For more information about the various irregularities and their importance send 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias. Send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your letter to me in care of Paddock Publications, P. O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Their true significance has to be judged in the light of a fairly complete heart examination to see what the status of the heart really is. Meanwhile if you have the habit of smoking cigarets, drinking lots of coffee or consuming very much alcohol, I would recommend discontinuing these habits. You will feel better for a lot of reasons besides those strong beats you are talking about.

Sticky china shelves require refinishing

Dear Dorothy: My problem is a group of varnished shelves in a china closet and in a whatnot shelf. When I set something on the shelf, it always sticks; then when I finally pry it loose, a small flake of the finish sticks on the bottom of whatever was on the shelf. This, in turn, sticks to whatever I set it on. What can be done? Must the shelves be refinished? — Mrs. J. D. Reneau.

Afraid so. What you have sounds like a finish in the shellac family and which may have been put on too thick or on a damp day. Wash with a mild soap solution to get rid of the old dust and residual material. Then you can coat it with a polyurethane varnish which is friendly to shellac or any of the synthetic varnishes. You can use any of the coatings — satin, high or low gloss.

Dear Dorothy: All the instructions keep saying to be sure you have good soil drainage before planting. How does one determine whether the drainage is good? —Odile Tanner

A simple way is to dig a hole about a foot deep and fill with water. Try it again the following day. If the water drains away in 8 to 10 hours, the soil will drain well enough for planting.

Doll has mirror face

by DALE SINGER

Even a child who doesn't have an identical twin can share secrets with a look-alike friend.

The friend is a 24-inch Me Doll with a mirror for a face. It was invented by Geraldine Naunheim, a 74-year-old grandmother. Educators say the doll is more than just a toy! It's a valuable tool in teaching deaf and autistic children.

The doll is physically similar to the traditional Raggedy Ann. Its removable corduroy pants and cotton shirt, felt shoes and thick shock of hair give it a unisex appearance.

The doll comes with white, black or brown skin.

Mrs. Naunheim, grandmother of eight, invented the doll a few years ago. She says she has always been interested in children and has played with ideas for inventions for years. One day her two interests came together.

"I GOT UP out of bed and told my husband about it," she said. "We hunted until we found a stainless steel mirror, like the boys take into the service. Glass wouldn't do.

"We rounded it off to make a face, but it wasn't clear, so I had to find something else," she added. The solution was a plastic mirror.

"We had quite a time trying to find plastic that wouldn't distort," Mrs. Naunheim said. "You don't want to give a child a mirror that distorts. That confuses them more than ever."

The Children's Co. of St. Louis is marketing the doll, complete with a booklet and a record instructing teachers how best to use it.

Ron McIlwain, president of Children's Co., said the doll has been tested in universities and pre-school and Head Start programs with good results. Instructional materials emphasize its use as someone the child can share feelings with and tell secrets to.

"We relate it to a sharing kind of situation," McIlwain said.

Flag pageant sparks ball

A flag pageant covering 200 years of Marine Corps history beginning in 1775 will highlight the "American Bicentennial Ball" to be staged Saturday, May 15, bu The Spares Sunday Evening Club.

Lt. John A. Turley and his men will display flags the United States flew and the uniforms they wore on the date the flag was inaugurated.

The party, a dressy affair, will feature the music of the Starbears Orchestra with Muriel Hogarty of Arlington Heights leading the dance mixers. Many party-goers will be wearing patriotic costumes and vying for prizes.

Other area committee members include Mary Ruffolo, Elk Grove Village; Shirley Crowther and Jim Garrison, Des Plaines; Mary Garber, Wheeling; and Lorraine Collings, Palatine.

THE DANCE, open to all area single, widowed, divorced or legally separated adults, will be held in St. Catherine Laboure Roman Catholic Parish Hall, 3425 Thornwood, Glenview. Tickets are $9 and for information readers may call 463-5h55.

On the Sunday following the dance, The Spares will be holding a brunch from noon to 2 p.m. at the Des Plaines Holiday Inn. The group's annual card party will follow. Tickets for the brunch are $6 from Margaret Reenan, 298-3893, Des Plaines, or Ruby Axelrod, 541-2675, Wheeling.

OES serves lunch

The 14th annual spring salad luncheon hosted by Palatine Chapter 585, Order of the Eastern Sta', is Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple, 1 N. Plum Grove Rd. A wicker demonstration is included.

A fast-service businessmen's luncheon will also be available for those who must return to work within the hour.

Tickets re $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children under 12. Mrs. Margaret Faulkner, 358-1612, is chairman.

New Rainbow adviser

Arlington Heights Assembly 81, Order of Rainbow for Girls, will hold its 58th installation of officers Saturday at 8 p.m. in Arlington Heights Masonic Temple.

Cindy Coy of Mount Prospect will be installed as worthy adviser of the organization of young women 12 to 20 years of age. Rainbow, international in scope, participates in philanthropic activities in the Northwest suburbs as well as state and nationwide.

Cinda Coy

Young women interested in further information about Arlington Heights Assembly may call the mother adviser, Mrs. Eunice Behm, 253-5288.

Happenings

Bethel wins honors

Two trophies and an honorary state office were mementos when 23 Job's Daughters of Bethel 103, Arlington Heights, arrived home after a four-day stay at the Holiday Inn in Rosemont where they attended the 54th annual session of the Grand Council of Illinois April 21 to 25.

Cheryl Larson, honored queen of 103, took second place in the scrapbook contest, and 103's choir was awarded a third place trophy in Class A competition for its interpretation of "Colour My World." Linda Fitzgerral, retiring grand representative to the State of Maryland, was chosen honorary state honored queen for the coming year.

Flag pageant sparks ball

A flag pageant covering 200 years of Marine Corps history beginning in 1775 will highlight the "American Bicentennial Ball" to be staged Saturday, May 15, bu The Spares Sunday Evening Club.

Lt. John A. Turley and his men will display flags the United States flew and the uniforms they wore on the date the flag was inaugurated.

The party, a dressy affair, will feature the music of the Starbears Orchestra with Muriel Hogarty of Arlington Heights leading the dance mixers. Many party-goers will be wearing patriotic costumes and vying for prizes.

Other area committee members include Mary Ruffolo, Elk Grove Village; Shirley Crowther and Jim Garrison, Des Plaines; Mary Garber, Wheeling; and Lorraine Collings, Palatine.

THE DANCE, open to all area single, widowed, divorced or legally separated adults, will be held in St. Catherine Laboure Roman Catholic Parish Hall, 3425 Thornwood, Glenview. Tickets are $9 and for information readers may call 463-5h55.

On the Sunday following the dance, The Spares will be holding a brunch from noon to 2 p.m. at the Des Plaines Holiday Inn. The group's annual card party will follow. Tickets for the brunch are $6 from Margaret Reenan, 298-3893, Des Plaines, or Ruby Axelrod, 541-2675, Wheeling.

OES serves lunch

The 14th annual spring salad luncheon hosted by Palatine Chapter 585, Order of the Eastern Sta', is Saturday at 12:30 p.m. in the Masonic Temple, 1 N. Plum Grove Rd. A wicker demonstration is included.

A fast-service businessmen's luncheon will also be available for those who must return to work within the hour.

Tickets re $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children under 12. Mrs. Margaret Faulkner, 358-1612, is chairman.

New Rainbow adviser

Arlington Heights Assembly 81, Order of Rainbow for Girls, will hold its 58th installation of officers Saturday at 8 p.m. in Arlington Heights Masonic Temple.

Cinda Coy

Cindy Coy of Mount Prospect will be installed as worthy adviser of the organization of young women 12 to 20 years of age. Rainbow, international in scope, participates in philanthropic activities in the Northwest suburbs as well as state and nationwide.

Young women interested in further information about Arlington Heights Assembly may call the mother adviser, Mrs. Eunice Behm, 253-5288.

Happenings

Bethel wins honors

Two trophies and an honorary state office were mementos when 23 Job's Daughters of Bethel 103, Arlington Heights, arrived home after a four-day stay at the Holiday Inn in Rosemont where they attended the 54th annual session of the Grand Council of Illinois April 21 to 25.

Cheryl Larson, honored queen of 103, took second place in the scrapbook contest, and 103's choir was awarded a third place trophy in Class A competition for its interpretation of "Colour My World." Linda Fitzgerral, retiring grand representative to the State of Maryland, was chosen honorary state honored queen for the coming year.

Pointers on growing vegetables

Potting shed

by Mary B. Good

Special tips for early gardeners:

BEETS: Incorporate hardwood ashes (from your fireplace), seaweed, cow or pig manure or commercial tobacco dust into the soil at planting time. Beets are notorious consumers of potassium.

Potassium (potash) provides for strong stems, aids root crops to resist disease, forms good vegetables and retains the moisture level. Hunger signs of potash are small, stunted beets. If you haven't planted beets yet, do so. When hot weather arrives, beets bolt to flower and get woody. Don't worry about light frost hurting them.

CABBAGES: Few plants feed more heavily than do cabbages. They are heavy drinkers and eaters. Applications of compost and well-rotted manure worked eight inches into the ground at planting time will produce excellent heads. Avoid using a sprinkling hose on cabbages during dry spells. When you do water cabbages, use a soaker hose, not a sprinkler.

Cover young cabbage plants with Hotkaps during cabbage butterfly season, so the moths don't lay cabbageworm eggs on your plants.

Try Savoy (crinkled-leaf cabbage) for a tasty variety not available in supermarkets, a winner that is also insect-resistant.

CARROTS: Carrots require a fine, smooth soil free of stones and lumps. Clear soil of weeds and pebbles. These obstructions will cause misshapen carrots — or, as I call them — freaks with forked tongues!

Avoid compacting the soil in the carrot row by walking on it. This also causes deformed carrots. If your soil is heavy, choose half-long varieties for best results, such as Nantes, Red Cored Chantenay, Danvers or Oxhart half-long varieties.

ONIONS: Sets that are too large may look good, but they tend to produce seedstalks, big necks and undersized onions. Conversely, using very small, shriveled sets lacking vigor won't give you decent onions either. Stick to medium-sized onion sets which have not yet sent out sprouts. Allow the tops of the sets to protrude above the soil, thus avoiding plants set too deeply.

PEAS: The pea is another cool-weather crop that scoffs at frost. For faster germination and higher yields, soak pea seeds 24 hours before planting and dip in Legume-Aid or Nitragin (tradenames for nitrogen inoculant — a bacteria that aids growth).

Mulch peas with a one-inch layer of pecan, cocoa bean hulls, other ground nutshells or spent sunflower seed hulls raked from under the birdfeeder to supply potash and keep the soil cool.

RADISHES: Radishes are touted as the easiest of all garden vegetables to raise, but still many gardeners have difficulty growing them. Radish ills fall into three areas: problems of poor timing, bad nutrition and crowded spacing. radishes planted too late will make pithy, misshapen produce, generally a wash-out!

Hot weather is a horror to radishes. Their ideal growing temperature is a chilly 45 degrees. Soil for radishes should be moist and well-composted, so they will grow quickly and tenderly. Slow-growing radishes will become hot to the palate and woody.

Spacing becomes vital with radish culture because crowded seedlings will not develop at all. It is less time-consuming to sow the seeds carefully at planting time than spend endless hours of frustration thinning them later.

LETTUCE, PARSLEY, kale, spinach, turnip should also be planted in cool weather. Hold off planting beans, corn, cucumber, muskmelon, pumpkin and squash seeds as well as eggplant and pepper seedlings until the weather is warm and settled or the temperature is 65 degrees on the soil thermometer.

Some gardeners like to get their tomato seedlings in the ground early, but this can be successful only if done with heat cables and row greenhouses, or other protective plastic devices or old distilled water jugs cut to use for cold night protection.

Space does not allow me to cover a wider range of vegetable tips. For more information, send 35 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for "Grow It — Vegetable Tips for Growing the Top 20" to Mary B. Good, Rt. 2, Box 232, Minocqua, Wis. 54548.

Buy flowers for Mother; support a local group

Three more local organizations are announcing corsage and plant sales for Mother's Day.

Buffalo Grove Garden Club will be selling corsages from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at the Ranch Mart Shopping Center and the Buffalo Grove Shopping Mall, both in Buffalo Grove.

Elk Grove Village Jayceettes will be selling corsages at three locations from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday. The locations are Henning's Decorating Center, Landmeier and Tonne Roads; by the Jewel and Michael's Finer Foods at the Grove Shopping Center; and at the Park and Shop in front of the IGA, all in Elk Grove Village.

IN ADDITION to the corsage sale Saturday, Buffalo Grove Garden Club will sponsor a plant sale May 12, 13, 19, 20, 26 and 27 at Geimer's Greenhouse, E. Dundee Road. Vegetable and bedding plants will be offered. Those wishing directions to the greenhouse and a coupon for the sale may call Mrs. Alfred Ney, 537-4677.

Offering plants in the Hoffman Plaza Shopping Center Saturday will be Mu Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Deadline for ordering corsages or geraniums from the Women's Guild of Trinity Lutheran Church in Rolling Meadows is today. The numbers to call are 392-8879 or 259-2844. Prices on corsages range from $1.75 to $2.75. Pickup will be Saturday at the church, 3201 Meadow Dr.

Deadlines are past for ordering from Forum and Fairway chapters of ORT.

The Sensational Rum Cake

If you're looking for a dessert that combines all of the best: new ideas in cake baking and easy preparation, with fool-proof results, try a rum cake. This exceptional cake is a pudding cake baked in a ring pan and flavored with dark dry rum. You can get a really elegant cake with the addition of a little whipped cream topping and the artful placement of pecan halves.

The recipe is easy. Just sprinkle chopped pecans or walnuts in the bottom of a well-greased pan, and, after mixing all the remaining cake ingredients, pour over the sprinkled nuts. Then bake one hour. (The full recipe follows.) Adding pudding mix to a cake recipe assures that your cake will be moist for days so you can confidently bake one well in advance of a party and cut down on last minute preparations. The real star of the recipe is rum. A half-cup goes into the cake mix, and, although the alcohol in the rum evaporates during the baking, the delicious mellow flavor of the rum remains.

It's your "secret ingredient," and your guests will demand the recipe as they come back for seconds. Through a mail-in survey, one rum company learned that the cake has been served at bridge clubs, church socials, special parties and for family dessert. The response to the cake has been overwhelming, with descriptions such as "terrific," "marvelous," and "elegant." Many have noted with pleasure the reactions of others to the cake with the "secret ingredient."

As a ring cake with a simple glaze topping, the rum cake is adaptable to all kinds of uses. It is just right to offer mid-afternoon or early evening guests, and it makes a great snack for after lunch or at midnight. And, if you're planning a picnic, or are the one who has to provide the dessert at a pot luck dinner, this cake will arrive just as moist and attractive as when you made it in your kitchen and is sure to be a hit with everyone.

CAKE

|---|---|
| 1 | cup chopped pecans or walnuts |
| 1 | 18½ ounce package yellow cake mix |
| 1 | 3¾ ounce package instant vanilla pudding mix |
| 4 | eggs |
| ½ | cup vegetable oil |
| ½ | cup cold water |

GLAZE

|---|---|
| ¼ | pound butter |
| ¼ | cup water |
| 1 | cup granulated sugar |
| ½ | cup dark rum |

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Grease and flour a 10-inch tube pan or 12-cup bundt pan. Chop the nuts and sprinkle them evenly over the bottom of the pan.

Mix the cake mix, pudding mix, eggs, vegetable oil and water together in a mixing bowl. Stir in the ½ cup of dark dry rum. Pour the batter over the chopped nuts and bake on the middle rack of the 325 degree oven for one hour.

While the cake is baking, take ¼ pound of butter (one stick) and melt in a saucepan. Add ¼ cup of water and 1 cup of granulated sugar. Boil for five minutes, stirring constantly. Allow to cool and stir in ½ cup rum.

Remove the cake from the oven and set on a rack to cool. When cool, invert onto a serving plate. Prick the top of the cake (where the chopped nut layer is) with a fork and drizzle the glaze evenly over the top, allowing it to soak into the cake.

The cake is now ready to eat. Any additions you choose should be primarily for decoration. For instance, you may add whipped cream and halved pecans, or dust lightly with confectioner's sugar and garnish with powdered fruit such as grapes or cherries (paint fruit with egg white and roll in confectioner's sugar).

Meat offsets milk, coffee prices

Slight decreases in food prices in areas of the supermarket, especially at the meat and dairy counters, offset significant increases in coffee prices through April, the monthly Herald food price survey showed.

However, the milk industry announced the price of milk may be up four cents a gallon by the end of this week due to wage increases granted to airy workers, higher packaging costs and requests for higher pay by others in the industry, mainly milk wagon drivers. The increase in milk comes at a time when milk supply is at its seasonal peak and normally causes price decreases.

A large beef production continued through April, according to the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture in its monthly Food Marketing Alert. May beef production is expected to average 10 per cent or more above one year ago. Broiler-fryers are in plentiful supply at levels 12 per cent higher than last May. And turkey supplies, although listed only as adequate, are anticipated at one-fourth higher than last year with the new crop off-season marketings.

Plentiful supplies and resulting attractive prices at the meat counter, in comparison to six months or a year ago, help take the sting from rising coffee prices.

LAST WEEK the nation's No. 2 coffee wholesaler, Folger Co., increased regular ground coffee prices by 10 cents a pound and boosted instant coffee by two cents an ounce. It was the second round of increases in eight days.

Coffee wholesalers say it is a supply-demand situation triggered primarily by Brazil's poor coffee harvest. In mid-July 1975, a severe frost destroyed 70 per cent of Brazil's 1976 coffee crop, touching off the dramatic rise in U.S. wholeslae coffee prices. Brazil is the world's largest coffee producer.

Industry analysts indicate the latest hikes could push the coffee price to about $2.25 a pound although retailers have the option to offer coffee at a cut rate to attract shoppers.

LOCALLY, A TWO-POUND can of Folger's coffee averaged 15 cents more than it did the April 1 survey. At one store the price went up 30 cents per two-pound can.

On the average, coffee has increased 61 per cent from the May 1975 survey, when the price of coffee averaged $1.93 per two-pound can.

News was a bit better with other items in the supermarket. Milk and margarine dropped slightly in price from the April 1 survey.

EGGS ALSO were down slightly in price because of a somewhat higher production level.

Significant decreases continued on sugar, down five cents from April 1. The drop is especially evident in comparison with prices six months ago, when granulated Domino sugar averaged $1.34 per five pounds, and a year ago, when the same brand amount sold for $1.62.

A record 1975 rice crop was 14 per cent above '74 production and 32 per cent greater than the 1972-74 average. And lagging export sales account for greater supplies of dry beans and peas.

FRESH POTATOES are 11 per cent under supply levels of last year but will be supplemented by a spring potato crop that is expected to top last year's small output by 17 per cent, according to the USDA. The 1976 crop of spring onions will be plentiful and substantially over the small volume of 1975.

The Herald surveyed prices of several fresh fruits and vegetables for the first of May. Sweet corn dropped slightly in price, as expected, in response to the new shipments from Florida. The average price was 19 cents an ear, compared to 21 cents each April 1.

Cantaloupes are moving steadily into the market with peak supplies expected in the summer months, when prices should be substantially lower than the May survey.

PINEAPPLES ARE in peak supply this month with both Puerto Rico and Hawaii shipping large quantities. Prices in the Herald survey averaged about 44 cents a pound.

Strawberries dropped 30 cents per pint from the April survey as they approached their peak supply month. Further reductions should be seen throughout May with supplies dwindling late spring.

Tomatoes also are approaching their peak supply months with current shipments mainly from Mexico and Florida.

Price Comparisons

Following are average prices for several items surveyed May 1, six months ago and a year ago. In each case the averages are based on prices obtained from a representative mix of five area food stores.

| | May 1976 | Nov. 1975 | May 1975 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Lean ground beef, per lb. | $ .83 | $ .89 | $1.03 |
| Round steak, with bone, per lb. | 1.44 | 1.77 | 1.10 |
| Chicken, whole fryer, per lb. | .52 | .68 | .56 |
| Milk, 1 gal. | 1.52 | 1.41 | 1.43 |
| Eggs, grade A large, 1 doz. | .71 | .72 | .61 |
| Margarine, 1 lb., house brand | .32 | .36 | .47 |
| Domino sugar, 5 lbs., granulated | 1.19 | 1.34 | 1.62 |
| Folger's Coffee, 2 lbs. | 3.11 | 2.74 | 1.93 |

Food facts and fancies focused on

Over the centuries a vast wealth of stories about food has grown up — amusing, interesting, unusual. They're sometimes little-known facts and often fancies. Eater's Digest is an authentic collection of such tasty tidbits, designed to entertain you and whet your appetite for knowledge of foods.

Do you remember your first taste of sirloin steak? What did you do — say "MMmmmm"? According to legend, when one of the early kings of England had his first bit of sirloin, he pulled out his sword and, tapping the steak as if knighting it, said: "I dub thee Sir Loin!" That "choice bite" of news about how sirloin got its name may or may not be true. The French word, surlonge, means "upon the loin," and that's more likely here this cut of beef got its name.

You may not believe this, but once they used bread for a tablecloth in great banquet halls of France back in the Middle Ages. It seems that linen was hard to come by in those days. So instead of using linen on the dinner-table, they covered it with a huge sheet of dough. (And say, wouldn't that make a terrific pizza pie!) After the feasting was over, servants carried the dough to the gates of the castle and threw it to the crowd of starving peasants who would gather there.

What's the smartest vegetable on the market? Our pick is cauliflower. Why? Well, for one thing it took hundreds of years of cultivation to produce it. But it was Mark Twain who really put cauliflower — the cabbage-flower — in the cultured class. He called it "Cabbage with a College Education!"

* * *

Here's a spicy item for all you homemakers. I know you like to dream up new combinations of spices to use in your cooking. If your spice "creations" don't always turn out right, just remember that spices were once unheard of, and were discovered purely by chance. So the story goes. One day, many eons ago, a village cook was boiling a pot of prehistoric stew. Some playful young boys threw bits of shrubbery into the steaming pot. The shrubs happened to contain some early peppercorns. The result was delicious Dinosaur Soup! Now, ever since, spices have been the variety of life, to coin a phrase.

Chocolate Cream Cake

Cream-filling bakes in chocolate cake

This extraordinarily moist chocolate cake is a good choice for spring parties. One ingredient, buttermilk, provides rich flavor. Another, vanilla pudding, adds creamy texture to the filling, which is baked between layers of cake batter. Prepare the pudding filling early, then make the cake when convenient.

Measurements are given in both metric and American Standard units. Normally, dry substances are measured in grams in the metric system. However, foods and equipment manufacturers in the United States have developed cups and spoons in milliliter readings for both liquid and dry ingredients, to make conversion easier for cooks.

Cooking with metrics

CHOCOLATE CREAM CAKE

1 (92 gram or 3¼ ounce) package vanilla pudding and pie filling (not instant)
500 milliliters (about 250 grams) or 2 cups flour
5 milliliters or 1 teaspoon baking soda
5 milliliters or 1 teaspoon baking powder
2½ milliliters or ½ teaspoon salt
125 milliliters (about 125 grams) or ½ cup butter
250 milliliters (about 250 grams) or 1 cup sugar
2 eggs
2 (about 28 grams or 1 ounce each) squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
5 milliliters or 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
185 milliliters or ¾ cup buttermilk
125 milliliters or ½ cup chopped pecans
Chocolate frosting or sifted confectioners' sugar.

Prepare pudding according to package directions. Cool completely. Stir together flour, soda, baking powder and salt. Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs. Blend in chocolate and vanilla. Add flour alternately with buttermilk, beginning and ending with flour. Stir in nuts. Spread half of the batter in greased 35 by 23-centimeter (12 by 9-inch) baking pan. Spoon pudding evenly over batter. Spoon and spread remaining batter over pudding. Bake in preheated 180 degree Celsius (350 degree Fahrenheit) oven 40 minutes. Cool completely. Frost with chocolate frosting or sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Reflections on 'the pie'

by BARBARA LADD

The Pie tasted good, no doubt about it. Some in the office even pronounced it "excellent," although my own penny-pinching mind refused to concede to that definition.

Surely no tasteful sensation could be worth such extravagant cost.

The Pie was made from $6-a-pound chocolate. A co-worker (who is a chocolate addict) bought a pound of the stuff. Not trusting her culinary skills with such expense, she had a friend make The Pie. And it was good.

Out of curiosity (tinged with a bit of sarcasm) I asked for the recipe and trudged through the grocery store calculating The Pie's cost.

The results have been eating at my pride ever since. The cost . . . uh . . . wasn't as high as I anticipated. One pie came to $3.18 ($4.18 if you figure in minimum wage for the time spent).

That comes to about 45 cents a serving, which is considerably less than dollar-a-serving dessert in some of the finer area restaurants, where $6-a-pound chocolate might be used.

Regardless, the cost breakdown was interesting.

The crust was made from a meringue with a cup of chopped pecans folded in. Unless pecans grow in your backyard, the crust alone was $1.14.

The pie consists of four ounces of the rich, extravagant, semi-sweet chocolate, folded into a little vanilla and some whipped cream. That came to $2.06.

If run-of-the-mill grocery store chocolate had been used instead of the gourmet stuff, $1.05 could have been knocked off the price of The Pie. But according to the office experts, the quality would also have decreased about that much.

So I'm back to the question that plagued me as that delicious piece of chocolate cream pie slithered down my throat: is quality worth $6-a-pound?

My own frugal kitchen budget could not possibly tolerate "quality" of that caliber.

On the other hand, gourmets I work with scream "It's worth it- It's worth it!" every time I bring up the subject of The Pie.

Fresh strawberries are featured in a lime pie

Here's a winning combination of flavors — strawberries, lime and whipped cream — all done up in a handsome pie. The whipped cream, sweetened and gently blended with cream cheese and fresh lime rind and juice, is swirled atop the fresh strawberries in the pie shell. The pie shell's especially easy. It's made with crushed vanilla wafers, butter and toasted coconut. The shell requires no baking — just a half hour or so in the refrigerator to firm up.

Lime berry pie will wait the day to be served, if need be, so make it early if you like. Just be sure to serve it well chilled. Another time you may wish to try parfaits made with layers of the crust mixture, cream and berries.

LIME BERRY PIE

Crust:

1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs (about 30 cookies)
½ cup toasted coconut
1/3 cup melted butter

To prepare crust, combine all ingredients and press into bottom and sides of an 8 or 9-inch piepan. Chill until firm, at least ½ hour.

Filling:

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
2/3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
1 tablespoon finely grated lime rind
½ pint whipping cream, whipped
1 pint strawberries, washed, stemmed and dried*

To prepare filling, beat together cream cheese, sugar, lime juice and rind. Gently fold in whipped cream. Spread a little cream in bottom of pie shell. Arrange berries over cream. Swirl remaining cream mixture over berries. Garnish with additional berries, if desired. Chill several hours before serving. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

*Note: If berries are very large, cut in halves or quarters.

Brownie adds dash to this baked Alaska

Those who like ice cream and brownies will be in seventh heaven with a brownie Alaska. This features ice cream and brownie cake layers covered with meringue.

It is a make-ahead recipe; prepare the ice cream-maraschino cherry mixture at least one day before use so it will freeze thoroughly. You may also bake your brownie cake in advance. When ready to serve, layer ice cream and cake, cover with meringue and bake seven minutes.

BROWNIE ALASKA

1 8 ounce jar red maraschino cherries, drained and chopped
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
6 egg whites
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
Brownie cake, see recipe

Combine cherries and ice cream; mix well. Line a 1 to 1½ quart bowl with foil. Add cherry ice cream. Cover and freeze 1 day. In large bowl, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Slowly add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating constantly. Beat until stiff peaks form. Place foil on baking sheet; place cake in center. Invert bowl of ice cream onto cake. Peel off foil. Quickly cover cake and ice cream with meringue, making sure it is well sealed. Freeze 2 to 3 hours. Bake in 425 degree oven 7 minutes or until browned. Cut foil from around dessert and slice onto chilled plate. Makes 12 servings.

BROWNIE CAKE

¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1/3 cup butter or margarine
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup toasted* filberts, or pecans, chopped

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. In small saucepan, melt butter and chocolate over very low heat. Beat eggs with sugar and vanilla. Gradually blend in chocolate mixture. Add sifted ingredients and mix well. Stir in filberts. Pour into greased 9-inch round layer cake pan.

Bake in 350 degree oven 25 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool on rack. Makes one 9-inch layer.

*Spread filberts in shallow pan and bake in 400 degree oven 10 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Dine out

An estimated 75 million persons are expected to dine out on Mother's Day May 9, says James W. McLamore, president of the National Restaurant Association.

McLamore said that holiday is the busiest day of the year for eating restaurateurs. A survey of association members showed that flowers are the most likely gift to accompany Mother's Day meals.

Cheesy appetizer pleases guests

by LOIS SEILER

Simple, but delicious appetizers at any party are Sandee Laven's Cheese Puffs, prize winners at the Aviva Pioneer Woman's Taste and Tell Luncheon last fall.

This Buffalo Grove homemaker devised the recipe herself, experimenting with various ingredients until the appetizers pleased her. She spreads a tasty cheese mixture on toast squares and broils them until bubbly and browned.

Cheese is also a prominent ingredient in another of Sandee's specialties, a souffle. She prepares the dish a day ahead by alternating shredded cheese and bread cubes in a casserole and pouring a well-seasoned egg and milk mixture over all.

The souffle is popped into the oven an hour before serving, and will puff up and turn golden brown. High and light, it should be served immediately for appearance's sake, although it tastes just as good after it has fallen, she said. Sandee recommends it for brunch, served with bacon slices and stuffed tomatoes, or as a side dish for a chicken or roast beef dinner.

HER FAVORITE dessert is a quick and easy Chocolate Marshamallow Pie. As a short cut, she uses a prepared graham cracker crust. The filling consists of Hershey Bars with Almonds, melted marshmallows, milk and whipped cream.

The pie may be served plain, or, for extra effect, can be decorated with whipped cream and shaved chocolate. Very light and sweet, it is always popular with guests.

Sandee candidly admits that cooking is the only household chore she really enjoys because it is creative. Before making a new dish, she reads several cook books, sifts out the best ideas and concocts the recipe to suit her taste. Her husband, Alan, is an inspiration because he loves to try new foods.

The Lavens have two small children, and Sandee is active in Aviva Pioneer Women's bowling league and book club.

CHEESE PUFFS

  package cream cheese
1 (5 ounce) jar pasteurized process sharp Cheddar cheese spread
1 egg yolk
3 tablespoons grated onion, drained of any juice
½ pound margarine
Toast squares
Paprika

Soften and blend the two cheeses. Add egg yolk and onion and blend well.

Melt margarine. Dip toast squares in melted margarine on one side only. Mound cheese mixture on buttered side of toast squares. Sprinkle with paprika. Broil two minutes until bubbly and browned. Serve immediately.

CHEESE SOUFFLE

¾ pound sharp cheddar cheese, shredded
8 eggs
2-1/3 cups milk
2½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1½ teaspoons dry mustard
Paprika

Remove crusts from bread and cube.

Grease a 1½ to 2 quart casserole and alternate layers of cheese and bread, starting with bread and ending with cheese on top. Sprinkle paprika between layers and on top, if desired.

Beat eggs, milk and seasonings in blender or mixer and pour egg-milk mixture over all. Refrigerate at least 8 hours or overnight.

Remove from refrigerator two hours before baking. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 to 1¼ hours. Should be golden brown on top. Serve immediately before it falls. Serves 8.

CHOCOLATE MARSHMALLOW PIE

1 prepared graham cracker crust (8 inches)
20 large marshmallows
6 Hershey Bars with Almonds, regular size
½ cup milk
½ pint whipping cream
Extra almonds with skins
  on (optional)

In the top of a double boiler, melt marshmallows and Hershey Bars with Almonds in the milk. Blend well and cool. Whip cream and fold into cooled chocolate mixture.

Pour into pie shell and chill in refrigerator until firm. Serve plain, or decorate with additional whipped cream or non-dairy refrigerated whipped topping and shaved chocolate. Serves 6.

CREAM CHEESE and sharp Cheddar cheese spread are the major ingredients in Sandee Laven's Cheese Puff appetizers. She spreads the mixture over toast squares before broiling them.

What if you tried this?

The working woman cooks

by Joyce Zeller

There are some days that have a certain feeling of disaster about them from the moment the alarm rings and you wake up knowing that you have too much to do before you have to leave for work. You'll never make it.

The feeling becomes reality when you're in the kitchen scrambling eggs and you're pressed into service to paint a model of the Oracle of Delphi made out of toilet paper tubes that your sixth-grader conveniently forgot had to be done today until after the "Bionic Woman" last night.

You were wondering where he found all those tubes until this morning when you got curious about that shopping bag in the bathroom and looked inside.

THINGS GO FROM bad to worse as you waste another 15 minutes trying to find out, without any success, why you should write a note to the school saying you have seen the test and you are satisfied with the grade when your offspring pleads sudden amnesia about the grade, the test and even the name of the subject.

You use up another 10 minutes trying to convince your daughter that you are not part of a nasty plot to turn her into the ugliest girl in the school just because you advised her that the navy blue socks would look nice with the navy blue skirt.

To make things worse you have just looked at the cat and you know she is pregnant again, because you've had four kids and you automatically know when anything within 50 feet of you is pregnant.

THE SITUATION has gone from bad to desperate. You have run out of time. You realize that what you were going to have for dinner this evening simply won't do because there's no time to get it started. You're going to have to come up with something else and everything in the freezer takes hours to cook.

It is times like this when culinary masterpieces are born. I just know that the Caesar Salad was invented by some desperate cook who had to come up with dinner for six in 20 minutes and had nothing to work with but a head of lettuce, a loaf of bread and an egg.

It was in just such a desperate situation that "What If Round Steak" was born. Actually I was going to have beef roll-ups stuffed with a bread and mushroom dressing and simmered in a wine sauce in a slow cooker, but everything went wrong and I ran out of time.

I SAID TO myself, "Why don't I just throw the whole thing in the Crockpot and forget it?" So I did and it turned out great.

To cook this you need a slow cooker. If you don't have one, it's about time you made a present of one to yourself. You just can't get by without one for very long, especially since summer is coming and you're going to have to depend on it for good meals that won't heat up the kitchen. Mine is the three and a half-quart model and it's more than large enough for dinners for six. So, okay, here we go with the recipe. This amount will serve four generously.

"WHAT IF"
ROUND STEAK

2 pounds round steak
1 can (10¾ ounce) condensed
French Onion soup
1 can (10¾ ounce) can condensed
Cream of Mushroom soup
1 package (6 ounce) seasoned stuffing
mix or the equivalent.

Place round steak in slow cooker. Add soup. Place stuffing mix on top. Set on low and cook nine hour or thereabout. Remove stuffing mix so that you can take out the meat and see how much juice is on the bottom of the pot. There should be enough so that you can return the stuffing to the pot and moisten it well with the juices. Add a little water if there isn't enough. That's it. Just serve the meat moistened with some gravy and the stuffing. Add a salad and some fruit and maybe another vegetable. Broccoli goes well with this.

Creamy new coffee cake for morning

Americans are nibblers, snacking at intervals throughout the day. Coffee cakes are a classic example of popular "Between meal" foods. Here's a delicious new one you can serve as a snack or for breakfast.

PINEAPPLE CREAM CHEESE
COFFEE CAKE

Streusel Topping (below)
1 (8¼ ounce) can crushed pineapple
¼ cup butter or margarine, softened
1/3 cup sugar
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sifted
all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 (3 ounce) package
cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon sugar
for cheese
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Prepare Streusel Topping. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Beat butter or margarine, 1/3 cup sugar, egg and vanilla together well. Mixture will appear curdled. Stir in reserved pineapple syrup. Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Blend into first mixture. Turn into greased 9-inch round layer cake pan, and spread level. Top with drained pineapple. Blend cream cheese, remaining tablespoon sugar and lemon juice together. Drop by teaspoonfuls over pineapple. Sprinkle with Streusel Topping, and pat down lightly. Bake on rack placed below oven center in moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes, until cake tests done. Serve warm or cold, cut into wedges. Makes 8 to 9 wedges.

Streusel Topping:

Blend ¼ cup brown sugar (packed), 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, and ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger together until crumbly. Add ¼ cup each chopped walnuts and flaked coconut, and mix lightly.

There are some days that have a certain feeling of disaster about them from the moment the alarm rings and you wake up knowing that you have too much to do before you have to leave for work. You'll never make it.

The feeling becomes reality when you're in the kitchen scrambling eggs and you're pressed into service to paint a model of the Oracle of Delphi made out of toilet paper tubes that your sixth-grader conveniently forgot had to be done today until after the "Bionic Woman" last night.

You were wondering where he found all those tubes until this morning when you got curious about that shopping bag in the bathroom and looked inside.

THINGS GO FROM bad to worse as you waste another 15 minutes trying to find out, without any success, why you should write a note to the school saying you have seen the test and you are satisfied with the grade when your offspring pleads sudden amnesia about the grade, the test and even the name of the subject.

You use up another 10 minutes trying to convince your daughter that you are not part of a nasty plot to turn her into the ugliest girl in the school just because you advised her that the navy blue socks would look nice with the navy blue skirt.

To make things worse you have just looked at the cat and you know she is pregnant again, because you've had four kids and you automatically know when anything within 50 feet of you is pregnant.

THE SITUATION has gone from bad to desperate. You have run out of time. You realize that what you were going to have for dinner this evening simply won't do because there's no time to get it started. You're going to have to come up with something else and everything in the freezer takes hours to cook.

It is times like this when culinary masterpieces are born. I just know that the Caesar Salad was invented by some desperate cook who had to come up with dinner for six in 20 minutes and had nothing to work with but a head of lettuce, a loaf of bread and an egg.

It was in just such a desperate situation that "What If Round Steak" was born. Actually I was going to have beef roll-ups stuffed with a bread and mushroom dressing and simmered in a wine sauce in a slow cooker, but everything went wrong and I ran out of time.

I SAID TO myself, "Why don't I just throw the whole thing in the Crockpot and forget it?" So I did and it turned out great.

To cook this you need a slow cooker. If you don't have one, it's about time you made a present of one to yourself. You just can't get by without one for very long, especially since summer is coming and you're going to have to depend on it for good meals that won't heat up the kitchen. Mine is the three and a half-quart model and it's more than large enough for dinners for six. So, okay, here we go with the recipe. This amount will serve four generously.

"WHAT IF"
ROUND STEAK

2 pounds round steak
1 can (10¾ ounce)condensed French Onion soup
1 can (10¾ ounce) can condensed Cream of Mushroom soup
1 package (6 ounce) seasoned stuffing mix or the equivalent.

Place round steak in slow cooker. Add soup. Place stuffing mix on top. Set on low and cook nine hour or thereabout. Remove stuffing mix so that you can take out the meat and see how much juice is on the bottom of the pot. There should be enough so that you can return the stuffing to the pot and moisten it well with the juices. Add a little water if there isn't enough. That's it. Just serve the meat moistened with some gravy and the stuffing. Add a salad and some fruit and maybe another vegetable. Broccoli goes well with this.

Creamy new coffee cake for morning

Americans are nibblers, snacking at intervals throughout the day. Coffee cakes are a classic example of popular "Between meal" foods. Here's a delicious new one you can serve as a snack or for breakfast.

PINEAPPLE CREAM CHEESE
Streusel Topping (below)

1 (8¼ ounce) can crushed pineapple
¼ cup butter or margarine, softened
1/3 cup sugar
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 (3 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 tablespoon sugar for cheese
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Prepare Streusel Topping. Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Beat butter or margarine, 1/3 cup sugar, egg and vanilla together well. Mixture will appear curdled. Stir in reserved pineapple syrup. Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Blend into first mixture. Turn into greased 9-inch round layer cake pan, and spread level. Top with drained pineapple. Blend cream cheese, remaining tablespoon sugar and lemon juice together. Drop by teaspoonfuls over pineapple. Sprinkle with Streusel Topping, and pat down lightly. Bake on rack placed below oven center in moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes, until cake tests done. Serve warm or cold, cut into wedges. Makes 8 to 9 wedges.

Streusel Topping:

Blend ¼ cup brown sugar (packed), 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, and ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger together until crumbly. Add ¼ cup each chopped walnuts and flaked coconut, and mix lightly.
